SENATE TO SCAN 'ALARMING' U. S. FOOD SITUATION

Probe of New Deal Policies Voted.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Expressing alarm over the serious food shortage in prospect for the United States, the senate committee on agriculture and forestry today voted to make a thoro probe of the food problem and any governmental policies affecting it.

Sen. E. D. Smith.

A subcommittee to initiate the investigation was appointed, consisting of Senators Ellison D. [Cotton Ed] Smith [D., S. C.], chairman of the agriculture committee and the subcommittee; Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.]; Tom Stewart [D., Tenn.]; George D. Aiken [R., Vt.]; and Harlan J. Bushfield [R., S. D.].

"It shall be the duty of the committee or subcommittee to make inquiries into any and all policies of government which appear to imperil the production and distribution of adequate food supplies for our armed forces, our civilian population and our allies," said the resolution adopted by the committee.

All Problems to Be Studied.

The resolution authorizes the committee to study and investigate all problems related to the production, transportation, distribution, shipment abroad, utilization and consumption of food and allied products produced within or imported into the United States, territories and possessions and of all the products, commodities and factors involved.

"The situation in regard to the food supply of the United States has reached an alarming point due to the lack of farm labor, low farm prices, shortages of farm machinery, fertilizer, feed, and other commodities necessary to crop and live stock production," said the resolution.

Situation Is Confused.

"The situation has been still further aggravated thru the pronouncement by the executive department of policies which are directly contrary to the will of the people of the United States as expressed by their elected representatives in congress," it continued.

"Unless certain conditions so produced and so aggravated are placed before the public in their true light and corrected by the force of public opinion, the people of our cities will certainly come to suffer from hunger, destitution and want, and the fundamental principles upon which our government is founded be ultimately destroyed."

There are senate committees now investigating the man power policies of the government and their responsibility for a serious shortage of farm labor, said to fall 3 million below the help needed to sow and harvest this year's crops.

One proposal which is gaining growing support in the senate is that the army goal of 8,200,000 men by the end of 1943 be slashed to about 6 million men instead of absorbing additional farm and industrial workers for a large standing army in the United States. A formal recommendation along this line is expected from a senate appropriations subcommittee next week.

YANKS IN BRITAIN GET TOOLS TO RAISE VEGETABLES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 12.—It was announced today that the United States army has appointed agricultural officers in all American camps here to start "grow your own food" programs.

Soldiers are supplied with tools, fertilizers, and seeds from the United States, and it is believed they will be more than able to grow all the fresh vegetables they need.

In some places, jeeps are used for plowing and tilling.

HER PROBLEM—WHICH SHALL SHE SAVE?

R.A.F. Reveals 2 New 'Secret' War Weapons

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—The existence of two new devices for use in the war against the axis was disclosed today by the royal air force.

One is a radio "magic eye" by which planes can spot a submarine when it comes to the surface to recharge its batteries, even if the operation is performed on the darkest night or in the thickest fog. The other is a new form of delayed action bomb which explodes immediately if any attempt is made to remove it before it is due to go off.

Both devices have been closely guarded secrets, altho they have been in use by the R. A. F. for some time.

British warships also are using radio location, an authoritative source said today, not only to detect the approach of enemy planes but to point out the positions of submarines and plot the courses of enemy surface warships.

"This great development gives the navy sure warning of any impending attack in the air, on the sea or under the sea," this source said. "At the same time it gives our convoy escorts eyes to hunt down and attack U-boats.

"The position of the enemy now can still be detected in darkness or in heavy fog. The navy no longer is forced to rely on the enemy's indiscretion in breaking radio silence in order to get an idea of his whereabouts."

Airmen who dropped the new delayed action bombs from Mosquito [plywood] planes in the daylight raid on the Diesel works at Copenhagen, Jan. 27, described their effect as deadly.

IT WAS 'ROUNDABOUT WAY, BUT EISENHOWER GOT THE GOOD NEWS

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 12 (AP).—This is how Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower learned he was entitled to wear four stars on each shoulder:

The news that he had been made a full general was announced in Washington, D. C., and sent by cable to London, whence it was broadcast last night. The broadcast was heard here by the captain of a British naval vessel, who came ashore to telephone his congratulations to "Ike."

Next came a wireless message of congratulation from Mrs. Eisenhower. Then there was one from Prime Minister Churchill and another from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff. Finally, early this morning, came the official notification from the war department.

Caught short of stars, Eisenhower had to borrow two from a spare tunic to make his first official appearance as a full general.

JOHNSON PLANS CRACKDOWNS TO AID SMALL FIRMS

New Brunswick, N. J., Feb. 12 (AP).—Col. Robert W. Johnson, chairman of the Smaller War Plants corporation, told guests at a Lincoln day dinner tonight that he would take punitive action against big business, which he said had failed to let sub-contracts to small war plants.

He did not announce exactly what punitive action he would take to force sharing of war contracts.

"I have sensed the will of congress," he said. "It wants the job done, and it will be done. It's time to stop building new plants and to use the plants we now have."

In a statement afterward, he replied to criticism by Sen. Harry S. Truman [D., Mo.] yesterday of business men in uniform in charge of civilian agencies of the government.

"It has been mentioned in Washington that as an army officer I serve two masters," Col. Johnson said. "That is not true. . . . The procurement departments are military departments, and I believe my military status will be helpful to smaller war plants."

Ten Norwegians Sentenced to Death by German Court

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 12 (AP).—A German court-martial condemned to death 10 Norwegians today and sentenced 3 others to prison on charges that they admitted drilling and practicing the use of weapons last summer. A communique issued at Oslo said the action was taken in the Christiansand district and those convicted were between 20 and 30 years old.

Judo Artists Pass Exam in Bang Up Style

Fifteen experts in judo, the art by which a 6 year old girl may become the muscular equal of men five times her age, passed their examinations at the Chicago Judo club last night with colors flying. The colors were attached to the experts who spent the examination period bouncing each other off the ceiling.

After the last legs and arms were untangled and 15 intact bodies still remained, each expert was presented with a black belt, the highest diploma that can be awarded a jujitsu expert.

"It's really a lot of fun," said 106 pound Mrs. June Tegner, the club's founder and leader, shaking her blonde head to make the stars go away.

From 161 to 106.

She confessed she became interested in judo—then known as jujitsu—12 years ago because she weighed 161 pounds and wanted to reduce. "Well, it took me down to 106 pounds and it has kept me there," she said.

Meanwhile, out in the club arena, club members had shown other ways in which they say judo brings results.

A man tries to hold you up. Give his gun wrist the old one-two with both palms and you have the gun.

A man tries to kiss a girl. The girl pulls his head forward, puts her thumb under his nose, jerks upward. The nose, head, and man go backward to the floor.

How to Tame Wife.

Your wife tries to pull your hair. Grab her hands firmly and, instead of trying to pull them off, hold them tightly to your head. That thwarts the pull. Then twist your body, putting the squeeze play on her arm.

You're a girl only 6 years old and a big bully tries to pick on you. Mrs. Tegner's daughter, Carol, who is just 6, but has been practicing judo since she was 2, showed what she would do to Lester Hessig Jr., a stocky young man in his prime. She grabbed his arms. There was a flash of legs and arms. Bong! Hessig was flat on his back. Carol smiled prettily. "Fun," she said. "Let's play some more."

Mrs. Tegner said the club has 116 members who come to the clubrooms, 1518 South Michigan avenue, whenever they feel the urge to take off some weight, develop some muscles, or just throw somebody around.

Roosevelt Adds 100 New Stamps to His Collection

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt's stamp collection was augmented today by a sheet of 100 of the new one cent "four freedoms" stamps which he purchased at a ceremony in his office.

GERMAN ESCAPE GAP NARROWED; KEY BASE TAKEN

Two Drives Close In on Kharkov.

MOSCOW, Feb. 13 [Saturday]—(AP).—Soviet armies in the Ukraine have reduced the Germans' escape corridor west from Rostov to 70 miles and have captured more towns on both sides of Kharkov, the Russian midnight communique reported early today.

Driving south toward the Sea of Azov, the Russians captured a vital rail junction about 70 miles north of the sea coast. This developing encirclement of the large German forces in the Donetz basin also increased the threat of entrapment over the Nazi army based at Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus.

[Military observers believe some 275,000 Germans are on the Donetz front, while 250,000 others are fighting desperately to hold Rostov.]

Capture of the Donetz basin rail key, the communique said, cut "the most important railway communications of the enemy" and left only one highly vulnerable rail outlet for the German forces extended to the east.

Krasnodar, a major German base in the western Caucasus, also has fallen, the Russians announced. This left only the Black sea naval base of Novorossisk and a small area along the coast in German hands. Capture of Krasnodar and four other towns in the same area greatly endangered the Germans' chances of escaping from the Caucasus.

Their best hope appeared to be an attempted flight by sea to the Crimea, but the soviet Black sea fleet and Russian marines have been reported striking on this front to prevent a Nazi evacuation.

Gain on Rostov Front.

On the Rostov front, the Russians said they took a town 45 miles to the north, and a smaller town even closer. Other Russian units are only about 25 miles north of the city and on the south are fighting in its suburbs. In the battle for Rostov the Reds repelled five Nazi counter-attacks.

Northwest of the Caucasus gateway city the Russians seized a town 25 miles southwest of Voroshilovgrad, Donetz basin industrial capital, to heighten the Nazis' peril on this front.

In the Kharkov area the Russians were reported only 20 miles from the Ukraine capital after cutting railway lines north and south of the city. The last feeder line was cut yesterday with the capture of Lozovaya, 75 miles to the south, and the midnight bulletin reported additional points taken in this area and also by an army moving in from the east.

More Gains by Red Army.

Further Russian gains were recounted north of Kharkov. The Reds said they "drove the enemy from several large populated places" about 45 miles north of the city and captured 1,000 prisoners. Farther north, in the Kursk region, 2,000 Germans and large stores of booty were reported taken in violent fighting.

Thirty-one German planes were destroyed yesterday in northern Caucasian combat, the communique said, and the captured crews of two German planes were quoted as saying they were transferred from Tunisia "several days ago."

ATTACKS ABATE—NAZIS.

Germany yesterday asserted that "impressed by big losses, enemy attacks on our defense front in the east [Russia] abated." Attempts by the Russian Black sea fleet to batter into Novorossisk and an attack by a tank division near that important naval base were reported repulsed

Canadians Minus Passports Can Visit U. S. Feb. 15

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 12.—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King today announced that, effective Feb. 15 Canadian citizens and British subjects legally resident in Canada will be permitted to enter the United States for visits of not more than 29 days without passports.

Predicts Early Move Against Each Axis Foe

Lincoln Honored

The anniversary of Lincoln's birth was observed in ceremonies yesterday thruout the nation, with speeches by Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr., house minority leader; Alf M. Landon, former Republican Presidential nominee; Roane Waring, American Legion national commander; Owen Dixon, Australian minister to the United States; Werner W. Schroeder, Illinois Republican national committeeman; Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, and Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana. In Chicago three Civil war veterans, past 90, braved snow flurries to honor Lincoln at a memorial program, and the Chicago Historical society heard Mary Todd Lincoln praised as the greatest influence for good in her husband's life. Stories on pages 8 and 9. Text of President Roosevelt's speech on war plans is on page 7.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt, describing the allied policy as one of fighting hard everywhere and "ending the war as quickly as we can," tonight promised decisive blows directly at Tokio together with "constant and unrelenting pressure" on Germany and Italy with an offensive about to begin in Tunisia.

In a nation-wide radio address from the dinner of the White House correspondents association, the chief executive gave a broad outline of strategic plans to smash Japan. Waving aside the island-by-island strategy as too slow, he pictured a vast, many-pronged offensive aimed at the heart of the empire.

He said the United States did not expect to spend the time it would take to bring Japan to final defeat merely by inching forward from island to island across the vast expanse of the Pacific.

Drive Invader from China.

He promised great and decisive actions against the Japanese to drive the invader from China and important actions in the skies over China and over Japan.

"There are many roads which lead right to Tokio. We shall neglect none of them," he said.

Otherwise, the President's address was one of reassurance to those disturbed over the policy toward the French, to those fearful that some of our allies may falter, to those professing concern over what sort of peace Russia may insist upon—and to those troubled over what may be the state of the nation once the war ends.

Pays Tribute to Russians.

Axis propagandists, he said, were "trying all their old tricks" in order to divide the united nations, to "create the idea that if we win this war, Russia, England, China, and the United States are going to get into a cat and dog fight."

With this, he paid a tribute to the "overwhelming courage and endurance" of the Russian armies, the genius of Premier Stalin.

The Nazis, he commented, must be frantic indeed if they believe that they can devise any propaganda which would turn the British and American and Chinese governments and peoples against Russia—or Russia against the other allies.

Discusses French Policy.

As for the French policy, he said that with each passing day "a spirit of unselfishness is more greatly uniting all Frenchmen who have the opportunity to strike a blow for liberation."

"It is one of our war aims," he went on, "that the conquered populations of today be again the masters of their destiny. French sovereignty rests with the people of France."

"A fundamental of an effective peace," he asserted, "is the assurance to those men who are fighting our battles, that when they come home they will find a country with an economy firm enough and fair enough to provide jobs for all those who are willing to work.

In Mr. Roosevelt's immediate audience, in addition to the newspaper men who cover the White House, were some 200 members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, meeting here; cabinet members, and a few high ranking government officials and officers of the military services.

EXPERT SOLVES THE TAX PUZZLE: JUST RAISE 'EM!

Student Economist Heard by House.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—An assistant economist for the war production board, who said he took a week's vacation to figure out how to solve the nation's tax ills, appeared today before the house ways and means committee with a broad smile and a proposal for staggering increases in income levies to raise nearly 7 billion dollars of the 16 billions in new revenue requested by President Roosevelt.

He is Sol Cohen, who handles priorities for the WPB construction and utility branch by day and studies public financing at George Washington university by night. With fractions and algebra and many pages of notes, he lectured the members of the committee for half an hour on the methods for getting every one on a pay as you go basis in meeting their tax obligations and raising the additional revenue at the same time.

Would Begin Tax at 30 Per Cent.

In his version of the shape of things to come, tax rates would start at a flat 30 per cent on incomes up to $2,000 and reaching a maximum of 85 per cent for everybody making above $60,000 per year. Cohen explained that these rates include the 5 per cent victory tax and the present 6 per cent normal tax, plus an additional amount piled on the incomes in higher brackets to extract the new revenue sought in the President's program.

The present law provides a rate of 19 per cent [normal and surtax] for incomes below $2,000—24 per cent with the victory tax. Surtax rates now reach a maximum of 82 per cent when incomes pass the $200,000 mark. On incomes from $50,000 to $60,000, the surtax rate is 66 per cent.

"The President asked for more money and he wouldn't have said it if he didn't mean it," Cohen replied to a question on the size of the rates. "How're you going to do it if you don't raise taxes?"

Settles Two Problems at Once.

Reminded that the committee is considering only the one question of pay-as-you-go taxation at this time and the question of increased taxes is to come up later, he smiled:

"O, well, I'm settling both problems at once."

Meanwhile the committee received recommendations for pay-as-you-go taxes in communications from two powerful organizations—the American Legion and the American Farm Bureau federation.

In a telegram, Roane Waring, national commander of the Legion, urged the placing of collections on a current basis, without the added burden of paying more than one year's taxes at a time, as a benefit for soldiers in service at home and fighting abroad. Otherwise, he warned, the fighting men returning from the war will suffer the handicap of a tax debt piled up before they entered the service of their country.

Opposes Doubling Up.

The Ruml plan, which has a number of supporters on the committee, calls for forgiveness of 1942 taxes to place every one on a current basis at once. The treasury is seeking adoption of legislation which would call for at least partial doubling up of two years' taxes to reach a pay-as-you-go basis. Waring asserted that any doubling up will create an impossible burden for taxpayers or will carry the tax debt into the post-war years, adding to the danger of depression.

Edward O'Neil, president of the farm bureau federation, wrote to Chairman Robert L. Doughton, of the ways and means committee, recommending the pay-as-you-go principle for wage earners in cities but adding that the plan does not appear practicable for farmers and others whose incomes vary from year to year. The federation, he said, favors all necessary taxes to drain off excess purchasing power during the war and application of a withholding at source collection plan on a pay-as-you-go basis wherever practicable.

The Perfect Formula!

WINNERS IN THE BIG BATTLE COMICS vs. MAPS: READERS

★

Last Saturday, in order to present a timely war map, the Tribune omitted the color comic "Deathless Deer." Readers were invited to comment on the change.

The votes are in and counted. As a result, we have found out two things: Readers want maps in color and they want comics in color—emphatically.

So you are going to get them both!

Today we present on the back page the "Deathless Deer" instalment omitted last Saturday. Color comics will appear each week but in the near future arrangements will be made for "Deathless Deer" to join the family of comics in the Sunday Tribune. Its place in color on the back page of the Saturday Tribune will be taken by another well known Tribune comic, which is already the favorite of thousands of readers. The name of this comic will be announced later.

And you readers who registered your preference for and complimented us so highly on our war maps in color can look forward to getting them—on any day of the week when the war news warrants their publication.

To readers who took their time and trouble to communicate their views in this matter: Thank you!

REDS DROP A HINT TO PLANNERS OF POST-WAR WORLD

It's Hands Off Bessarabia and Baltic Republics.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—Much interest has been aroused here by a broad hint from Moscow that post-war planners would do well to keep their hands off Bessarabia and the Baltic republics acquired by Russia in 1940.

These territories were taken over by Russia during Hitler's conquest of the Low Countries and France and his subsequent preparations for the battle of Britain. Russo-German relations then were ostensibly peaceful under the 1939 nonaggression pact, but commentators pointed out that the occupation of Bessarabia, Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania must have infuriated Hitler.

After Hitler's attack on Russia in June, 1941, the commentators stressed the defensive value of the areas to Russia and added that it could be understood why Russia fought for and obtained Finnish bases in the winter war of 1939-'40.

Hitler May Give Up Lands.

Now that Hitler's armies are retreating on a scale that suggests they may have to evacuate the Bessarabian, Estonian, Latvian, and Lithuanian areas from which they drove Stalin's armies in 1941, talk has revived as to the future status of these territories.

This is where the hint from Moscow comes in.

It is contained in an editorial published by Pravda on Feb. 8 and reprinted in the information bulletin of the soviet embassy here. Pravda's words get wide diplomatic attention because that paper is the official Communist mouthpiece. They receive even more careful study when reprinted in the embassy bulletin.

U. S. Columnist Criticized.

This Pravda editorial criticizes an American columnist [Constantine Brown, Washington Evening Star] for appearing to suggest that Russia seeks domination of large areas of Europe and a pathway "thru Iran to the Persian gulf."

It also rebukes him, however, for assertedly implying that the question of the status of Bessarabia and the Baltic republics still is an open question.

It notes that the columnist "kindly presents us with Bessarabia on behalf of unknown Americans! Why should he not make a generous present of California or Alaska to the United States? Do there not exist curious people who are ready to present to the soviet union parts of the latter's own territory, as, for instance, the Baltic republics? These persons pretend not to know that the basic law of our country—the constitution of the U. S. S. R.—has fixed the ties between these republics and the other union republics, and that the Red army heroically fights for the honor, independence and integrity of our state."

Poland Not Mentioned.

In view of Pravda's official function, this statement is considered a reminder from Moscow that the future status of Bessarabia is no more open to question than the status of California or Alaska, and that the Baltic republics are considered by the soviet union as part of it.

The article does not mention eastern Poland, occupied by soviet troops under the 1939 Polish partition agreement with Germany. This might mean the status of that region is left open for discussion.

In considering the soviet policy, it should be remembered that Russia never recognized the Rumanian annexation of Bessarabia in 1918 and that Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania were part of czarist Russia.

RUSSIA'S WINTER HITS NAZIS WITH A NEW 'WEAPON'

It's 'Buran,' an Icy, Biting Whirlwind of Snow.

MOSCOW, Feb. 12 (AP).—Driving snow and cold death ride the Russian-German front.

Winter's feared "buran" has begun.

Buran is a Russian word meaning a whirlwind of snow. It cuts at you from every direction, the biting particles seeming even to slash upward from the ground.

Roaring winds add to the suffering horror. The buran freezes noses, cheeks, and chins; it claws thru the warmest clothing.

Harassed by the specter of encirclement, the Nazis are illuminating large sectors of the front with rockets at night, trying to protect themselves against nocturnal encirclements. In the buran, this makes the front even more awesome by night.

The severe cold has caught many Germans. A dispatch today related that, when the soviets arrived at a hospital north of Kursk, they found numerous German wounded frozen to death in their beds.

New Nazi Arms Abandoned.

Taking notice of the buran's arrival, Pravda, the Communist party organ, said:

"The lack of roads, blizzards, and deep snows will not halt us."

Driven from their fortifications in this bitter weather, the Germans are reported abandoning considerable new equipment, even big new guns just arrived from Germany.

The Russians found it difficult to get their vehicles thru many of the recaptured villages, a dispatch reported. They found the snow whipping up and down streets which were blocked by frozen, wrecked, and abandoned Nazi machines.

Stabs a Jap

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

EDWARD FRY.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 12 (AP).—The story of a struggle in the dark between an American sailor and a Jap for possession of a small raft in the South Pacific was related today by the winner—Seaman Edward Fry, 20 years old, of St. Louis, Mo. Fry is recovering in the naval hospital from effects of the fight and the loss of an arm. The arm was in a mangled condition when he fought the Jap.

Fry was aboard the cruiser Astoria when the ship was sunk near Savo Island. Hurled into the sea by an explosion, he started swimming. "In the darkness I found a raft," he said. "But as I attempted to climb on a man kicked me. I said, 'hey, Buddy, I just want to climb aboard,' and got my answer in Japanese. It sounded like he was swearing.

"I drew my knife as I made a lunge which threw me on the raft. We struggled in the dark until I finally managed to stab him. He tried to pull me into the water with him, but he was covered with oil and I managed to slip from his grasp."

Fry was unconscious when rescued.

HOW COMMANDOS WITH MULES PUT AXIS IN TURMOIL

Kill 200 Italians in Raid Near Bizerte.

Ambush Allies: Nazis

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—A DNB news agency dispatch broadcast by the German radio today and heard by the Associated Press said that a force of British and Americans which attempted a strong assault on forward axis positions on the northern slope of the Atlas mountains in Tunisia had "fallen into an ambush and been wiped out."

The broadcast also said that American reconnaissance forces west of Faid in central Tunisia "were easily repulsed."

There was no confirmation of this report from any official allied source and a communique from allied headquarters in North Africa said there had been "nothing to report" from the Tunisian ground forces.

Allied bombers and fighters raided 'German-held Sened, rail town 20 miles west of Maknassy.

BY ROSS MUNRO.

WITH BRITISH COMMANDOS ON THE TUNISIAN FRONT, Feb. 10 [Delayed]—(AP).—British Commandos, supported by French troops, carried out a successful raid on the Bizerte corner of Tunisia last night. They prowled behind the enemy lines for hours, while British infantry carried out a simultaneous attack on the right flank, killing 200 Italians and capturing 20 Italians and several German officers.

I slogged along with these crack Commando troops into the rugged hills northwest of Mateur, near the Mediterranean, and watched them shoot up Italian posts, blow up roads, and lay mines with the audacity of border raiders.

Mules Carry Mortars.

They penetrated deep into enemy territory and threw the area into turmoil.

British artillery also was in action as part of the raiding operation, which was one of the largest and most successful carried out in this campaign. Engineers went along and demolished roads.

Mules, brought up in trucks, were used on the raid to carry mortars and equipment. The Commando colonel had his own private mule along.

In 48 hours in the hills the commandos marched more than 50 miles over rough country, the muddiest I have ever seen. Sometimes we were knee deep in slimy mud and after 20 miles I fell behind with wornout feet and watched the rest of the attack from a hilltop.

Strafed by Enemy Planes.

Enemy planes strafed us and then bombed us. One 500 pounder dropped 30 feet away without damage. There was some sniping and indiscriminate firing in the hills as we moved forward. The Commandos pulled off this land coup with a great flourish and withdrew right on schedule with only a handful of casualties.

The surprised enemy did not attempt a pursuit and we came back unharried except for more rain and more mud.

CHICAGOAN IS NAMED BRIGADIER GENERAL, MOTHER INFORMED

Jens A. Doe, who is stationed in New Guinea, has been promoted from the rank of colonel to that of brigadier general, his mother, Mrs. Ronald Doe of 810 Lakeside place, was informed yesterday. Gen. NAZIS CROSSING SWEDEN CALLED PERIL TO PEACE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 12 (AP).—The Swedish press said today that the agreement allowing transit of German troops across neutral Sweden should be canceled in the event the allies invade Norway, even if it means war for Sweden.

The transit agreement was made in 1940 and provided for the movement of German troops across Sweden to or from Norway by Swedish railway.

The Goeteborg Handels Tidningen said the agreement should be canceled immediately, declaring that when it "becomes a threat to the country we not only have the right but also the duty to cancel it."

Allan Vought, leader of the government's Democratic party in the lower house of parliament, wrote in the newspaper Arbetet that neither transit of troops nor war material should continue if war strikes Norway again.

"FREE DRINKS" STRIKE ENDS.

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Feb. 12 [Canadian Press].—After a four day strike for "free hot drinks on cold days," miners at the Newcastle coal mine last night voted to return to work today—without the drinks. One hundred seventy workers at the Saar mine continued their strike for free carbide for their lamps despite an appeal to return to work from John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

ASSERTS SIBERIA BASES BEST FOR BOMBING JAPS

Glacier Priest Tells of Alaska Trip.

New York, Feb. 12 [Special].—Should Russia grant sites under a lend-lease reciprocal plan or otherwise in Siberia for the construction of United States air bases, "we could bomb the hell out of Japan," the Rev. Bernard G. Hubbard, famed glacier priest, said here today.

Calling attention to the friendly negotiations now going on between Japan and Russia, over renewal of the Kamchatka fishing treaty, he said: "Puzzling, indeed, is the fact that we have declared war on all of the soviet's enemies, but the soviet has not declared war on all of ours."

Japs Search Red Ships.

During a recent visit to the Aleutian Islands, Father Hubbard said, he learned that "large soviet cargo vessels, loaded with lend-lease food, clothing and other nonmilitary freight are consistently stopped and inspected by Jap officers. The Jap officers grimace, but they let the ships go thru."

The fishing treaty, an agreement which Japan and Russia have been renewing each year since 1925, permits the Japs to catch $10,000,000 worth of salmon a year in the waters around Kamchatka, a peninsula of eastern Siberia separating the Okhotsk sea and the Bering sea.

Fog Covers Islands.

From the south end of Kamchatka runs the string of Kurile Islands straight to Japan, and the most valuable point in the North Pacific for weather information.

The Japanese maintain weather stations on the Kuriles and that is where they got the meteorological information which enabled them to bomb Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians, on the tail of a storm last June 3, according to Father Hubbard.

"Dense fog and hurricanes up to 100 miles an hour frequently cover the Aleutians at the same time," he said.

[Another dispatch quoted the priest as saying that Alaska cannot be invaded and that "we can take Kiska any time we want to." Kiska is one of the Aleutian Islands now occupied by Japan.]

PICK DE GAULLIST TO HEAD ALGERIA ECONOMIC GROUP

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 12.—Charles Brunel, former mayor of Algiers and ardent de Gaullist, has been chosen to head Algerian Gov. Marcel Peyrouton's newly created permanent council of war economy. This appointment is the first of a recognized follower of the Fighting French leader, Gen. Charles de Gaulle, to a high office. Brunel's council will be composed of representatives of Algerian industries and workers' organizations.

Ex-Governor on Way to London.

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 12 (AP).—Yves Chatel, former governor of Algeria, arrived today en route to London. Chatel is carrying an important message from Gen. Henri Giraud to Gen. Charles de Gaulle, it was reported.

BLAZE PERILS WATERFRONT.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 12 (AP). — Two waterfront warehouses were destroyed today by a fire which threatened the entire area before it was brought under control after three hours by every available firefighting unit.

REPORT ROMMEL WOUNDED IN AIR RAID ON GABES

New York, Feb. 12 (AP).—The New York Sun published a copyright dispatch from the Tunisian front today which said there was an unconfirmed report from a usually reliable source that Marshal Erwin Rommel was wounded in a recent heavy American bomber raid on Gabes, where the German commander was said to have had his headquarters.

The dispatch was from Gault MacGowan, Sun correspondent. It said Rommel was reported to be in a hospital at Tunis. The extent of his injuries was not indicated.

London Warned by Radio to Avoid Lost Explosive

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—Londoners were warned by radio tonight to watch for a "dark metal object containing a highly dangerous explosive" lost early today between the Stratford and Leyton districts. The warning said the lethal object was "octagonal in shape, measuring 10x1¼ inches, with an eye hole at the top and a safety key attached."

CHINA WAR CHIEF REACHES INDIA FOR CONFERENCE

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 12 (AP).—Gen. Ho Ying-Ching, the Chinese minister of war, arrived today and was met by Field Marshal Archibald P. Wavell, British commander in India. His visit returns the call of Field Marshal John Dill and Lt. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, United States army air commander, to Chungking, where they consulted with him, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

These conferences are devising ways of pressing the attack on Japan and supplying China with war supplies. Dill and Arnold conferred with Wavell before going to Chungking.

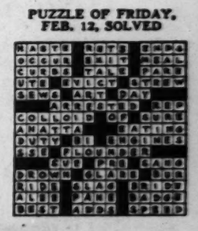
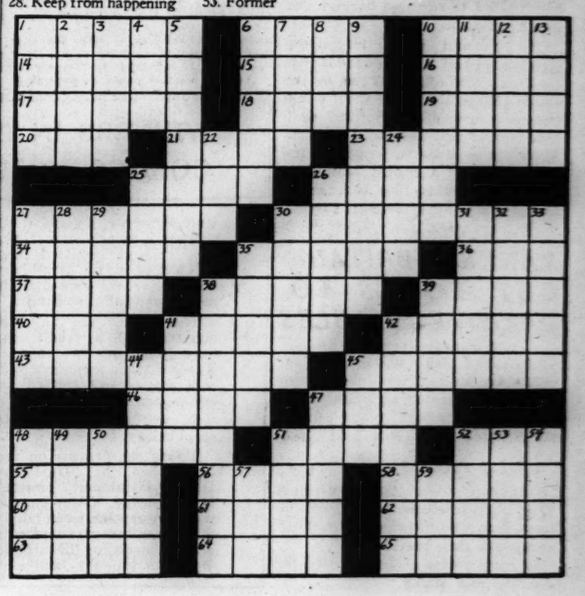
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, FEB. 12, SOLVED





WAU AIR FIELDS BUILT TO TAP 3 BILLIONS IN GOLD

Springboard for Attack on Jap's Flank.

[Stanley Johnston, Tribune war correspondent, who reported the battle of the Coral sea and the sinking of the aircraft carrier Lexington, went into the Wau and Bulolo valley area of New Guinea as a prospector in 1926. He remained there for six years and saw the opening of the gold fields and airways. This is the first article by Mr. Johnston on the district where American troops now are fighting the Japanese. Another is to follow.]

BY STANLEY JOHNSTON.

Communiques from New Guinea telling that the Japanese have been driven back from Wau are far more important than the news might suggest. Wau and the immediate area of the Bulolo valley in peace time contained several air fields which are from 30 to 60 air miles directly behind the Japanese held seaports of Lae and Salamaua.

Tho the Japanese have occupied Lae and Salamaua since February, 1942, Australian territorial troops have prevented them from gaining access to the Bulolo valley, the strategic air fields, and the rich gold fields in the valley and along Eadie creek. Tho it is only 30 miles to Wau air field from Salamaua, the rough mountain trail involves some 82 miles of rugged climbing and descent across the four and five thousand foot mountain ridges which separate the area from the coast.

When the gold fields were discovered back in 1926 by "Sharkeye" Pryke, a Californian, who died in San Francisco three years ago, the trip into the field was a 16 to 18 day march thru difficult country inhabited by hostile cannibals. The native carriers were allowed to tote only a 60 pound sack, and 30 pounds of this load consisted of the rice and other food each boy would eat going in and returning to the coast for another load. This meant that each man brought in only 30 pounds of supplies for the field workmen.

Road Out of Question.

The first gold miners who hurried to this field when the news of the discovery was announced soon discovered that the Bulolo valley, tho it boasted placer gold worth about 35 cents a cubic yard thruout several millions of yards of area, would yield a profit only if tackled in a big way. This would require big dredges—and vast capital expenditure. Examination soon showed that building a road to bring in heavy machinery was out of the question, because such a venture would cost millions of dollars.

Pryke's partner, District Officer Levine, then conceived the idea of flying machinery in. but at that time there were no aircraft capable of carrying a load of four tons—the weight of the lightest tumbler shaft of the type of dredge that engineers insisted was necessary to handle the 82 feet deep pay dirt. Undaunted by opinions of men in the aircraft industry, Levine called for bids to build such a machine. Only one firm, Junkers of Germany, bid. It supplied an all-metal tri-motor Junkers 32 to carry the heaviest loads of machinery to the field and a single engine machine to fly the smaller items.

Find 3 Billions in Gold.

From 1928 to 1940 mining engineers drilled the Bulolo-Eadie creek area and found that more than 3 billion dollars worth of gold lay in the placer deposits and nearby reefs. Within a few years the air line companies transported thousands of tons of milling machinery, 11 electric dredges, some of which turned over 240,000 cubic yards of gold sand each month; hydro-electric machinery, horses, cattle, supplies to maintain about 1,000 whites and several thousand natives who worked for the mining companies, and building materials.

Some idea of the value of this area is given by the official figures which show that more than $60,000,000 worth of gold was produced up to June, 1940, of which the rapidly expanding production reached 237,705 ounces of fine gold in 1938-'39, valued at $8,319,675.

During the year ending in June, 1940, the last for which returns are available, airplanes carried 16,984 passengers and 23,646,838 pounds—more than 11,800 tons—of mail and goods.

The nearby Eadie creek gold fields were the paradise of individual miners, for here the streams were rich in coarse gold that gave hard workers the El Dorado of this century. Fortunes were made in a few months and it was a common sight to see prospectors struggling under the load of a large sized cookie tin containing their gold as they made their way to an air field for transport to the coast and civilization.

The Eadie creek "diggins" were about 8,000 feet above sea level. This stream tumbled down the valleys to join the Bulolo river at 4,000 feet altitude and there deposit the lighter yellow metal which enriched the Bulolo valley for many miles.

The Japanese tried to reach the Bulolo valley to capture the gold fields and air fields shortly after they first landed at Lae by going up the Markham river valley. This effort failed because of the flood waters which come roaring down from the inland catchment area of the 10,000 to 15,000 foot mountain range which separates the north from the south sides of the big island.

Possession of the several air fields originally built to give access to the gold fields would enable Gen. Douglas MacArthur to fly his troops to the rear of the Japanese positions. From there they could strike down the trails which are known only to the Australian patrol officers. These officers have spent the last 20 years patroling this wilderness to see that the native tribes of the mountain valleys are not molested by the white settlers.

One of the reasons the enemy had no foreknowledge of New Guinea and its difficulties was that the Australian administration which controled this vast territory never allowed Japanese nationals to visit the area.

Besides the air fields in the gold fields mentioned in the foregoing there are other fields suitable for aircraft landings in many other strategic positions thruout the island, and there is reason to believe that the Australian colonizers have denied occupation of any of these to the enemy.

YANKS BOMB TWO JAP BASES IN SOLOMONS; DOWN ENEMY PLANE

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The navy reported today that Japanese positions at Munda and Kolombangara had been bombed Thursday and large fires started in the target areas.

During the morning of Feb. 11, the communique said, "a force of marauder medium bombers [Martin B-26], with Airacobra [Bell P-39] and Lightning [Lockheed P-38] escort, attacked positions at Munda. Bomb hits started fires in the target area.

"During the evening Marauders and Airacobra escorts bombed positions on Kolombangara. A large fire was started and one enemy plane was shot down."

Munda on New Georgia Island is the principal air base in the central Solomons and is 180 nautical miles northwest of the American air field on Guadalcanal. Kolombangara is about 10 miles beyond Munda and is another enemy air base.

CHICAGOAN LED 'CLEANUP' DRIVE ON GUADALCANAL

GUADALCANAL, Feb. 9 [Delayed] —(AP).—The battle for Guadalcanal was "a campaign of destruction by ground forces supported by powerful artillery," Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch Jr. said tonight with the announcement that the Japanese had been driven from this island.

Lt. Col. George Ferry.

The victory came as a result of a tremendous encircling movement over extremely difficult terrain which the enemy didn't think the Americans could cross. But after the capture of Mount Austen, the army forces drove to the southwest in an encircling movement. A landing was made on the west side Feb. 1, headed by Col. Alexander George of Texas, who received a leg wound and gave up command to Lt. Col. George Ferry of Chicago.

Col. Ferry lives at 8543 Bennett avenue. He was superintendent of the rolling mill at the Carnegie-Illinois South works before going into the army in 1941. At home are his wife, Dorothy, and two sons, Robert, 15, and Thomas, 7, while a third son, George Jr., 20, is a lieutenant in the reserves at the University of Illinois pre-medic school.

YANKS SALVAGE PLANE IN GUINEA; GET FRESH MEAT

'Chow' Good in Solomons, Correspondent Says

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Tribune war correspondent who has just returned from the southwest Pacific.]

What's the chow like in the southwest Pacific? How are the boys eating in Australia and New Guinea?

The answer is that the quality of the food varies with the distance from the Australian mainland. The farther away you get from the source of supply, the less fancy the food becomes.

The air force eats a little better than the ground troops in New Guinea, however. When flyers return to Port Moresby, New Guinea, from leave in Australia they often tuck a side of beef away in their bomber or a crate of fresh eggs. One outfit in New Guinea pitched in and rebuilt a crashed B-25 bomber that had been written off as a total loss. They took all the guns out of it, threw away the armor plate, and when they got thru they had a transport plane that would carry 8,000 pounds.

Food Like That at Home.

Australia contributes a lot of foodstuffs to the American forces in return for lend-lease aid. On the Australian continent the food is as good and as varied as it would be at home. There the boys have mess halls or tents and they sit down to eat like gentlemen. In the Port Moresby area chances are you stand in a long chow line, collect the hot food in your mess kit, and squat down on a log or the ground to eat it.

When you get over on the other side of the Owen Stanley range, with bullets whistling around your ears, you get down as low as you can on the ground, open the tin can of C ration with the little metal key, and eat with your penknife.

Didn't Like Mutton.

In the beginning in Australia there was too much mutton to suit the American taste. "Billy goat," the troops called it. Cooked pumpkin baffled them for a while, too. Pumpkins, they said, are for pies. Continual cabbage and tea also got a little tiresome.

This was all good food, but different. As time went on the mutton was replaced by beef and pork, and tea by coffee, and the pumpkin and cabbage by other vegetables, some grown by soldiers in their own spare time gardens.

Let's look at a typical army camp menu:

Breakfast—Dry cereal, milk, ham, omelets, oven browned potatoes, rolled oats, jam, bread, butter, coffee.

Dinner—Swiss steak, mashed potatoes, stewed tomatoes, boiled cabbage, creamed carrots, stewed apricots, sugar, bread, butter, coffee, milk.

Supper—Braised beef, boiled potatoes, cream gravy, macaroni and tomatoes, apricots, bread, butter, jam, milk, coffee, and sugar.

No Vegetables in Guinea.

When you get up to Port Moresby, you enter the land of canned goods. Nobody has ever bothered to grow vegetables there, and there aren't any cattle or pigs. The fresh meat gives way to compressed mixed meats, bully beef, salmon, and sardines. The fresh vegetables are replaced by canned ones, and omelets made of dried eggs begin turning up. So do dried onions, dehydrated potatoes, and other forms of food which take less shipping space.

Over on the Buna front, everything had to be transported by air. Munitions came first and food second. As a result, we lived on our iron rations. But iron rations are getting pretty fancy, and each man is supposed to get six cans of C rations daily. Three of them contain meat and vegetable stew, or meat and beans. The other three contain several cookies, hard candy, two lumps of sugar, and powdered coffee. The stew is very tasty and is good hot or cold.

Coffee—Hot or Cold.

The coffee can be made with hot or cold water, and it's very stimulating.

Most of the time at the front we had only two meals of C ration, supplemented in the middle of the day by half of a D ration, which is a chocolate bar. In addition, everybody had vitamin pills.

Col. Leroy Nelson, who was commander of a Chicago regiment on Guadalcanal in the Solomon Islands, said the troops ate very well there, despite the fact that they were on a remote Pacific island.

"We had fresh meat every day," he said. "Whoever was in charge of supply did a swell job."

LINDA BRENT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 12 [Special]. —Linda Brent, 21 years old, actress, today received her final citizenship papers with a class of 250 before Federal Judge Leon R. Yankwich. Miss Brent came to the United States in 1938 with her mother following the winning of the trip in a contest in Shanghai, where she was named the "most beautiful white girl in the orient." Her father is in the British navy. Another who received final papers was Fortunio Bonanova, Spanish singer and actor.

ARMY WILL END FLYERS' COLLEGE STUDY BY FEB. 28

College students in the army air force reserve who are qualified for flying duty probably will be called to duty by Feb. 28, it was learned yesterday.

All other students in the enlisted reserve, except those in certain technical lines, are subject to call if they are not now enrolled in a semester that began prior to last Dec. 31, it was stated.

Medical and engineering students and those in other specified technical courses are exempt.

M'ARTHUR'S MEN PUSH ON IN DRIVE FOR SALAMAUA

Kill 135 Jap Stragglers in Wau Area.

ALLIED HDQ. IN AUSTRALIA, Feb. 13 [Saturday]—(AP).—The allies are continuing to push forward on the approaches to Salamaua, New Guinea, the allied high command announced today, reporting that in the Wau area "the enemy continues his withdrawal."

The extent of the withdrawal was not stated. Yesterday's communique told of the main Jap forces falling back on Mubo, only 12 miles below Salamaua, after suffering losses of nearly 1,000 men in a series of reversals.

Today's communique also reported the killing of 135 more stragglers in the Kumusi river area below the Wau battleground where late last December, at a heavy cost in men and ships, the Japs put ashore some reënforcements during futile efforts to keep their hold on the Papuan peninsula. In addition, the bodies of 90 other Japs were found.

Italian Government Aids Resign, Rome Radio Says

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—The Rome radio said today that several undersecretaries of the Italian government had resigned, including Gen. Antonio Scuero of the war office. Only a week ago Premier Mussolini shook up his cabinet, ousting all but three of its members.

HOSPITAL LEADER PREDICTS RATION OF NURSING CARE

Foresees Only Volunteer Help as Solution.

James A. Hamilton, president of the American Hospital association, prophesied rationing of nursing service yesterday unless a 50,000 increase in students for nursing schools is obtained. He said that a rationing plan probably would include banning of special duty nurses, home nurses, and nurses employed by industry in nonnursing jobs.

James A. Hamilton.

Hamilton spoke in the Drake hotel before the annual midwinter meeting of presidents, secretaries, and chairmen of legislative committees of the association. Describing the all-around shortage of man power in hospitals thruout the country, he asserted that relief could be found in increased use of volunteer workers and in the use of conscientious objectors and men qualified only for limited service in the army.

Volunteer Help Essential.

"I believe that the solution to the man power problem of maintaining care in hospitals must come from voluntary aid from those members of the community who wish to make a contribution to their neighbors by having themselves trained in hospital operation and devoting part of their daily effort to relieving shortages in hospitals," he said. "This aid would serve not only as their contribution to winning the war, but also would increase their skill in the field of endeavor that may appeal to their human interest."

Hamilton said hospital workers should be frozen to their positions if the government instituted a compulsory man power system.

"I do not believe in freezing man power," he asserted. "It is the right of every one to better himself, but if such legislation is enacted, it is important that hospitals retain sufficient workers to operate the institutions."

Shortage of 76,000 Nurses.

Miss Alma Haupt, executive secretary of the office of defense health and welfare, urged all-out support of the association in the recruiting of nurses. She pointed out that 351,000 nurses are necessary to fulfill the needs of civilians and service organizations. Only 275,000 nurses are available, Miss Haupt said.

She disclosed that a nursing unit would be a part of the man power commission's placement bureau, now being formed in Washington, D. C.

With the American forces prepared to make a great offensive, it is possible that the number of war wounded may rise as high as 1,000,000, declared Maury Maverick, director of the governmental division of the war production board and former congressman from Texas.

Maverick Urges Hospital Expansion.

Maverick urged a huge program for hospitalization that would include the use of all hospital space to take care of civilians and service men.

"We must conclude that we cannot build enough hospitals," he said; "therefore we must use all hospital space — seaside resorts, mountain homes, dude ranches, office buildings, fishing lodges, factories, ski lodges—and it must be on a large scale."

The sessions closed with a testimonial banquet for Dr. Bert W. Caldwell and Asa S. Bacon. Dr. Caldwell is retiring after 15 years as executive secretary of the hospital association and seven years as editor of the publication of Hospitals. Bacon, superintendent emeritus of Presbyterian hospital, was association treasurer for 35 years and president in 1923. Each received a commemorative plaque. Approximately 250 midwest hospital executives and local civic leaders attended the dinner.

BRITON PICTURES DIEPPE RAID AS ALLIED SUCCESS

Contrary to popular opinion, the Dieppe raid last August was a success, Maj. Thomas A. B. Ditton, formerly of the British and United States armies and a free-lance war correspondent, told the Executives' club at a luncheon in Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Maj. Ditton, who accompanied troops on the raid, gave the following reasons for considering the affair a successful piece of military strategy: First, during the entire attack the allies had control of the air, not a German plane being in the air when they finally withdrew. Second, the party planned to stay on the shores exactly nine hours and then withdraw. The last craft, except those returning for stragglers, left only six minutes from a set schedule. Third, troops who had previously not been under fire showed the success of their Commando training by remaining calm in the face of heavy fire.

"Those boys were in there and wanted to mix it up," the correspondent said. "At one time they were so hasty in following up a German withdrawal that they lost their supply line—this being one of the faults that cost the allies men."

Panama's President to Wed Widow of Distant Kinsman

PANAMA CITY, Panama, Feb. 12 (AP).—The engagement of Dr. Ricardo Adolfo de La Guardia, president of Panama, and Mrs. Carmen Estripeaut de La Guardia, widow of a distant relative of the president, was announced tonight.

ROBBERS TAKE CAB AND $15.

Two men held up George Mangle, 5203 Magnolia avenue, a cab driver, forced him to take them to 67th street and Euclid avenue, and robbed him of $15 and his taxicab yesterday, he told police.

WAACS Tell Their Pride in Pioneer Field; Tide of Romantic Thrills Rolls for WAVES

BY MARTHA MURPHY.

They're in the Navy

Romance and glamor have drifted into the lives of the WAVES stationed in Chicago since they joined the women's reserve of the navy. Accompanying the pride of wearing navy blue, of being in the navy, are new feminine pleasures for a girl to dream over as she slips into her smart Mainbocher uniform.

"I seem to feel so much prouder these days," Miss Eleanor Hanson, 20 years old, yeoman third class, 8553 Vernon avenue, said yesterday. "The best thing that's happened to me since I was sworn in on Sept. 26 was meeting 'my sailor.' He came to one of our recreation hours when I was in training at Oklahoma A. and M. in Stillwater, and I think maybe we'll be engaged pretty soon."

Now Helping Mother.

In civilian life Miss Hanson was a shipping clerk, making $18 a week. As a yeoman third class she gets $78 a month base pay, with a subsistence allowance of $82 a month. Each week she gives her mother, Mrs. Nels Hanson, $15.

"I couldn't ever help out at home before, because I wasn't making enough money," Miss Hanson said. "Now I'm proud to be able to help pay for the frills my folks have given me all my life."

One of the biggest thrills Miss Ellen Canas, 25, yeoman third class, 2120 South 47th avenue, Cicero, has had since joining the WAVES in October is meeting people.

Meets Famous Folks.

"I've met people I only read about before," Miss Ganas said. "In just the last few weeks I've met Phil Spitalny, Hildegarde, Buddy Ebsen, and Skeets Gallagher. The WAVES offer a rare opportunity for meeting all kinds of people."

Both Miss Hanson and Miss Ganas do navy office work—typing, filing, taking dictation, and helping answer questions.

Lt. [j. g.] Margaret Hartley, 37, Muncie, Ind., helps Lt. Mary Daily with recruiting in the WAVES office, 1175 Board of Trade building. As part of her job, Lt. Hartley travels thruout the 9th naval district, making speeches and appearing on broadcasts. She's found that the famous people she's most thrilled to meet are equally pleased to meet her because she's a WAVE.

Before being commissioned on Oct. 16, Lt. Hartley was a training director in a department store. Her monthly base pay now is $166, with $60 for quarters and $21 for food.

Salute Gives a Thrill!

"The first time a warrant officer saluted me I felt I had really arrived," Ensign Peggy Royhl, 27, Huron, S. D., said.

Ensign Royhl, who is communications officer in the office of inspector of naval material, and Ensign Mary L. Kennedy, in charge of procurement for the SPARS, women's reserve of the coast guard, are especially proud of being an actual part of the navy.

"We're in a service with traditions and ideals to live up to," said Ensign Kennedy, 24, Springfield, Mass. "We're just as much a part of the service as the men are. Our pay, ratings, medical and dental care, insurance, uniform allowances, transportation allowances, and privileges are the same."

Pay Like that of Men.

Ensign Royhl's and Ensign Kennedy's pay of $150 a month base, $45 for quarters, and $21 for food is the same as that of male ensigns.

None of the WAVES find their living conditions differ much from those in civilian life. Several share apartments with other women as they did in civilian life.

RUTH CHENEY STREETER.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The marine corps will open a recruiting drive tomorrow for women. Candidates for the new women's reserve of the marines will be enrolled at navy and marine recruiting offices thruout the country and will be trained in the schools of the WAVES.

Unlike the navy's WAVES and the army's WAAC's, the women of the marine corps will have no tricky name coined from initials of their service. They will be called marines—but probably not "leathernecks." The organization is headed by Mrs. Ruth Cheney Streeter of Morristown, N. J., with the rank of major. Its service is restricted to continental United States.

Women between the ages of 20 and 50 who have college degrees or two years of college and equivalent business experience or special qualifications in a particular field are eligible for enrollment as officer candidates. Enlisted personnel must be between 20 and 36, with at least two years of high school or business school education or special qualifications. Altho both married and unmarried women are eligible, the marine corps has decreed that it will accept no woman with children under 18, nor any woman married to a marine.

The women will replace men fitted for fighting service at posts ranging from administrative and clerical to aircraft mechanics and laboratory work.

They're in the Army

Pride in the pioneer spirit of the Women's Army Auxiliary corps has meant more to WAACs stationed in Chicago than anything that's happened to them since joining the corps.

"The WAACs present a pioneer movement," 2d Officer Ruth Woodworth, head of the WAAC recruiting office in room 601, 166 West Van Buren street, said yesterday. "In the transition from a writer to a recruiter, I've become more objective and my thinking and acting have been streamlined. I see women now on an absolutely equal basis with men. The WAACs are showing that women able to do the job can be paid the same as men. The idea of a woman working three times as hard as a man to earn a smaller amount is being showed up."

Sharing in New Creation.

Lt. Woodworth, 44 years old, of Eau Claire, Wis., is assisted by 2d Officer Margaret Stewart, 25, of Dickinson, S. D. Lt. Stewart, wife of a warrant officer now serving in the Solomons, feels that she is taking part in building something new, different and valuable for women.

"The longer I'm a WAAC, the more I feel that service wives should be in service, too, unless they're working in a defense plant," Lt. Stewart said. "Instead of growing apart from your husband, you grow closer to him while in service."

Both 3d Officer Marie B. Metz, 22, of Chatham, N. Y., and 3d Officer Claire Gluesing, 24, of Huron, S. D., echoed Lt. Woodworth's statements about the equality of women and men as shown by opportunities in the WAAC.

Opportunity to Rise.

"Besides being addressed by the same titles, getting the same pay, and being given the same advantages as regular army men, the WAAC allows its members to rise from the ranks," said Lt. Metz, an assistant recruiting officer. "Every one can be promoted according to merit. I was especially proud of being in the first officer candidate class selected from the ranks."

Lt. Gluesing, who handles public relations for the recruiting office, was the only member of her officer candidate class with no college education. "That thrilled me," she said. "But something new and wonderful happens every day. Making the speeches and broadcasts entailed in my job, I've met many interesting people—just the other day I met and talked with Gertrude Lawrence. Then, I like to think about the possibility of being sent overseas with the WAACs."

Looks Forward to Holland.

Third Officer Cornelia Groenveld, 23, of Philadelphia, Pa., officer in charge of the medical section of the recruiting office, hopes to be assigned to rehabilitation work in Holland after the war is won. She comes of Dutch stock and speaks Dutch fluently.

Parades and drills at Fort Des Moines, Ia., are the training experiences that 3d Officer Nell Breeden, 22, of Jackson, Miss., will never forget. Lt. Breeden, who terms herself "an average WAAC," claims that each day's experiences in the WAAC are so enjoyable she could not name her favorite task or experience.

Almost all of these six WAAC officers share apartments. Second Officers Woodworth and Stewart get $166 a month base pay, with $60 for quarters and $21 for rations, the same amounts paid to regular army lieutenants. The 3d officers get $150 base pay, $45 for quarters and $21 for rations, equal to the pay of 2d lieutenants in the army.

9 HOUR DAY, 7 DAY WEEK: THAT'S LIFE OF AFRICA WAACS

Woodstock Girl Thrills to Native Wonders.

BY RUTH COWAN.

ALLIED HDQ. IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 7 [Delayed] (AP).—The WAACs overseas are finding out that Mars doesn't take a holiday.

Right now it's a seven day work week for the first detachment of the women's army auxiliary corps, altho later the army hopes to give the girl stenographers, clerks, telephone operators, and staff car drivers a half day off each week.

The WAACs now here, representing 39 states and the District of Columbia, are becoming aware that war is not a tea party and they're agreeing with their brother soldiers that the home folks don't fully realize what it's like.

Wonderful, Says Illinoisan.

They rave about the charm and quaintness of the city in which they are stationed. "It's wonderful!" says WAAC Auxiliary Frances Garland of Woodstock, Ill.

But North Africa isn't exactly a winter resort at this season, for there's no heat in the picturesque suburban convent and the exquisite old tiles in the dormitory floors are chilly to step on at 5:45 a. m.

They stood reveille at first but they had to use flashlights and it was decided there was no sense in tempting Jerry, who frequently stages air raids in this area just before dawn.

No Rest for Cooks.

Another break the girls are getting is that they no longer have time for drills and Drill Sergt. Anne Bradley of Philadelphia has been made supply sergeant.

Breakfast hour is 6:15 a. m. for the officers, but some WAAC cooks always are on duty. There are groups of WAACs going and coming from work around the clock.

One unit in the personnel section leaves at 6:45 a. m.; those reporting to the army motor pool start out at 7 a. m.; at 8 a. m. the day shift telephone and teletype operators go, and the clerical and stenographic force departs a half hour later.

No One Complains.

For some of the WAACs, especially those in the motor corps, their work day is sometimes nine hours or even longer.

To allay the anxiety of parents back home, Uncle Sam is on the job as escort—the girls are transported back and forth in buses, staff cars, or in jeeps.

Again on the brighter side, all is not work. Numerous dances are scheduled for the WAACs by various army detachments, and already several WAACs are rehearsing for a play at the American Red Cross Service club.

Curfew is at 8:30 p. m.

ONE YEAR OLD AIR UNIT RAIDS JAPS IN BURMA

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 12 (AP).—The United States army's 10th air force sent four formations of bombers against Japanese installations in Burma today as part of its celebration of the first anniversary of its creation.

Two bomber formations concentrated on railroad installations at Rangoon. Another attacked the Myitnge bridge, which has been already wrecked, to disrupt Japanese efforts to restore north-south rail and highway communications thru Mandalay.

The fourth formation raided Japanese anti-aircraft establishments around the bridge, which seek to protect work crews during the repair operations.

The Japanese have made a series of counter-attacks in the Donbaik and Rathedaung regions, above Akyab, in northwestern Burma, but all have been thrown back by the British, a communique of the Indian command announced today. All attacks "completely failed," the communique said.

HIGH PRIORITY FOR CHLORINE IS COMMENDED

A WPB order giving a low priority to chlorine for treating waste from new war plants undoubtedly would have threatened the health of some midwestern communities, L. F. Warrick, Wisconsin sanitation engineer and head of the Upper Mississippi Drainage Basin Sanitation commission, said here yesterday.

Fortunately, Warrick said, a protest by the Mississippi valley group and a similar Great Lakes group was heeded, and a high rating given chlorine.

The two groups today will conclude a two day meeting in the Hotel La Salle called to study temporary measures by which they can prevent new plants and communities from contaminating streams and rivers. Lack of critical materials, Warrick said, is preventing erection of usual treatment plants.

$40,000,000 HEALTH FOUNDATION SET UP BY A BRITON

LONDON, Feb. 13 [Saturday]—(AP).—William Richard Morris, British motor magnate and philanthropist who bears the title of Lord Nuffield, today topped all his previous benefactions with a gift of $40,000,000 for the formation of a "Nuffield Foundation."

Income from this capital will be used to assist medical research and teaching, organization and development of medical and health services, scientific research, and teaching in the interests of trade and industry, pursuit of social studies, and the care and comfort of aged persons.

NOT LONESOME ANY MORE, SAY RAIL WORKERS

Passenger Volume in War Reaches Peak.

"A year or two ago," said a white-haired guard at Union station, "I used to get lonesome between trains. Nobody to talk to. Now look."

The mammoth station was jammed. Passengers stood five and six deep before row after row of ticket windows. Every seat was filled, and hundreds waited nearby, ready to rush to any vacancy. People leaned against the walls and gathered in small groups thruout the station.

"It'll be a couple of hours before any of the big trains pull out," the guard went on. "A year or two ago this place was almost deserted until a few minutes before train time. Now it's like this right around the clock.

Arrive Hours Early.

"Everybody seems to be going some place. The trains are so rowded nowadays the passengers come here hours ahead of time to make sure they'll get a seat. Nobody in the railroad business ever saw nything like this."

It's the same story in every raiload station in Chicago. The nation's railroads are handling their greatest volume of passenger traffic. Chicago, "the railroad crossroads of America," erves tens of thousands of passengers every day.

Altho no official figures have been compiled, officials estimate that 1942 passenger traffic totaled about 52 billion passenger miles and look for a 1943 volume of about 55 billion miles. The previous peak year was in 1920 when 46 billion 849 million passenger miles were traveled.

Civilians Stay Home.

Civilian passenger traffic is falling off, officials said, in response to a plea by the office of defense transportation to avoid unnecessary trips. This decrease is offset by an increasingly larger number of service men, war plant workers, and passengers traveling on business directly connected with the government.

War time travel subjects passengers to inconveniences and delay unheard of a few years ago, but most accept annoyances as part of their contribution to winning the war.

It takes a few hours longer to reach a destination, Pullman berths are hard to get, many passengers must stand for a portion of a trip, and they often wait hours to cram into a diner.

Blame Hitler and Hirohito.

"We take it with a smile and blame Hitler and Hirohito," said a veteran war time traveler. "The railroads are doing a good job."

Many trains are unable to make schedules because of the precedence of troop trains and freights carrying war materials. In addition, the traffic increase causes slower loading and unloading of passengers, mail, and express. Existing schedules, officials explained, were prepared when traffic was much lighter.

A survey of train arrival boards at local stations yesterday disclosed that 85 per cent of all trains came in on time. Late trains were delayed from one to three hours.

Club and lounge car seats are being sold on short runs to accommodate more passengers. On transcontinental runs, however, this is impossible, officials said, because sleeping car patrons must have places to sit while berths are being made.

Travelers Carry Lunches.

Many travelers are carrying box lunches rather than wait in line at the dining car. Officials explained that many diners are attached to troop trains and no more can be built for the duration.

"As many as five sittings are required to accommodate passengers," a dining car superintendent pointed out. "Before the war only one or two were needed."

Despite the heavy traffic, a person who receives a hurried call to another section of the country on war business has a "pretty fair chance" of obtaining space within a few hours, an official said. "He may not be able to travel on a specific train, but we will find space for him somewhere."

PLYWOOD PLANES RIP GERMANY AFTER RAID ON NAZI SUB CENTER

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—Swift British Mosquito [plywood] bombers struck at northwest Germany this afternoon, rounding out a full day of varied attacks on German war installations and communications stretching from Wilhelmshaven thru Holland and Belgium to northern France. The official report did not name the chief target of the daylight attacks, but it may have been the U-boat center of Wilhelmshaven, which was blasted during a heavy preceding night raid.

[The Berlin radio last night said approximately 22,000 men, women, and children would be evacuated soon from Brest, on France's west coast, to protect them from British bombings. The broadcast said the first trainload would leave Brest within three days.]

The air ministry news service reported American built Mustang fighters attacked 15 trains, 10 barges, 4 trawlers, numerous vehicles, a parade of troops and military barracks. One freight engine was attacked by R. C. A. F. Pilot Officer Ed Gimbel of 2254 North Laramie avenue, Chicago. The Mustang operations spread over Holland, Belgium, and northern France.

CLOTHING STOCK STILL ADEQUATE, NELSON ASSERTS

Rationing to Depend on Buying, He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the war production board, said today that whether clothes ultimately will be rationed depends largely on man power needs and on consumers' cooperation in buying clothes only as they need them.

Nelson repeated a statement made last week that clothing stocks are adequate at present, that no machinery has been set up for rationing, and that rationing is not imminent. He appealed to consumers not to buy clothes they don't need.

Production Up 5 Per Cent.

Nelson's statement was echoed by Frank L. Walton, head of the WPB textile, clothing, and leather division.

Walton reported clothes production in 1942 was 5 per cent over the 1939 level, and said an increased allocation of wool for clothing is being contemplated. He said clothes inventories and stocks of cotton, wool, and other fiber are ample and that rationing is not being planned.

Walton also reported that retailers' stocks of shoes total 200 million pairs, more than enough to meet civilian needs in the current shoe rationing period.

Nelson discussed the clothing situation at a press conference after it had been disclosed that he had talked of the possibility of clothes rationing Feb. 5 at a closed session of the senate military affairs committee.

Doubts Man Power Estimates.

The committee hearing dealt with the man power problem. At the hearing Nelson cited estimates by the war man power commission that 3,200,000 persons will have to be drained from civilian industries and services this year for the army and the navy, war industries, and essential industries such as transportation and utilities.

Nelson said today he was not convinced that this estimate is correct.

"I told the committee that if 3,200,000 persons are taken from these lines, it will mean reduced supplies of many things, including textiles and clothing," he said. "I said we hoped to get by this year without rationing clothes. What steps may be taken late this year or early next year depend on available man power resources in the clothing field and other lines."

Jobs for Women Included.

The WMC estimates call for the addition of 6,400,000 persons to the working force and the army and the navy, assuming the induction of 4,300,000 persons into military service this year. In addition to transferring 3,200,000 from civilian jobs, the WMC program envisions the employment of 1,900,000 women who have not worked before, 800,000 youths and elderly persons, and 500,000 unemployed.

These estimates may be lowered by the 48 hour minimum work week program, but, in the opinion of WMC officials, are more likely to be increased by the need for more farm workers.

Claude R. Wickard, food administrator, is seeking to raise a land army of 3½ million workers, a factor which is not taken into account in the WMC estimates.

Types of Shoes Limited.

The WPB issued an order today restricting the types and colors of shoes to be manufactured. The order limits the height of heels on women's shoes to 2⅝ inches; restricts shoes to four colors—black, white, army russet, and town brown; prohibits the manufacture of patent leather shoes, metal spiked golf shoes, men's sandals, and women's formal evening slippers; cuts out the making of leather straps, laces, bows, and other leather trimmings, and restricts the use of heavy duty leather to work shoes, cowboy utility boots, and lined high shoes for police.

The restrictions also limit platform soles [solid soles with the arch filled in] to a heel height of 1⅝ inches. Only lightweight leather, not suitable for shoes, is permitted for making house slippers and romeos [a type of lounging slipper for men].

The WPB restrictions will not affect shoes sold to consumers to any extent until next fall. Spring shoe lines already are being manufactured, officials said. Manufacturers and tanners are allowed until April 30 to change their production schedules to meet the new order.

BOY, 19, CHARGED WITH THREATS TO 4 SCREEN STARS

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 12 (AP).—The detention under $5,000 bond in Twin Falls, Idaho, of Roger Barker, 19 years old, on charges of writing extortion letters to four motion picture stars and to former Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California was announced tonight by the federal bureau of investigation.

R. B. Hood, special agent in charge of the FBI here, said Barker was arrested today at Filer, Idaho, after a nation-wide search and had confessed writing the letters in Los Angeles during the last year and a half to Bette Davis, Rosalind Russell, Deanna Durbin, Mickey Rooney, and Olson.

He said they demanded payment of sums ranging from $1,500 to $20,000 and threatened the lives of the recipients. They were signed with the name of a former schoolmate of Barker, who now is in military service, Hood said.

ANTI-DIES VOTES LARGELY DRAWN FROM 6 BIG CITIES

Represent Centers of Red Activity.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 [Special].—Representatives from six big city areas, where political machines carry out the will of their bosses, provided nearly half of the 94 futile votes cast in the house against the overwhelming decision to extend the life of the Dies committee on un-American activities, an analysis disclosed today.

Among these metropolitan districts represented by opponents of the fight to rid the country of its enemies within, are centers of crackpot activities manifesting themselves in communistic attacks on Americanism, and strikes that have interfered with war production.

Six Metropolitan Areas.

The analysis showed that of the 94 Dies foes in the house, 44 of them, all except 2 of them Democrats, represented the 6 metropolitan areas where votes are known to be deliverable.

The bunching of this opposition to an investigation of un-American activities is seen by the following table of areas and anti-Dies congressmen:

	Dem.	Rep.	Ind.
New York	14	1	1
Chicago	7	..	..
Los Angeles	6	..	..
Pittsburgh	6	..	..
Detroit	5	..	..
Philadelphia	4	..	..

The Chicago opponents, all from the city proper where the Kelly-Nash machine controls Democratic politics, are Representatives Adolph J. Sabath, Thomas J. O'Brien, William A. Rowan, William L. Dawson, Leonard W. Schuetz, Martin Gorski, and Thomas S. Gordon.

Reds Aid Election.

Half-a-Congressman Sabath and Rep. Vito Marcantonio [A. L. N. Y.], who was elected to congress with Communist party support, led the fight in congress Wednesday in the unsuccessful attempt to prevent extension of the Dies committee for two more years. The vote, however, was 302 to 94 in favor of continuing the anti-subversive investigation.

Since America entered the war the committee's information has been responsible for 98 per cent of the convictions for espionage and sabotage and government agents now lean heavily upon the committee for information against subversive organizations.

GERMANY TO BAN PERIODICALS IN MAN POWER DRIVE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Many German magazines will be banned as a result of the total Nazi mobilization of man power, the Berlin radio announced last night. The broadcast, recorded in New York by the Associated Press, said periodicals treating one special subject will be merged and magazines connected in any way with the luxuries of life or hobbies will be abolished.

Publications dealing with gardening, breeding, beekeeping, and similar pursuits are not affected. Of 4,000 periodicals devoted to art, science, society, and fashions before the war, only 2,500 remain and these will be curtailed. Those permitted to publish will be reduced in size and the interval between publication will be lengthened.

The broadcast said "innumerable de luxe shops, fashionable restaurants, cabarets, bars, and showrooms" already had been closed by the mobilization.

IF CANADA'S MEAT FAILS, EXPERT SAYS IT CAN EAT CARIBOU

BY WARREN BAKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

EDMONTON, Alta, Feb. 12.—If Canada is obliged to ration meat, the dominion may turn to wild game, so Col. J. K. Cornwall believes. Col. Cornwald, known thruout the Arctic reaches as the "apostle of the north," has just returned to Edmonton after many months spent there as a civilian adviser. Construction workers and troops have enhanced the demand for meat.

Thousands of head of caribou could be made available as fresh meat, Col. Cornwall said. He told of the many areas of the north which depend almost solely upon this species of reindeer for winter meat.

I have flown over herds of caribou in the barren lands that resembled seas of buffalo that once roamed the western plains. The herds sometimes were miles wide and were so large that they were constantly ringed by bands of wolves. When hungry wolves will rush in, seize an animal, and feed on the carcass until they become hungry again.

Buffalo also were advocated by Col. Cornwall as a potential meat supply.

"The western states were opened up on buffalo meat," he said. "The sons and grandsons of many of those pioneers are now opening up the north. Here is their opportunity to follow in the footsteps of their forefathers."

Col. Cornwall is regarded as an authority on wild meats. Some years ago he was in charge of the transfer of 7,500 head of bison from Wainwright to the Fort Smith park area, moving 2,500 each year over a three year period.

"In my opinion the north could easily supply itself with meat," he said. "The buffalo there are on the range in vast numbers and could be killed by hunters to meet the requirements of almost every crew now on American projects there."

REVOKE A AND C GASOLINE BOOKS OF 3 MOTORISTS

Ration Boards Say They Falsified Needs.

Three Chicago motorists lost both their A and C gasoline ration books last night when two rationing boards heard charges that all three had falsified mileage claims in applying for the books. The revocations were the first in the Chicago metropolitan area.

Members of board 40-29 heard charges against Harold W. Meyers, 35 years old, 3939 Adams street, a worker at the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing company. Meyers admitted he had falsified his statement that he needed enough gasoline for 750 miles of driving a month, said A. H. Pollack, board chairman.

Pollack said Meyers admitted, when questioned about his use of his automobile, that he had made only six trips to the plant since rationing went into effect and that others than himself had been using his car and the rationed gas. The board members ordered Meyers' A and C books revoked.

In a second hearing Walter Guy Starrett, 39, of 35 South St. Louis avenue, lost both his A and C books when he said he had signed the C application form in blank and that his wife had filled in the wrong mileage claim by mistake.

At board 40-48, 5004 Broadway, Abbott L. Lieberman, 40, whose former address was given on his application blank as 5506 Winthrop avenue, failed to appear to answer charges brought against him by the OPA enforcement bureau. Martin W. Maloney, board chairman, declared that Lieberman, who is said to be living now in Minneapolis, had not only asked for and received a C book from his board, but had obtained another C book from another board as well. Both C books and his A book were ordered revoked.

MEAT RATIONS OF LESS THAN 2 POUNDS LIKELY

U. S. to Reserve Greater Portion of Pork.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The government expects to take steps soon to require packers and processors to reserve a greater portion of their output of pork and lard for government war needs, officials said today.

A food official, who asked that his name be withheld, said military procurement agencies and lend-lease buyers were experiencing difficulty obtaining sufficient meat and lard for current and reserve requirements.

He said the meat supply situation had deteriorated since the government had decided to ration meat for civilians, adding that the amount consumers will receive may be less than two pounds a week for each person. Officials originally had hoped to make approximately two and a half pounds available each week for each person.

Blame Price Violators.

The official attributed the situation to violators of price ceilings and failure of live stock marketings to come up to expectations.

He said the government must depend upon federally inspected slaughterers for meat supplies. These slaughterers are not getting as large a portion of the live stock supply as normally, the official said, because of competition by nonconforming packers. The latter in many cases pay farmers better prices for animals than commercial packers, he said. Price ceilings limit prices commercial packers can pay for live stock, he added.

The official said that because supplies are less than had been expected, action will be taken to require packers to make larger portions of their weekly output available for governmen agencies.

Allocation Revision Likely.

Steps likely to be taken, he said, include:

1. Revision of an order allocating 70 per cent of the normal commercial output of pork for civilian use and 30 per cent for war needs. Civilian supplies would be cut to 60 or 65 per cent, with 35 or 40 per cent going to the war programs.

2. An order to packers operating under federal inspection to set aside approximately half their output of lard for government programs. At present there are no orders affecting disposition of lard, altho the government has been buying large quantities, particularly for shipment to Great Britain and to Russia.

Hog Shipments Decline.

Shipment of hogs into normal commercial channels so far this season was said to be running 5 million head below estimates made at the start of the season. The official said some of the deficit reflects diversion to small packers. There also is a possibility that estimates of hog production were overly optimistic, he said.

Lard production was said to be falling below expectations because of the failure of hog marketing to come up to estimates and because packers have not been trimming pork as closely as formerly.

GROW OWN FOOD OR GO HUNGRY, DEWEY WARNS

New York, Feb. 12 (AP).—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said tonight that if the people of New York want to eat next year and send their share of food abroad, every one of them must pitch into the business of planting, cultivating, harvesting, and processing their own food.

"We will receive food from other states," he said at the Lincoln's birthday dinner of the National Republican club, "and we will send much of our own abroad. But basically, we had better get down to farming—every one of us—or we will fail to do our part in the war effort, and we will be hungry."

INDICT CONCERN AND 4 PERSONS IN ARMS FRAUD

Charge Conspiracy to Win Subcontracts.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 12.—A federal grand jury's indictment of the Baker-Lockwood Manufacturing company, Inc., North Kansas City, and four persons on a charge of conspiring to defraud on contracts involving more than 7 million dollars for aircraft accessories used at Wright field, Dayton, O., was disclosed here today. The indictment was returned here Feb. 4.

The individuals indicted are W. L. Mellor, president, and Dahne W. Winebrenner, sales manager of Baker-Lockwood; Ben D. Christian, president of Safway Steel Products company, Milwaukee, Wis., and Cornelius C. Loose, a civilian, principal administrative officer in the general procurement branch of the contract section, material center, Wright field.

Explain Alleged Conspiracy.

The indictment was under a law which provides a maximum penalty of two years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

A justice department statement said the alleged conspiracy involved charges of a representation by Winebrenner to companies seeking government contracts for shelters that Loose would refuse to approve contracts and would cancel recommendations on prime contracts unless Baker-Lockwood was made subcontractor for the shelters' canvas covering and canvas accessories.

For taking such action Loose would be given money and presents "under the guise of winnings in games of chance," the department alleged.

The statement said, the indictment charges, that the defendants arranged to submit "arbitrary, excessive, and exorbitant bids" for the manufacture of shelters.

It also is charged, the department said, that Winebrenner quoted a low unit price for the canvas portion of the shelter to the Safway company and "substantially higher unit prices to other companies for similar material in order to prevent the latter from obtaining prime contracts."

Innocent, Says Official.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12 [Special].—Ben D. Christian, president of the Safway Steel Products company Milwaukee, lives at 1042 East Juneau avenue. Discussing his indictment by a federal grand jury, he said tonight:

"I am 100 per cent innocent, and I will prove it."

MUSIC STUDENT'S SAMARITAN DEED COSTS HIM A LEG

A series of misadventures which began when he got off the Garfield Park "L" at the wrong station will cost James Hedge, 18 year old music student from Scottsbluff, Neb., his left leg, physicians in County hospital said last night.

While walking in Van Buren street near Sacramento avenue Hedge saw an elderly man lying in the gutter. The student helped the man to his feet.

Discovering later that his pocket had been picked, Hedge ran back to look for the man. The man ran and led Hedge onto an embankment of the North Western railroad, dodging among freight cars and locomotives. Hedge, less agile, fell beneath the wheels of a switch engine, which crushed his left leg.

Despite his injuries, the youth dragged himself nearly two blocks, and a passing motorist took him to the hospital.

CHILD MISSING 18 MONTHS FOUND ON WEST COAST

The United Charities of Chicago advised Mrs. Marie Podoriezack of 2435 South Whipple street yesterday that her 3 year old daughter Angeline, missing for 18 months, had been found. The child was taken by Mrs. Podoriezack's former husband, Louis, in August, 1941, and she appealed to the United Charities for assistance in locating her. Investigation disclosed the child has been admitted to a hospital in San Diego, Cal., where her father has been working in an aircraft factory. Authorities have instructed San Diego officials to hold the child while Mrs. Podoriezack arranges for her safe conduct to Chicago. The couple was divorced in March, 1941.

IDAHO PRIMARY SYSTEM VOIDED BY LEGISLATURE

Boise, Idaho, Feb. 12 (AP).—Agreeing with a state senator who said the direct primary puts the cart "before the horse," Idaho's legislature has voted to return to the convention system of selecting political candidates. The state senate voted yesterday, 24 to 18, to discard the 10 year old primary system. A move for reconsideration kept the bill, previously passed by the house, off Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen's desk, however.

Sen. Fred M. Taylor termed the present system "a situation where the cart is before the horse because the candidates must first get elected in the primary before the platform conventions are held and before they know what their political party considers campaign material."

VICTOR AWARDED FLAGSHIP TITLE OF SEA SCOUTS

The Sea Scout ship Victor of the North Shore squadron was awarded the title of flagship when officials reviewed 11 Sea Scout ships in Irving Park fieldhouse, 2509 West Irving Park boulevard, last night. The S. S. Victor had won commendation as the "outstanding ship of the squadron" during a Lake Michigan meet last August.

Other awards bestowed last evening were the cutter trophy, also to the Victor, and the swim trophy to the S. S. Spindrift. The 11 ships which stood inspection were the scout vessels Richard E. Byrd, Bounty, Challenger, Capt. Allen Clark, Invader, Old Chicago, Privateer, Schick, Victor, Marlin, and the Spindrift.

Reviewing officials were C. A. Koehler, Sea Scout director for the Chicago council; H. C. Miracle, vice commodore in charge of training, and S. W. Davis, squadron commodore.

FARM WORKER TOTAL SETS NEW LOW FOR FEB. 1

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The department of agriculture reported today that farm employment Feb. 1 was the smallest for that date since it started compiling such information in 1924, and added that farmers are apprehensive over prospects of obtaining sufficient help next summer to meet war food goals.

Employment was estimated at 8,369,000—6,638,000 family workers and 1,731,000 hired hands. The number of family workers was virtually unchanged from a year ago, but the number of hired workers was 8 per cent less, the decline being largest in the midwest.

Charge of 'Secret' Rubber Treaty Stirs Controversy

Considerable attention was attracted last night to a controversy over the issue of whether the United States has proposed or signed a secret agreement with rubber producing countries in South America calling for dismantling of synthetic rubber plants in the United States after the war.

The controversy was set off with the disclosure that William J. Hale, research consultant for the Dow Chemical company at Midland, Mich., had made the charge in a speech Thursday night at the annual dinner of the Minnesota Bankers' conference at Minneapolis.

Call Charge Unfounded.

State department officials in Washington, D. C., described the allegation as entirely unfounded. Hale had charged that the state department "is holding back the country in chemical development."

The office of Rubber Director William M. Jeffers at Washington declined to comment on the matter. Jeffers and other government officials, in testimony before congressional committees, have declared that the war-born synthetic rubber industry is here to stay.

Hale, apparently expressing his own views and not, necessarily, those of the Dow Chemical company, charged that an "unpublicized" reciprocal trade treaty proposed with South American nations to destroy all United States synthetic rubber plants after the war was the real reason for reluctance of many companies in this country to start rubber production.

"We have signed an agreement in South America," Hale said, "saying all plants built to make synthetic rubber will be wrecked after the war—that is wrecking the chemical industry for a reciprocal trade treaty."

He said the treaty which "signed away the rubber industry's birthright" never was published but was exposed in the recent book, "Time to Inquire," by Samuel Crowther, noted American economist.

Hale declared that all attempts at making rubber from oil have proved a "damnable flop" and that a 500 million dollar government fund to develop synthetic rubber "went into the oilmen's hands." He said the oilmen "didn't know how to make rubber."

"Those of us who knew how to make synthetic rubber didn't get a chance—but we're slowly coming in," he added.

Several Processes Used.

More than half of the government's rubber program is still assigned to several processes using petroleum as a base material.

There have been charges in congressional investigations that rubber from oil was excessively costly in plant construction and was experimental, whereas rubber production from alcohol made from vegetable and forestry products was an established commercial process in Europe.

TEXT OF SPEECH BY PRESIDENT ON OUTLOOK IN WAR

Promises Early Attacks on Europe and Japan.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's address tonight to the White House Correspondents' association follows:

"It is nearly two years since I attended the last dinner of the White House Correspondents' association. A great deal of water has flowed over the dam since then.

"And several people have flown over the water.

"Two years ago—many months before Pearl Harbor—I spoke to you of the thought that was then uppermost in our minds—of the determination of America to become the arsenal of democracy. Almost all Americans had by that time determined to play their full part in helping to save civilization from the barbarians. Even then, we were in the midst of the historic job of production — a job which the American people have been performing with zest, and skill, and, above all, success.

Thought of Victory Uppermost.

"Tonight, as I speak to you, another thought is uppermost in our minds: That is our determination to fight this war thru to the finish—to the day when the united nations' forces march in triumph thru the streets of Berlin, Rome, and Tokio.

"Last September I made a tour of inspection thru this country. I saw war plants at work. I saw army and navy training camps and flying fields. I saw American men and women—management and labor alike—working to beat production schedules. I saw American soldiers, and sailors, and flyers doing the job of training for the fighting which lay ahead.

"Now I have returned from one of the fronts overseas, where the production from American factories and the training given in American camps are being applied in actual warfare against the enemy. I have seen our troops in the field. I have inspected their superb equipment. I have talked, and laughed, and eaten with them.

Praises American Spirit.

"I have seen our men—the nation's men—in Trinidad, in Belem and Natal in Brazil, in Liberia, in Gambia. In these places there is no actual fighting, but there is hard, dangerous, essential work, and there is a tremendous strain upon the endurance and spirit of our troops.

"They are standing up magnificently under that strain. I have seen our men—and some of our American women—in North Africa. Out there is war. Those men know that before this war is over, many of them will have given their lives. But they know also that they are fighting to destroy the power of the enemies of their country—that they are fighting for a peace which will be a real and lasting peace and a far better world for the future.

"Our men in the field are worthy of the great faith, the high hopes, we have placed in them. That applies as well to the men of our navy, without whom no American expeditionary force could land safely on foreign shores. And it applies equally to the men of our merchant marine who carry essential munitions and supplies, without which neither the United States nor our allies could continue the battle.

"No American can look at these men, soldiers or sailors, without great emotion, and great pride, and a very deep sense of responsibility to them.

WOULD EXTEND TRAVEL

Wishes He Could Visit All the Battle Fronts

"Because of the necessary secrecy of my trip, the men of our armed forces in every place I visited were completely surprised. The expression on their faces certainly showed it.

"I wish that I could pay similar surprise visits to our men in the other fields of operation—the naval bases, the islands of the Pacific, Australia, the mainland and islands of Alaska, the islands of the Atlantic, the two Guianas, the Canal Zone, Iceland, Britain, Central Africa, the middle east, India, Burma, and China. I wish I could tell them face to face that their government and their people are very proud of the great job they are doing in helping to strengthen the vise that is slowly but surely squeezing the breath out of our enemies.

"In every battalion and in every ship's crew you will find every kind of American citizen representing every occupation, every section, every origin, every religion, every political viewpoint.

"Ask them what they are fighting for, and every one of them will say: 'I am fighting for my country.' Ask them what they really mean by that and you will get what, on the surface, may seem to be a wide variety of answers.

Fight for Liberties.

"One will say he is fighting for the right to say what he pleases and to read and listen to what he likes.

"Another will say he is fighting because he never wants to see the Nazi swastika flying over the First Baptist church on Elm street.

"Another soldier will say he is fighting for the right to work and earn three square meals a day for himself and his folks.

"A fourth soldier will say he is fighting in this World war so that his children and grandchildren will not have to go back to Europe, or Africa, or Asia to do this ugly job all over again.

"But all these answers really add up to the same thing: Every American fights for freedom. And today the personal freedom of every American and his family depends, and in the future will increasingly depend, upon the freedom of his neighbors in other lands.

Calls World One Neighborhood.

"For today the whole world is one neighborhood. That is why this war, which had its beginnings in seemingly remote areas, has spread to every continent and most of the islands of the sea, involving the lives and the liberties of the entire human race. And unless the peace that follows recognizes that the whole world is one neighborhood and does justice to the whole human race, the germs of another World war will remain as a constant threat to mankind.

"I talked with many people in our armed forces—along the coast and thru the islands of the western hemisphere and up the coast of West Africa. Many of our soldiers and sailors were concerned about the state of the home front. They receive all kinds of exaggerated reports and rumors that there is too much complaining here at home and too little recognition of the realities of war; that selfish labor leaders are threatening to call strikes which would greatly curtail the output of our war industries; that some farm groups are trying to profiteer on prices and are letting us down on food production; that many people are bitter over the hardship of rationing and priorities, and especially that there are serious partisan political quarrels over the petty things of life here in Washington.

Country Behind War.

"I told them that most of these reports are just gross exaggerations; that the people as a whole in the United States are in this war to see it thru with heart, and body, and soul; and that our population is willing and glad to give up some of their shoes and sugar, and coffee and automobile riding—and privileges and profits—for the sake of the common cause.

"I could not deny to our troops that a few chiselers, a few politicians, and a few publicists—fortunately a very few—have placed their personal ambition or greed above the nation's interests.

"Our troops know that the Nazis, and Fascists, and Japanese are trying hard to sell the untruths of propaganda to certain types of Americans. But our troops also know that even if you pile a lot of molehills of deception one on top of the other, you still cannot make a mountain big enough or solid enough to fool many people, or to block the road to victory and to an effective peace.

"A fundamental of an effective peace is the assurance to those men who are fighting our battles that when they come home they will find a country with an economy firm enough and fair enough to provide jobs for all those who are willing to work.

PROMISES JOBS TO VETS

Declares Government Will Aid if Necessary

"I am certain that private enterprise will be able to provide the vast majority of those jobs—and, in those cases where this cannot be accomplished, that the congress will pass the legislation which will make good the assurance of jobs.

"There are still a few who say we cannot achieve this and other honorable, reasonable aims for the postwar world. In speaking of these professional skeptics—these men of little faith—there comes to my mind an old word in our language—the word 'pettifoggers.'

"The formal dictionary definition and derivation of the word are neither here nor there. To most of us it brings to mind a man who is small, and mean, and tricky, and picayune and—in a word—petty. It is the type of man who is always seeking to create a smoke screen, or fog, for the purpose of obscuring the plain truth.

"Today, the pettifoggers are attempting to obscure the essential truths of this war. They are seeking to befog the present and the future and the clear purposes and high principles for which the free world now maintains the promise of undimmed victory.

Predicts Major Battles.

"In North Africa we are now massing armies—British, French, and American—for one of the major battles of this war.

"The enemy's purpose in the battle of Tunisia is to hold at all costs their last bridgehead in Africa, to prevent us from gaining access to the straits that lead to Nazi dominated Europe.

"Our prime purpose in this battle of Tunisia is to drive our enemies into the sea.

"The British 1st army in this battle, commanded by Gen. [K. A. N.] Anderson, contains many veterans of Flanders and Dunkirk. These men have a score to settle with the Nazis.

"The British 8th army, commanded by Gen. [B. L.] Montgomery, has to its eternal credit the smashing defeat of Marshal Rommel's army and the now historic 1,500 mile pursuit of those once triumphant Nazi-Fascist forces.

Combined Attack Forecast.

"The enemy in Tunisia will be attacked from the south by this great 8th army and by the French forces who have made a remarkable march all the way across the Sahara desert under Gen. [Jacques] Le Clerc, one of Gen. [Charles] De Gaulle's officers. From the west the enemy will be attacked by the combined forces of British and Americans, together with French troops under the command of Gen. [Henri] Giraud.

"All these forces are commanded by Gen. [Dwight D.] Eisenhower. I spent many hours in Casablanca with this young general—a descendant of Kansas pioneers. I know what a fine, tough job he has done and how carefully and skillfully he is directing the soldiers under him. I want to say to you tonight—and to him—that we have every confidence in his leadership. High tribute was paid to his qualities as a soldier when the British government, thru Mr. Churchill, took the lead at Casablanca in proposing him for the supreme command of the great allied operations which are imminent.

"The deputy to Gen. Eisenhower is Gen. [Harold] Alexander, one of Britain's greatest fighting men. Gen. Alexander commanded all British forces in the middle east, including the 8th army which won the decisive battle at El Alamein. He and Gen. Montgomery planned that engagement and the tremendous advance which followed it. At this moment—as I speak to you tonight—Gen. Alexander is standing at the right hand of Gen. Eisenhower planning new military operations.

COLLABORATION EVIDENCE

Reveals Allies Act Together to Overcome Enemies

"These important facts reveal not merely coöperation but active collaboration between the united nations. Let these facts be duly noted by our enemies.

"Our soldiers in Tunisia are well trained and equipped, but they are facing for the first time actual combat with formidable opponents. We can be absolutely certain that they will conduct themselves as bravely and as effectively as did those young Americans under Gen. [John J.] Pershing who drove Germany's best troops thru the Argonne forest and across the River Meuse.

"The battle of Tunisia will cost us heavily in casualties. We must face that fact now, with the same calm courage as our men are facing it on the battle field itself.

"The enemy has strong forces in strong positions. His supply lines are maintained at great cost but Hitler has been willing to pay that cost for he knows the consequences of allied victory in Tunisia.

INVASION OF EUROPE

Promises Aid to Russia by Attacks on West

"Those consequences are actual invasions of the continent of Europe. We do not disguise our intention to make these invasions. The pressure on Germany and Italy will be constant and unrelenting. The amazing Russian armies in the east have been delivering overpowering blows; we must do likewise in the west. The enemy must be hit and hit hard from so many directions that he never knows which is his bow and which is his stern.

"It was made clear to us at Casablanca that all Frenchmen outside of France are uniting in one great paramount objective—the complete liberation of France and of all the French people who now suffer the torture of the Nazi yoke. As each day passes a spirit of unselfishness is more greatly uniting all Frenchmen who have the opportunity to strike a blow for liberation.

"In the years of the American and French revolutions the fundamental principle guiding our democracies was established. The cornerstone of our whole democratic edifice was the principle that from the people and the people alone flows the authority of government.

Will Restore Rights.

"It is one of our war aims, as expressed in the Atlantic charter, that the conquered populations of today be again the masters of their destiny. There must be no doubt anywhere that it is the unalterable purpose of the united nations to restore to conquered peoples their sacred rights.

"French sovereignty rests with the people of France. Its expression has been temporarily suspended by German occupation. Once the triumphant armies of the united nations have expelled the common foe, Frenchmen will be represented by a government of their own popular choice.

"It will be a free choice in every sense. No nation in all the world that is free to make a choice is going to set itself up under the Fascist form of government, or the Nazi form of government, or the Japanese war lord form of government. Such forms are the offspring of seizure of power followed by the abridgment of freedom. Therefore, the united nations can properly say of these forms of government two simple words: "Never again."

QUISLINGS MUST GO

Those Who Betrayed Nations Will Be Ousted

"The right of self-determination included in the Atlantic Charter does not carry with it the right of any government to commit wholesale murder or the right to make slaves of its own people or of any other peoples in the world.

"And the world can rest assured that this total war—this sacrifice of lives all over the globe—is not being carried on for the purpose or even with the remotest idea of keeping the Quislings or Lavals in power anywhere on this earth.

"The decisions reached and the actual plans made at Casablanca were not confined to any one theater of war or to any one continent or ocean or sea. Before this year is out it will be made known to the world—in actions rather than in words—that the Casablanca conference produced plenty of news; and it will be bad news for the Germans and Italians—and the Japanese.

Plans Against Japan.

"We have lately concluded a long, hard battle in the southwest Pacific and we have made notable gains. That battle started in the Solomons and New Guinea last summer. It has demonstrated our superior power in planes and, most importantly, in the fighting qualities of our individual soldiers and sailors.

"American armed forces in the Southwest Pacific are receiving powerful aid from Australia and New Zealand and also directly from the British themselves.

"We do not expect to spend the time it would take to bring Japan to final defeat merely by inching our way forward from island to island across the vast expanse of the Pacific.

"Great and decisive actions against the Japanese will be taken to drive the invader from the soil of China. Important actions will be taken in the skies over China—and over Japan itself.

"The discussions at Casablanca have been continued in Chungking with the generalissimo by Gen. Arnold and have resulted in definite plans for offensive operations.

"There are many roads which lead right to Tokio. We shall neglect none of them.

Attempts to Split Allies.

"In an attempt to ward off the inevitable disaster, the axis propagandists are trying all of their old tricks in order to divide the united nations. They seek to create the idea that if we win this war Russia, England, China, and the United States are going to get into a cat and dog fight.

"This is their final effort to turn one nation against another, in the vain hope that they may settle with one or two at a time—that any of us may be so gullible and so forgetful as to be duped into making 'deals' at the expense of our allies.

"To these panicky attempts to escape the consequences of their crimes we say—all the united nations say—that the only terms on which we shall deal with any axis government or any axis factions are the terms proclaimed at Casablanca: 'Unconditional surrender.' In our uncompromising policy we mean no harm to the common people of the axis nations. But we do mean to impose punishment and retribution in full upon their guilty, barbaric leaders.

PRAISE FOR RUSSIANS

Insists Experts of War Speak for Soviet Allies

"The Nazis must be frantic indeed if they believe that they can devise any propaganda which would turn the British and American and Chinese governments and peoples against Russia—or Russia against the rest of us.

"The overwhelming courage and endurance of the Russian people in withstanding and hurling back the invaders—and the genius with which their great armies have been directed and led by Mr. Stalin and their military commanders—all speak for themselves.

"The tragedy of the war has sharpened the vision of the leadership and peoples of all the united nations and I can say to you from my own full knowledge that they see the utter necessity of our standing together after the war to secure a peace based on principles of permanence.

"You can be quite sure that if Japan should be the first of the axis partners to fall, the total efforts and resources of all the united nations would be concentrated on the job of crushing Germany.

Accepts Britain's Word.

"And, on the other hand, lest there be any question in Nazi or Japanese minds that we are wholly one in the prosecution of the war to a complete victory all over the world, the prime minister wished to make a formal agreement that if Germany should be conquered before Japan, all British empire resources and man power would, of course, join with China and us in an out-and-out final attack on Japan.

"I told him that no formal statement or agreement along these lines was in the least bit necessary—that the American people accept the word of a great English gentleman—and that it was obvious and clear that all of us are completely in accord in our determination to destroy the forces of barbarism in Asia, and in Europe, and in Africa.

"In other words, our policy toward our Japanese enemies is precisely the same as our policy toward our Nazi enemies: It is a policy of fighting hard on all fronts and ending the war as quickly as we can on the uncompromising terms of unconditional surrender.

Tribute to Lincoln.

"Today is the anniversary of the birth of a great, plain American. The living memory of Abraham Lincoln is now honored and cherished by all of our people, wherever they may be, and by men and women and children thruout the British commonwealth, and the soviet union, and the republic of China, and in every land on earth where people love freedom and will give their lives for freedom.

"President Lincoln said in 1862, 'Fellow citizens, we cannot escape history. We of this congress and this administration will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial thru which we pass will light us . . . in honor or dishonor, to the latest generation.'

"Today, 80 years after Lincoln delivered that message, the fires of war are blazing across the whole horizon of mankind—from Kharkov to Kunming—from the Mediterranean to the Coral sea—from Berlin to Tokio.

"Again, we cannot escape history. We have supreme confidence that with the help of God honor will prevail. We have faith that future generations will know that here, in the middle of the 20th century, there came the time when men of good will found a way to unite, and produce, and fight to destroy the forces of ignorance, intolerance, slavery, and war."

BAPTIST PASTOR KING'S CHAPLAIN.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—The Rev. Levi Gethin Hughes, deputy chaplain general of Great Britain's fighting forces, today was appointed honorary chaplain to King George—the first Baptist minister ever to receive such an appointment. Hughes has been an army chaplain for 28 years. He served in France and Egypt during the last war.

ALL LIFE UNDER BUROCRATS' HEEL SOON: SCHROEDER

Warns We Must Retake Liberties After War.

Centralia, Ill., Feb. 12 [Special].—Werner W. Schroeder, Republican national committeeman for Illinois, warned a Lincoln day gathering here tonight that every detail of the life of every American will be under the control of government before the war is another year older.

Schroeder was principal speaker at a banquet in the Pittinger hotel sponsored by the Marion County Repubican central committee. He told his audience that after winning the war Americans will face a crisis as to whether they have the spirit and determination to recapture their liberties.

Great Test of Character.

"This will be the great test of American character," he said. "The answer will decide whether America will go forward or backward after the war."

The national committeeman said Americans will not begrudge such sacrifices of freedom as are necessary to winning the war, but asserted it is essential the spirit of freedom must not be permitted to die while the sacrifices are being made.

Schroeder discussed the growth during the last generation of such European ideologies as national socialism in Germany and communism in Russia, resulting in a substitution of state capitalism for private capitalism thru the transfer to politicians of the power formerly exercised by industrial capitalists.

Movement Gains Momentum.

"In our own country the movement to break up private capitalism and substitute state capitalism has been gaining momentum in the last decade and is now feeding upon the circumstances of the war," he said. "There has been a growing tendency for the federal government to step in whether necessary or not.

"Before the end of the war every industrialist will be told what he may make, whom he must employ, what he must charge for his product, and the profit he must give up to the government. Every businessman will be told whether he may stay in business, and, if so, what he may buy, what he may sell, how much he may sell, and what he may do with his profit.

"Every person in the United States will be subject to being moved from one employment to another," he predicted. "Every housewife will be controled in what she may buy and place upon the table. Every boy and girl will be told what he or she may learn and for what he or she must prepare. The controls will be complete and the federal government will be the dominant master."

Threat to Labor's Freedom.

Schroeder said that state capitalism destroys the freedom of labor, creates a horde of bungling burocrats and has a blighting effect on the spirit of free enterprise.

"The first year of the war has shown us burocracy run wild," he said. "The prize example is the young Harvard graduate who has ordered the farmers to save iron by taking the horseshoes off their horses when they are not at work.

"We have seen sugar rationing while at the same time the government was subsidizing beet sugar growers to keep down the yield.

"The burocrats at Washington did not realize that food will win this war as it has all others," Schroeder said. "So they drained the farms of labor and then diverted farm machinery shipments to foreign lands, many of which had never before seen such machinery, and now they discover that we are faced with the possibility of a food shortage.

"They have kept the young men, and incidentally the young women, of America in a constant state of mental turmoil by changing and inconsistent pronouncements on the draft and man power problems."

BROOKS WARNS AGAINST LOSS OF LIBERTY AT HOME

Kokomo, Ind., Feb. 12 [Special].—The nation is engaged in a global war, but the major thought of Americans must be turned toward saving representative government, Sen. C. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] said in a Lincoln day address before 500 Republicans at a banquet here tonight.

"Military victories abroad will be worthless if we lose our form of government," the senator said. "A loss of that kind would be a catastrophe not only for Americans but for all the liberty loving people of the world. Any talk of the four freedoms should never supersede the protection assured by our bill of rights."

Brooks was introduced by Glenn R. Hillis, 1940 Republican candidate for governor.

CLOTH DEALERS CLOSE UP SHOPS TO BACK GANDHI

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 12 (AP).—Cloth merchants voted in sympathy with Mohandas K. Gandhi's "fast in the palace" today by slamming shut the doors of their shops. It was the second day of the continued "hartal" or protest shop closing in New Delhi. Aside from New Delhi, major areas were not outwardly affected by the operation, with the exception of Ahmedabad, where a few additional mills closed. Gandhi's fast over the refusal of the British to release him unconditionally was started Wednesday at his detention quarters at the palace of the Aga Khan at Poona.

RID GOVERNMENT OF BLUNDERERS, MARTIN DEMANDS

Give Key Jobs to Able Men, He Urges.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 12.—Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. [R., Mass.], house minority leader, warned in a speech tonight against "power mad burocrats," and demanded that blunderers and court favorites be driven from the government pay roll to increase war efficiency.

Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr.

Martin spoke before the Allegheny County Republican club at its annual Lincoln day dinner. He declared that the size of the army of civilian employés is a shocking scandal, and charged that Washington, D. C., bureau chiefs have thousands of employés with almost nothing to do.

"The American people demand," Martin said, "and we Republicans support the demand, that the war be fought efficiently. This can be done only when we place in the key positions men and women selected because of their ability and merit, and not on the basis of personal or partisan favoritism."

Cites Ed Flynn Case.

Martin said that able men who could aid tremendously in the war program are left on the sidelines, while such things as lame duck appointments and the recent proposed envoy rank for Edward J. [Paving Blocks] Flynn undermine public confidence.

"We demand," he said, "that the most capable men and women be selected for important posts, and the blunderers and court favorites be relegated to the sidelines. . . .

"We intend to restore control of the government to the people and curb this rapidly expanding burocracy by ending the reckless granting of blank checks. Congress has turned down numerous projects only to find later that they have been built with blank check funds.

Points to Man Power Need.

"If these power mad burocrats can defy congress and get away with it, we have traveled a long way on the road to dictatorship."

Martin turned to his charge of idle employés in Washington and added:

"And yet thruout the country there are constant appeals for more workers."

He compared the government's civilian staff of 900,000 in the last war with its present day corps of 3 million.

Martin said agencies are staffed in many instances with New Deal politicians who hold power of life and death over industry.

"The yeast of partisan politics," the congressman asserted, "is still making the dough for the New Deal favorites."

Martin called for a return to the idea of the war council which prevailed in the last war. It was composed of major administrators, the cabinet, and the President, and coordinated the various activities, he explained.

"With this coördination," he said, "there should be less bungling, less confusion, and more progress in getting to the people more of the necessary commodities."

Blasts Farm Policies.

He termed folly the New Deal farm policy of scarcity.

Martin accused the administration of bungling the rubber, gasoline, and food situations. He also declared the people "are deeply and properly suspicious" of such actions as the government's anti-trust suit against the Associated Press.

"They fear—and have good reason to fear—that if the burocrats win it, the triumph might well be a deadly blow to all our freedom," he said. "As the publisher of a small newspaper which has a wire service other than the Associated Press, I cannot agree with the monopoly plea of the government. But I am concerned about the threat it brings to the free press."

Martin publishes the North Attleboro [Mass.] Chronicle.

Martin earlier today said he believed President Roosevelt would run for a fourth term and would lose. He cited recent Republican gains and said, "The country definitely is Republican at the moment."

ROB CAB DRIVER OF $7.

Two men forced E. W. Cunningham, 7431 South State street, a taxicab driver, to drive to 63d street and Merrill avenue, where they robbed him of $7 and fled, Cunningham reported to police yesterday.

Presents for All

The routine of Children's Memorial hospital was disrupted yesterday by three blonde, blue-eyed youngsters. They are Jean, Joan, and Judith Manzella, triplet daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Mario Manzella, 2224 Clybourn avenue, who celebrated their second birthday with the aid of the hospital staff. Dressed in brand new blue dresses, the triplets were guests of honor at a party arranged by Mrs. Mabel Binner, the hospital administrator.

Each received a new doll and a cake lighted with two candles. Returning the compliment, the youngsters performed with a little dance and military march. They have been under the care of the hospital clinic since they were several months old. The Manzellas have four other children, the eldest a boy of 10.

STASSEN URGES ALLIED 'LEGION' TO POLICE WORLD

Proposes Creation of International Court.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 12 (AP).—Immediate planning for a post-war allied nations government, with an international military force and a court to administer a world-wide code of justice, was advocated by Minnesota's Gov. Harold E. Stassen at a Lincoln day dinner here tonight.

He cited words of Abraham Lincoln outlining his political beliefs, and asked:

"Constructively might not this be the application of Lincoln's principles?" He then suggested that the nation:

"Begin now to set up the machinery of unity, by establishing united nations commissions or councils to administer united nations' interests in the transfer of food and supplies between territories and in the civil administration of liberated and conquered areas.

Favors World Parliament.

"Determine now that . . . the nations now united with us in this war must continue to be united to maintain an enduring people's peace. . . .

"Consider well that a legislative or parliamentary body, as the key unit for such a united nations government, might best safeguard human rights.

"Contemplate the establishment of a united nations legion as a police force to keep disarmed the axis nations and other outlaw territories and to enforce the basic code of justice.

"Devise an elementary code of justice . . . including provisions for the protection of minorities, . . . for abolishing slavery, and for preventing religious persecution.

Would Set Up Court.

"Plan the establishment of a united nations court to administer this code of justice.

"Look forward over a period of years to the gradual development for this elementary machinery to the administration of the great international airways of the future, the gateways to the seas, of increased trade and commerce.

"Increase the trade between the peoples of the world, not on dreamer's basis, following neither high protective tariffs nor free trade but rather thru a practical, continuous adjustment. . . ."

AWOL PLAYBOY SOLDIER ESCAPES ARMY HOSPITAL

Reno, Nev., Feb. 12 (AP).—The Reno police said tonight that Pvt. Jacob L. Webb, 24 year old former playboy of New York society and great-grandson of the late Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt, had vanished from the Reno army air base hospital, where he was placed for observation after arrest on a charge of impersonating an air corps officer.

His mother, the socially prominent Mrs. W. Steward Webb of New York and Florida, had been in Reno less than 24 hours—hoping to discuss his case with the air base commandant—when the police radio blared the announcement he had disappeared.

The air base said earlier that Webb was awaiting court martial on charges of "deceiving the public and bringing disgrace to the uniform of the United States army." He was arrested here on Feb. 6 after he had gone AWOL at San Francisco on Jan. 31, the army said.

FAITHFUL GROUP PAYS TRIBUTE TO NANCY LINCOLN

Lincoln City, Ind., Feb. 12 (AP).—While the nation observed the 134th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's birth, a faithful little group made an annual pilgrimage today to a southern Indiana hill to honor his mother's memory.

A wreath was placed at the foot of a stone marker on the grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, whose death in 1818 was the first great tragedy in her son's life. He was 9 years old when she died.

"It is appropriate on Abraham Lincoln's birthday," said Gov. Henry F. Schricker, "that we should exalt so great a life, and we will do so by paying tribute to a brave and gentle mother who gave him a good birth and led him with a kindly hand for a little while along the path to greatness."

The tribute was sponsored by the Indiana Lincoln union.

NORRIS DRAFTS 4 POINT PROGRAM FOR PEACE TERMS

Former Sen. George W. Norris of Nebraska, who was guest of honor at a Lincoln day program in Orchestra hall last night, declared that when we win the war we will face a bitter fight to make an equitable peace. Norris, who served 30 years in the senate, was defeated in the last November elections in a voters' uprising against New Deal congressmen.

The former senator, now 81 years old and hailed by other speakers as the outstanding liberal of his time, asserted that peace terms must be dictated without hatred or revenge.

Lists 4 Terms for Peace.

He said that the terms for peace should be:

1. A complete surrender of the enemy;
2. A complete disarmament of the enemy;
3. A demand that the enemy governments repudiate their war debts;
4. Make the enemy pay for the war, according to his ability to pay.

"When we disarm Japan, Germany and Italy, the United States, England and Russia will be the dominating powers in the world," he continued. "We are holding ourselves out as the champions of freedom and peace and we must keep our word to the world.

"If we repeat the errors that were made at Versailles, we will sow the seeds for another war. The battle for an equitable peace will be a bitter one, but we must keep faith with the world by making it a just peace for all the peoples of the earth."

Norris Given Testimonial.

Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago, co-chairman of the meeting, presented Norris with a testimonial of his achievements in public office. Dr. John A. Lapp, chairman of the Union for Democratic Action, which sponsored the meeting, introduced the other speakers, who included Harold L. Ickes, secretary of the interior; Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d]]; James G. Patton, president of the Farmers' Educational and Cooperative union, and several others.

Secretary Ickes reiterated old attacks on Rep. Martin Dies of Texas for his fight against "Communists, burocrats, and crackpots." Ickes also harangued against THE TRIBUNE and its publisher, Col. Robert R. McCormick.

HAILS LINCOLN'S FAITH IN LIBERTY FOR INDIVIDUAL

Australia Envoy Contrasts Methods with Hitler's.

BY JOHNSON KANADY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—Owen Dixon, Australian minister to the United States, hailed Abraham Lincoln for his belief in the common law which protects the citizen from exploitation by the state, in an address tonight marking the Civil war president's birthday.

His talk climaxed a round of observances of the day in Springfield, Lincolns home town. On the program with Dixon was Frank Knox, secretary of the navy. Both spoke under auspices of a local civic organization.

Dixon contrasted Lincoln with Hitler, pointing out the different use both made of their great abilities to sway men, showing how Lincoln used his power for the development of good, while Hitler used his to accomplish evil.

Cites Deep Conviction.

"Like others bred to law, Lincoln's belief in the tradition of the common law which protects the citizen against the state, and gives to all equal political rights, amounted to a deep conviction," Dixon said.

"No such tradition exists in the jurisprudence of the great part of the continent of Europe. The fact that neither in Germany or Italy has there been handed down any principle of freedom under the law accounts in no small degree for the failure of democracy to take root in those countries and for the ease with which autocracy there rises.

"The political rights of the individual are his guarantee against the arbitrary use of power. But attempts in the past to work out a system of political rights among nations have failed. We are told that in the modern world a community must combine in the collective control of production and distribution and that, therefore, political rights of the individual are of dwindling importance.

Contrasts U. S. with Axis.

"To small or weak nations the totalitarian axis applies a like doctrine. The United States of America was founded upon principles which are totally opposed to these precepts. The presidency of Lincoln gave to those principles a paramountcy and an unqualified application under which they have grown to be the faith of every American."

While terming Lincoln a distinctly American figure, the minister pointed out that he also is a hero to Australia and that the two nations are fighting together to maintain the things in which Lincoln believed. He continued:

"The great crisis that called his genius into action grew out of conditions peculiar to this country. The achievement which secures his place among the great men whose names will endure is nothing less than the preservation of the continuity of the life of the American nation.

Likened to Australians.

"An Australian may understand Lincoln better because the conditions of country and provincial life prevailing but a short time ago in Australia were not very different from those which so evidently governed the development of Lincoln's character, aspects of which appear to puzzle students unfamiliar with the kind of men and things Lincoln lived and worked against as his earlier life unfolded."

Earlier in the day at an American Legion pilgrimage to Lincoln's tomb, Roane Waring, legion national commander, declared that America's fighting men will come home "thoroly detesting the fungus growth of burocracy," and predicted that the soldiers and "liberty loving" people who have remained at home will "go forward . . . in purging this America of ours from all of these insidious and cankerous growths."

Gov. Dwight H. Green participated in the legion ceremony.

CROWLEY MOVES TO PUSH PLEA ON JUDGE TRANSFER

Wilbert Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said yesterday he would confer Monday with State's Attorney Courtney on his request that Judge Donald S. McKinlay be transferred from the Criminal court.

A verbal clash was precipitated on Thursday between the prosecutor and Judge McKinlay when Judge McKinlay ordered a young prisoner accused of kidnaping and robbery taken from the police and state's attorney's office into the sheriff's custody over the protests of the prosecutor's office.

The state's attorney's office had asked for additional time to investigate other possible offenses of the prisoner. Judge McKinlay ordered the prisoner booked and remarked that only recently he had excluded a confession because police held suspects too long and subjected them to duress. It was then that Crowley issued his criticism of the court's action.

"Before I care to say or do anything in the matter," Judge McKinlay said, "I would want State's Attorney Courtney to publicly indorse all that Mr. Crowley has said."

Woman Who Met Lincoln Celebrates 101st Birthday

Mrs. Tryphenia Keasler, who met Lincoln as a young girl, yesterday celebrated her 101st birthday quietly with a few old friends in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gerald Matlock of Yorkville. Mrs. Keasler lived for 75 years in Aurora, where she helped organize the Women's Christian Temperance union.

LANDON DEMANDS 2 PARTY WAR ON NEW DEAL 'NAZIS'

Charges Burocrats Seek a Hitler-Type State.

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 12 (AP).—Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas tonight urged "a coalition of real Democrats and the Republican party" as a guarantee that Vice President Henry Wallace "and his fellow travelers will not lead us down the same disastrous primrose path which Hitler has led his people."

In a speech at a Republican Lincoln day banquet the former Republican Presidential nominee asserted that "at last the practical progressives and the real liberals of the Democratic party are awake to the fact that by use of Trojan horse methods a small but dominant group of Nazi New Dealers, who seek to establish here what Hitler described in his early days as the national socialistic state, have seized control of their party.

Holds War Hampered.

"The tangle of domestic policies and managing burocracy which prevented our return to prosperity under the Roosevelt administration is preventing an efficient prosecution of the war.

"We are being compelled to fight on two fronts—one a global war, the other a Nazi burocratic war. Instead of leadership uniting us with 'an eye single to the task' on the war front, we have a burocratic leadership in Washington [D. C.] thirsting for power and just as obviously determined to establish a permanent control over our lives, thus creating a second front at home."

Landon referred critically to President Roosevelt's statement that postwar lend-lease aid could be compared to what the north did for the south after the Civil war. He said:

"The reconstruction of the south was based on private credit and enterprise, whereas lend-lease will be public funds of America managed by a huge burocracy and managed in the interest of building and maintaining control by itself forever more."

Eyes U. S. Post-War Rôle.

Landon said the nation must accept "some sort of an international rôle" after the war. He said the next peace treaty must seek "freedom and justice for all races and all peoples." He added:

"But before we get too liberal with the money of the American taxpayers and too liberal with the blood of the American boys, we should know just what the situations are. That calls for an honest discussion of all the facts and an honest meaning of words."

Landon added that "mere election of Republicans will not 'save the country' unless we are equal to the problems of reconstruction. . . ."

Raps "Mystical Dreams."

He said "nothing is clearer in our foreign policy than the fact that we have proceeded on the wrong assumption that the world liked what we liked and wanted what we wanted," and added:

"It is plainly evident that the administration which has been indulging in mystical dreams of lifting the standard of living of all heterogeneous races of the world at the expense of the American taxpayer is repeating that mistake."

The dinner was sponsored by the Republican Business Women's club.

Earlier, Landon declared that President Roosevelt should assure the people that he will not seek a fourth term. He said it appeared to be a foregone conclusion in Washington circles that the President would run again, and added:

"I don't believe, however, that the American people are yet ready to start a life dynasty for any man or any family."

WINTER ASSAULT CAN'T STOP RALLY OF BOYS IN BLUE

Three Soldiers of Civil War Honor Lincoln.

The boys in blue—three of them—braved yesterday's snow flurries to lead Chicago's observance of the 134th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, their commander in chief.

The city's observance meant a holiday for school children and special programs for civic and service groups. Probably no single ceremony was more symbolic of the growing significance of the Lincoln tradition than the 44th annual program at memorial hall in the public library. There were patriotic songs, an address on Lincoln—and the three white haired veterans standing at attention to repeat the oath of allegiance to the flag—to prove that the spirit of 1861 burns brightly in 1943.

Once a Drummer Boy.

Among the veterans was James Crugom, 93 years old, 7229 Rogers avenue, a frail little man in a carefully brushed uniform. He was a drummer boy of 11 when he went from Milwaukee in the regiment with his father, a doctor, and his brother, a drum major.

Albert E. Gage, 98 years old, who lives in Che-Che-Pinqua forest preserve, took a turn at leading the Board of Trade American Legion post band, and Capt. Thomas Ambrose, 93 years old, 4358 Drexel boulevard, more portly than his comrades, conducted the entire program as president of the Grand Army Hall and Memorial association.

The speaker, Oscar E. Carlstrom, former Illinois attorney general and a veteran of the Spanish American war and World War I, said: "Lincoln epitomized all that is America—humility of birth, a struggle in early life. All of his characteristics were congealed into an influence reflected thruout the world. . . ."

Says They Fought Fair.

The veterans expressed themselves as eager for victory in this war. Crugom said, "In the Civil war a soldier had a chance. We fought fair. This war is murder of women and children and soldiers, too. I pray that it ends soon—but we must win it." He and Gage attended Brig. Gen. Charles G. Dawes' annual luncheon for G. A. R. members and friends at the Hotel Sherman earlier in the day.

Boy Scouts from the Northwest district placed a wreath on Lincoln's monument in Lincoln park.

Lincoln became the great man he was because of Mary Todd Lincoln's influence, Dr. Louis A. Warren, director of the Lincoln National Life foundation, said last night at the annual Lincoln's day observance of the Chicago Historical society in the museum in Lincoln park.

"Mary Todd Lincoln contributed more to the advancement of Lincoln than any other person with whom he came in contact, except perhaps his mother," he said. "She created a university atmosphere for him in his home for more than 22 years. She was a highly educated woman and undoubtedly the first brilliant woman Lincoln ever met. Current stories about her are unjust and give an untrue picture of her."

Loop Dancing Teacher Dies After Fall on Home Stairs

Mrs. Genora Budlong, 28 years old, a loop dance instructress, died last night in Swedish Covenant hospital of a skull fracture suffered, Summerdale police said, when she fell early yesterday on the stairs in her home at 2632 Winona street. She was the wife of Lyman Budlong, 31, son of the late Joseph J. Budlong, former president of the Lake View Trust and Savings bank, 3201 North Ashland avenue. An inquest into Mrs. Budlong's death will be held this morning in the chapel at 5200 North Western avenue.

BANDIT RIPS VICTIM'S CLOTHING.

Harry Sleight, a war plant worker, reported to police yesterday that a Negro robber took his wallet and ripped his clothing near 151 North Campbell avenue.

DEFERS FINDING ON FOUR TRIED FOR SEDITION

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday took under advisement the case of four Negro leaders of the Peace Movement of Ethiopia at the close of a three weeks' trial. The four, charged with sedition, face sentences of five years in federal prison and $10,000 fines if they are found guilty.

After arguments in which Defense Atty. Lloyd Bailey characterized the actions of the four as motivated only by their enthusiasm for the organization and its aim of moving Negroes to Liberia and Ethiopia, Judge Holly indicated that he would announce his verdict on Monday morning.

The defendants are Mittie Maud Lena Gordon, national leader of the group; her husband, William Green Gordon, a founder; Seen Jones, president of the Chicago local, and David Logan, a national officer.

WINCHELL AND LAND.

The Blue radio network, which has been taking dirty money to allow the foulest mouths in radio to seek to prejudice the jurors who will be called to try citizens under prosecution by the department of justice, finds itself the object of a storm of public denunciation. The indignation was aroused by the language directed against members of congress and the voters who elected them by the gents' room admiral, Walter Winchell.

The network then promulgated a rule that no speaker using its facilities may criticize the President, nor any member of the cabinet, nor any member of congress. It installed censors in the studios from which Winchell and Drew Pearson, another smear commentator, broadcast to see that they obeyed the rule or to cut them off the air if they didn't. This inspired the wailing Winchell to the apt reptilian metaphor that his fangs had been drawn.

The network, having been guilty of gross impropriety, tries to exculpate itself by a far more serious attack upon civil rights. The rule it is seeking to impose violates our Constitution in two respects. It first attempts to reëstablish the doctrine of libel upon government and, second, subject the speaker to previous restraint on his utterances. Attempts to apply such shackles to the press would, of course, be prevented by the 1st amendment, which also protects freedom of speech, but is incapable of putting iron in the craven souls of radio proprietors who are cowed by the licensing powers of the federal communications commission.

As there are only four networks in the country, the action of the Blue network suppresses to an appreciable extent the criticism of public officials on the air. The network has become an able abettor of political censorship. Because Winchell outrages decency in his attacks upon critics of the administration, the network undertakes to gag all the critics. No such Draconian measures were necessary to deal with Winchell, had there been a sincere desire to deal with him. It was not Winchell's exercise of the right of criticism that the public objected to. It was his repeated demonstrations that even an act of congress couldn't make him a gentleman.

One nautical fraud has thus been given his comeuppance. We address ourselves to another, that bluff skipper of a Washington swivel chair, Adm. Emory S. Land of the war shipping administration. Adm. Land has been howling for the head of a young naval officer who described to THE TRIBUNE the disgraceful conduct aboard ship of some of the Communist draft dodgers who have infiltrated the crews of the merchant ships which the admiral runs.

The charges against the Communist controled maritime union are legion, but they have to be whispered because if Adm. Land knew the names of the people telling the truth he would stop at nothing to persecute them. The navy, which allows Winchell to blacken prominent Americans in vile language, at the same time maintains a veritable Gestapo, a large part of the duty of which is to hound any one who discloses any faults in the conduct of the war.

Adm. Land's record is none too good, either as respects some of the contracts the maritime commission has made for the construction of ships, or the war shipping administration's operation of them. He would persecute those who tell the truth about his ships because what they say shows up his own utter incapacity. Shipping is notoriously the bottleneck of this war.

The admiral's own record with the Communists is hardly consistent. As late as last Oct. 19 he made a speech in which he declared that he would like to see some organizers shot at sunrise. When Joe Curran, the Communist stooge who runs the maritime union, and other CIO leaders began to yell for Land's scalp, he offered the flimsy excuse that he had not said "labor organizers." There are all kinds of organizers, Land asserted, and the only organization he is interested in is the organization of production. Perhaps he wanted to shoot Lt. Gen. Knudsen.

Land retired to his kennel, a thoroly whipped sea dog. The incident apparently taught him that the Communists hold the whip hand in this administration and, as the public can see, he is still doing their bidding.

NOTES ON AN IMPENDING RETIREMENT.

Mr. John Factor, better known in some circles as Jake the Barber, is lining up his affairs in Chicago preparatory to taking up residence for ten years, or perhaps a few less, in a federal institution.

Jake came to an interruption, temporary at least, in a spectacular career in a federal court in Iowa, where he was sentenced on his plea of guilty to operating frauds thru the mail. He and his co-defendants, or associates, as he would put it, were engaged in trading with people for whisky receipts and stocks and bonds. The details of the transactions varied according to the prize in view and the mentality of the owner, but the invariable result was that in the end Factor and his friends had the negotiable assets and the parties of the second part had a headache.

The profits of the ring seem to have been more than a million dollars. Mr. Factor never seems to deal in units much smaller, if one excepts the occasion in which he bought himself back from the Touhy mob of kidnapers. His operations in London yielded him some seven million dollars according to a report which he was always too modest to confirm. Such a sum marks him as the only impresario who ever managed to work lend-lease in reverse.

Mr. Factor is intelligent, kind to his family, impeccable in dress, and suave and pleasing in approach. The only blemish on his character is that he is a confidence man whose exploits have made his somewhat more famous predecessor in local annals, the Yellow Kid, look almost like a nickel snatcher. Aside from this slight idiosyncracy, Mr. Factor would undoubtedly appeal to almost any soft hearted parole board as one who had paid his debt to society, rehabilitated himself, and justified the confidence that would turn him out to look for another sucker.

What never seems to impress itself on the social worker school of criminologists is that some people, of whom Jake Factor on his record is representative, fall into a life of crime not because of bad associations in youth or unhealthy environment, or other even more accidental circumstances, but because they are completely bereft of moral sense and deliberately and calculatingly choose criminal methods of making a living on the grounds that such methods seem to them to offer the best living.

Jake has certainly had impressed upon him from time to time the lesson that the wages of sin are at least a short stretch in the hoosegow, but his record would indicate that he considers that an occupational hazard. He is a criminal because he finds it profitable and about all that can be said in his favor is that in his particular activity he takes his victims' money but not their lives.

To talk of redeeming such people for society is the purest bosh, since they have no intention of reforming. Nevertheless, if Jake ever gets a chance to tell his story to a parole board, our money is on Jake. As we have indicated, he is a most convincing fellow.

BANKS AS BOND BUYERS.

A bill, one purpose of which is to relieve the banks of paying premiums to the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation on the swiftly changing balances in the government's own deposit accounts, has been introduced into the house by Congressman Steagall and is shortly to be offered to the senate by Robert F. Wagner of the senate finance committee.

So much of the bill is sheer common sense. Only $5,000 in any depositor's account is protected by FDIC anyhow. The banks handle the government's business at present at a loss. About three years ago a big New York bank asked the government to draw out a 16 million dollar balance there. The bank found that it was paying FDIC $13,333 in premiums on the amount, but was realizing only $6,180 from investing the funds in government short term paper. Furthermore, the banks which have government funds on deposit already have guaranteed repayment by putting up good collateral.

The rest of the Wagner-Steagall bill is anything but good. Banks are required to maintain a specified percentage of their deposits to their credit at the federal reserve banks. For banks in New York and Chicago that proportion is now 20 per cent. The Wagner-Steagall bill would excuse the banks from maintaining these reserves against government deposits. If this part of the bill becomes law, it would add materially to the bond absorbing capacity of the banks and to that extent promote inflation.

This step is being recommended because the government is financing the war by inflating credit and wants to go on in the same way. In the Civil war the government issued one kind of fiat money called greenbacks. Now fiat credit is being used instead. The banks are engaged in taking in a constantly growing volume of government certificates, upon receipt of which they credit the amount engraved upon them to the treasury account. Munitions makers and ship builders are paid with this fiat deposit currency, just as in the Civil war similar payments were made with greenbacks.

The expansion became so rapid last fall that New York banks couldn't buy any more government bonds because they hadn't any idle reserves to put up against the resulting deposits. The reserve requirements were then steadily reduced in New York and Chicago, the two central reserve cities, to enable them to absorb more government paper. The bill in congress would make it no longer necessary to carry any reserve against deposits arising from the purchase of government bonds.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau several years ago pointed out that to sell bonds to banks is to inflate. Prof. Alvin Hansen, economic adviser to the chairman of the federal reserve board, urged less than two years ago that authority to increase reserve requirements drastically was necessary if inflation was to be controlled. We are doing the very thing which officials of the present administration and leading bankers in the past have said would bring on inflation.

If we continue as we are now going, the choice will be between inflation and a permanent government control of prices, wages, investment, and every other aspect of economic life. That means good-by liberty and so long free enterprise.

It is alarming to find that some responsible bankers are boosting the new proposals. The ordinary citizen probably doesn't know what it's all about, and isn't worried, because everything looks rosy to him. Bankers know what is going on and should look ahead to the consequences.

Editorial of the Day

MR. DIES' POPULARITY.

[Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.]

If any one wonders why Rep. Dies retains his popularity in the house of representatives, the answer is in the new list of federal pay rollers which Mr. Dies has just disclosed. On it are the names of at least three individuals for whose salaries the house at various times refused to make an appropriation but who, nevertheless, are still on federal pay roll—one at an increased salary. On it, also, is that Maurice Parmelee who was fired from the board of economic warfare last spring after the Dies committee had exposed him as a full-fledged nudist and whose book on that subject was declared obscene in a District of Columbia court. He is now employed by the railroad retirement board.

In the vast assemblage of employés in Washington these things would have passed unnoticed but for Mr. Dies. The house—and a very large part of the public—appreciates this information. Mr. Dies is a constant gadfly stinging the Washington burocracy—and the instances cited in this last report disclose how cavalierly the burocracy ignores the wishes of the house of representatives. Dies has been smeared, berated, and accused of Fascist leanings by various groups, particularly those of left wing persuasion such as the National Lawyers' guild. On the other hand, he has won enormous majorities in the house every time he has asked for funds or authority.

The reply Mr. Dies gives to these accusations is another report, and until the bureau heads at Washington begin to show a little consideration for the desire of the house of representatives to cut the radical fringe off the federal pay roll, we predict that Mr. Dies will continue to win both public and house support.

MR. PEPYS DISCUSSES SHOES.

13th Feb.—Received the news of shoe rationing without a stagger, altho it came just when I was ready to buy a pair of fur-lined trapper's boots against the March blizzards. Went to my closet and began counting my shoes, and found I had 14 pairs, some of ancient vintage. Yet cannot be accused of hoarding, for have not bought a new pair since last spring.

Some of my shoes have histories. For example, a pair of high tops, rare in style, which I bought for snowy and stormy days at Stagg field when the Old Man was coach. Have worn them not more than ten times a year, and think they will outlast the Pyramids. Then I have a pair of white buckskins with black trim, bought when Alphonse Capone and his henchmen were in fashion. My choicest item, however, is a pair of golf shoes acquired when I studied the art of putting under the founder of this column, B. L. T. They should be in a museum, but are still wearable.

In this crisis, am recommending to my friends the constant use of rubbers in wet weather. When damp, shoes of sturdy walkers go to pieces rapidly. Never wear shoes with dampened soles a second day. Jump into the extra pair.

Attended the annual business meeting of the Tavern club, with free dinner, that being the only way clubs can get members to come out and vote like Americans. Feasted on oysters and prime beef, with many auxiliaries, in great content, but went away before the voting began to see "The Mikado," leaving my proxy. Learned from a fellow member, Dwight Harding, that he was the first student to smoke a pipe with impunity in the presence of a dean on the steps of the old hall at Northwestern university, that being in the spring of 1896. Started a movement to place a bronze plaque there in his honor, but failed to secure any subscriptions.

VALENTINE FOR MARY.

Say, lady, how's about it, now?
For years you've cooked my meals;
You've mended all my shirts, and how
You've darned my toes and heels;
You've counseled me with words astute,
You've dusted, swept, and mopped;
You've labored morning, nighn, and noot,
Until you almost dropped;
You've brung my kids up well and strong,
And not too, too unruly;
And tho the road's been rough and long,
You've not complained unduly;
So how's about we take a chance,
And if you so incline,
We'll catch up now on our romance—
Come be my valentine!

Casual.

A Dog's View of Valentine's Day.

Choppy says that the other day he put on his horn-rimmed spectacles, went to Webster's dictionary, and looked up "St. Valentine's day." Choppy says he was amazed to discover that St. Valentine was a Christian martyr of the third century; that he had nothing whatever to do with St. Valentine's day, and that his name was probably introduced to the day by mistake.

Choppy says he sure was glad he looked up the words, because St. Valentine's day not only has nothing to do with St. Valentine, it also has nothing to do with him. Choppy cannot see how it has anything to do with any one else, too, he says. Maybe it might be a good idea to reverse the words and instead of "St. Valentine's day" write "Valentine's St. day." Choppy says he bets that every one would be looking all over for Valentine street to see what kind of day it might be having, and why.

Choppy says that St. Valentine's day is a day dedicated to love, and he is going to doll himself up in a suitable outfit. He will wear a little lace boudoir cap which his grandma wore years ago; stiffly starched white pants; a blue silk coat with a great big heart on the front, and high yellow boots.

Choppy says that St. Valentine's day is a day when people send flowers, candy, and valentines all over and then put the flowers in water where they die, eat the candy, and throw away the valentines. It's silly, Choppy says, but what isn't?

But "Hurrah for love," says Choppy, and "a very pleasant Valentine's St. day to you all."

Roy Engel.

VALENTINE: WORLD WAR I.

Each night, when day begins to go,
I stand beside my door and throw
Into the graying skies above
A thousand kisses to my love.
And pitying Night (who knows a kiss
That's thrown so far must sometimes miss),
Turns each into a star for me,
So that, wherever he may be,
Whene'er he sees them gleaming bright
He'll know I'm kissing him good-night.

(These verses, printed in the Line a generation ago under the title of "Alchemy," were written as a valentine for the author's husband when he was serving with the A. E. F. in France, Feb. 14, 1919.)

Gremlins, Bonne Femme Style.

You have gremlins, Mr. Buckshot? [Feb. 10.] Until you are a housewife your gremlins are pale, puny imitations.

There is the unpleasant little fellow with the sunlamp who tans the silverware. There is the sisterhood of she-gremlins who knit those long black strings to festoon the ceiling. My unfavorite is the little love who sits in my husband's chest of drawers and chews the buttons off his shorts.

The young ones with the simple tasks scatter grit in the bathtub and on the freshly-washed kitchen floor. In their spare time they paint the walls taupe, working in three shifts above the radiators.

Which ones put the fur under the beds and smear transmission grease on all the windows I cannot say, but I know that whoever entices them away may have my gremlins and my gratitude.

WHOLE GRAIN FOOD—AN AID TO HEALTH.

BREAD is the primary food of the world. It furnishes a larger volume of our energy producing fuel than any other edible. Only recently have we been aware that for the last two generations, at least, most of us have been cheating ourselves in our zeal for the white variety.

Since the discovery of vitamins and the recognition of their important rôle, we have learned more about the wheat kernel—the bran, the cells which lie immediately beneath, and the germ. The very portions which supply us with minerals and vitamins B and E have been discarded in the process of milling. Apparently, the style is changing and we are now reinforcing the staff of life with thiamin [B1] or are using larger proportions of whole meal.

The fact that we have been denying our children essential nutriments may explain the widespread prevalence of poor teeth and lessened vitality. On the other hand, it has been extremely difficult in many communities to secure the unrefined product. The answer that the "public does not want it" is merely a confession of ignorance. Education, which should not take long, will bring an overwhelming demand.

Striking episodes of the past should have carried an enlightening lesson. In the early 1900s, a ship loaded with whole wheat flour was wrecked on the coast of Labrador. Among the inhabitants, beriberi was rife. The natives salvaged the cargo, made it into loaves, and ate it. All the victims of this deficiency disease recovered and, so long as the "treat" lasted, no more cases appeared.

Picton relates that in 1894 Norwegian sailors demanded better rations. In consequence, ship's larders were provided with white bread. When members of one of the crews fell ill with beriberi, an old seadog who would have none of the "pale" biscuits, dug out his own store of whole grain rye, the feeding of which relieved every victim.

The percentage of those who lack calcium is unknown precisely. Judging from the examination of thousands of youngsters, however, the figure is substantial. The lack would be far more noticeable were milk less available. Here again, emphasis may be given foods which contain minerals.

I have yet to encounter a boy or girl who does not relish the nutty flavor of crackers, cookies, or bread made with the entire wheat grain. Rarely will children who are fed this substance regularly complain of constipation or exhibit "soft teeth."

McCarrison, one of the world's expert nutritionists, has referred time and again to the excellent health of the inhabitants of northern India when compared to those whose diets are composed largely of rice or tapioca. He explains the vitality of the Sikh and Pathan on the ground that they know how to utilize wheat.

To some extent, we are effecting compromises. To certain brands, the germ has been restored. But why not use it all—with greater satisfaction to the digestive tract, the bones, the teeth, and the vital organs. It will help us to become more disease-resistant, more robust.

AIR TOO DRY.

M. B. writes: I have trouble with my skin during cold weather. When in a heated room my face becomes flushed and I feel as tho I cannot breathe. Can you suggest a remedy?

REPLY.

You need more moisture in the air. In the average home the atmosphere will absorb several gallons daily.

DON'T PICK THEM.

G. H. K. writes: What is the cure for toothpick ears? Mine have itched for 10 years.

REPLY.

Usually a mild skin irritation, caused by a plant fungus. Occasionally, particles of wax will prove bothersome.

"RATION THE RATIONERS."

Chicago, Feb. 8—Can you vision Mrs. Harry Hopkins, or for that matter, Mrs. Roosevelt, or any of the wives of the administration, at the wash bowl in the White House or their apartments washing out their husbands' shirts, the sheets, pillow cases, towels, and what not, and hanging them all over the bath room to dry? That is what seems to be in store for a lot of people who live in small apartments without washing facilities, according to the newest brainstorm of the burocrats. Maybe they will remember that among other things which can be made at home are syrup, starch, soap, bread, stockings, and even baking powder, and perhaps in each living room corner we can have a loom for weaving cottons and rayons so we can zip up a few yards in our spare time for clothes for our husbands and children.

I can now vision, with the plan to draft women into labor, the fond and worried mother, getting off a bursting street car after her day of labor, going to the nursery to pick up her children, fixing dinner for them, setting the bread to rise, washing a few sheets, towels, shirts, and a lot of work clothes and dirty children's wear, making up a little soap, putting in a few hours in the Victory garden, doing a little weaving and sewing, not to speak of patching, and finally getting an hour or two of sleep before arising to get breakfast and bake the bread, then get the children off to the nursery, before she actually starts for the street car again and her daily labor.

Why do they not think of some really practical things to do, such as unloading some of the heavily loaded government bureaus and putting those people to work producing wealth from natural resources for war needs, instead of producing little by regulation, and then minutely regulating that? How about a little mining of copper, digging of coal, farming of food, feeding of cattle, and manufacture, instead of sitting [why did I become tempted to say "setting?"] in a nicely heated office with secretaries to do all the actual work, thinking up ways to limit production and ration supplies? Let us ration the rationers and shove them out into the fields of real production of real resources. A SUBSCRIBER.

WANTS TO SEE HIS OLD BUDDIES.

Davenport, Ia., Feb. 7.—I was a member of the Rainbow division, having fought in Battery B, 149th field artillery, the old Chicago regiment. Frank Patterson was my captain and Henry Reilly my colonel. I was a replacement, having joined Battery B in June of 1918. I am now at Rock Island Arsenal school and will arrive in Chicago Feb. 21 and stay over until Feb. 25. I thought maybe you could help me to locate some of my old buddies: Alexenson, Link, Houll, Geiss, Cohen, Romano, and several others. I live in New Orleans and have never been in Chicago. If you can help me to see some of these boys I will appreciate it.

JOHN P. GUILLOT JR.

PROTECTION OF WOMEN.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—If Mayor Kelly expects people to vote for him at the next election, he'd better do something about the inadequate police force. There have been four holdups, two burglaries, and one woman attacked in the block I live in, within the last year or so.

The morale of the women of this block cannot be kept up during this war, if they are frightened and afraid to go out at night. MARY C. RUSSELL, Block Captain.

LAND OF OPPORTUNITY.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—I did not read the article, "Stars for Our Stripes." However, I feel sure that what Mr. H. S. G. Woolf read out of the article was not there because the United States does not want any more states.

I am an American citizen and I am very proud of it. I am not proud of being born in England, not proud of the memories I hold of the first 10 years of my life there and I did not enjoy the 18 years following that I spent in the English city of Toronto, Canada. However, I have enjoyed the 25 years that I have lived in this wonderful country. I am married to a sixth generation American and I am proud of him also.

The six months you spent in our great country, Mr. Woolf, do not entitle you to criticize it so severely. It is true that we have too much gangsterdom, graft, and racketeering but, one should remember, we are a young country with many nationalities and we will have all that taken care of long before our country is one-half as old as England.

Each man has an equal chance here, if he uses the brains that nature gave him. As much cannot be said for England where your class will keep you down. I know—I have lived there. MRS. F. L. E.

SNOOPERS.

Lyons, Mich., Feb. 9—Among the many crimes with which a low-souled government has degraded the German people, one of the most sinister is that it has encouraged snooping and informing among the citizens so that no one trusts the other.

On the other hand in the occupied countries the persecuted people feel closely knit together and trust one another, even tho there may be single individuals so low of mind that they will inform the oppressors about the activities of the decent citizens. Such single individuals are usually soon found out and destroyed by their countrymen.

In Germany the atmosphere created by the snoopers will undoubtedly contribute to the downfall of the nation; while in the other countries the natural abhorrence of snooping makes for solidarity and strength.

But what must one think of a government that encourages snooping? And of citizens that fall for the encouragement?

THINKS HE MAY OWE THE TREASURY.

Yorkville, Ill., Jan. 30.—I am in the same boat with "Confused," who wrote that he had requested defense stamps for tires turned in, but has heard nothing since Nov. 15, the day the tires were picked up. My tire was shipped on Nov. 4. I also requested stamps, but I have yet to hear what became of it. Since reading that many received only 20 cents for a good tire, I will be lucky if they don't ask me to reimburse them for appraising my tire, since it had a slight break in the casing. I. M. WONDERING.

"SYMBOL OF LIBERTY."

George Field, Ill., Feb. 7—It may seem strange that a dyed-in-the-wool southern Democrat, who suckled hatred of all things Republican from his mother's breast, should find comfort in the editorial pages of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Not so strange, tho, when you look back to the 1938 "purge" when my beloved state of Georgia overwhelmingly returned Sen. George, who did not speak the language of the party leader.

We of the solid south have been sorely tried for the last decade by the fact that the Democrat and Republican parties have changed their spots. The old standby of state's rights has found a new champion in the Republican party.

Hundreds of thousands of good southern Democrats are now in our armed forces, scattered all over the country, and it is my sincere hope that wherever they are, there is a courageous newspaper in that section, fighting their battle for the preservation of the republic while they turn their minds to foreign foes. In my opinion, THE TRIBUNE is as great a symbol of liberty as the Statue of Liberty itself. PVT. J. R.

BANK HOURS FOR WAR WORKERS.

Chicago, Feb. 10.—What with most of us now working six days a week, I am wondering if other war workers have been confronted with the same problem that bothers me. I refer to depositing or withdrawing money from the bank, or gaining admittance to one's safety deposit box. How do the banks expect a war worker to do business with them? Do they expect us to take valuable time off for this purpose? Time that could and should be spent in making bombs, bullets, etc.?

Why don't the banks institute the same procedure as most of our department stores—set aside one day of the week when they open at noon and remain open until 9 p. m., thus affording the war worker an opportunity to gain access to his safe deposit box, or perhaps make some deposit or withdrawal?

UNRECORDED DEED.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is an unrecorded deed valid? About a year ago my uncle quitclaimed a farm to me on which there were no incumbrances. I have not recorded the deed. Recently a judgment for a small amount was rendered against my uncle.

2. Is this judgment a lien on the property?

3. Have I no defense if the original quitclaim deed to me is dated a year prior to the judgment, but unrecorded?

J. N.

1. The use of an unrecorded deed as a substitute for a will invites litigation on the question whether the deed was validly delivered during the transactor's lifetime. Such an attempted arrangement was defeated in the recent case of Stanford vs. Stanford, 371 Ill. 211. While lawyer might safely arrange for a delivery "in escrow," we strongly advise against lay experimentation. 2. Yes. 3. No.

1. In the family larder you should expect to find which of these?
   Sugar Towels Furniture Gasoline.
2. A cowboy would resemble which of these men in his gait?
   Aviator Sailor Tank driver Infantryman.
3. Which one of these words is inappropriate in this general grouping?
   Shirring Pinking Piping Stippling.
4. Which one of these months is usually associated with windy weather?
   January March May August.
5. You are entitled to one point for each correct answer below:
   [a] Which sex is more likely to close its eyes when being kissed?
   [b] Which type of kangaroo doesn't carry its young in a pouch?
   [c] Alcohol and tobacco differ in that one tends to make the skin red while the other makes it white. Which makes the skin blanch?
   [d] Which god of Roman mythology is supposed to reign tomorrow?
   [e] In which sport do women have the greatest natural advantage over men?

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

DEMANDS HOUSE PROBE COST OF OWI MAGAZINE

Taber Starts 3d Inquiry on Publication.

Global News Plan

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 [Special].—Greatly expanded plans to inform the world of the progress of the United States in the war are under consideration by the office of war information and may be announced within a week, it was learned today. Specifically, the information bureau proposes to split the globe into major divisions, each headed by a director. He and his staff would obtain information about the foreign area he supervised and would supply the OWI with news suitable for that region. Present plans are to set up divisions such as the far east [China, India, Japan, Indonesia]; middle east [Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Arabia]; Africa, Spain, Portugal, Scandinavia, axis, and occupied countries. One division already is on the job in Britain.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 [Special].—A third congressional investigation of the office of war information's new magazine "Victory," loomed today as Rep. John Taber [R., N. Y.], demanded that the house appropriations committee use its new inquisitorial powers to probe the costs and purposes of "Victory" and other government publications.

Taber, ranking minority member of the committee, charged that Victory and other publications were created "to provide jobs for the faithful," and that they are "contributing generously to the paper shortage that is threatening the press today."

Two Other Inquiries Under Way.

Meanwhile in the senate, Sen. Kenneth McKellar [D., Tenn.], acting chairman of the senate appropriations committee which has been empowered to investigate the magazine under a resolution introduced by Sen. R. C. Holman [R., Ore.], announced his group would take up the study next week. Holman, criticizing the OWI publication for a laudatory article it published concerning President Roosevelt, in which his opponents were termed "reactionaries," charged the government financed magazine was booming the President for a fourth term.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], chairman of the joint congressional departmental committee on reduction of nonessential federal expenditures, which is planning a study of what the chairman described as "all government propaganda ventures," said he has written Elmer Davis, OWI director, asking for costs and other data on the magazine and other projects. When the information is received the committee will decide how it will proceed, Byrd stated.

Other Publications Questioned.

The house, only the previous day, adopted two resolutions giving its appropriations committee greater power to investigate governmental activities, and Rep. Taber moved today to use these new powers in investigating a number of federal publications.

In addition to Victory he said he also wanted to learn about "U. S. A.," a second magazine, patterned after Reader's Digest, which Davis indicated OWI would issue, and about two army ordnance publications called Battlenecks and Monthly News.

"This Battlenecks is a bottleneck if I ever saw one," Taber exclaimed, "and it is interfering with war production. The entire business is asinine."

Personnel Faces Quiz.

Taber said he would urge that the appropriations committee extend its inquiry into the "overstaffed civilian personnel of a number of agencies, including the OWI, OPA, BEW, and the war and navy departments." He also will advocate an investigation of "the attempt of Mr. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, to subsidize the farms."

"This subsidy plan is highly inflationary, and is just the opposite of a federal sales tax, which would prevent inflation," Taber said.

Taber also wants an investigation of duplicating credit agencies sponsored by the department of agriculture. He said private banks are more than able to make loans to farmers, yet the agriculture department proposes to revive the regional Agricultural Credit corporation. In this, Taber joins Sen. Kenneth S. Wherry [R., Neb.], who already has introduced a senate resolution calling for an investigation of the RAAC. Sen. Byrd's committee has adopted a resolution to take action on the Wherry resolution.

U. S. TO PRESS FOR SAVACHKA REMOVAL ACTION

Despite a recent offer from attorneys representing Michael Savachka, former secretary-treasurer of the grocery clerks' union, to have their client appear at the trial of Max Caldwell scheduled for April in Miami, Fla., the government still will press removal proceedings now pending before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, United States Atty. J. Albert Woll said yesterday. Caldwell, former head of the union and now operator of a weekly newspaper in Miami Beach, is charged with aiding Savachka to evade the selective service act and conspiracy. A similar indictment against Savachka, pending here before Federal Judge William J. Campbell, is scheduled for a hearing next month.

Lt. Col. F. A. Blanchfield Will Head Army Nurses

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and by mail, if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries.]

C. V. S. writes: "I was married early in 1941, in Stuttgart, Germany, while employed in the American consulate's office, and I have a daughter, born Sept. 30, 1941. I returned to the United States and registered in August, 1941. I have received notice from my draft board to report for a preliminary physical examination preparatory to reclassifying me from 4-A to 1-A. I am employed as chief, special reports section, office of censorship—an essential war agency. Would it be legal to reclassify me? What steps can I take to retain my 3-A classification?"

ANSWER: You were never necessarily entitled to a 3-A classification because you married after Sept. 16, 1940. It is difficult to understand how you could expect occupational deferment in your present civil service job. The draft board has the right to reclassify a registrant at any time. If you are reclassified, you always have a right to appeal, but in this instance there would appear to be little ground for such action.

C. R. B. writes: "Last week I was told that 17 year old men could no longer enlist in the navy. Is that true?"

ANSWER: It is not true. The navy wants all the young men of this age it can get.

T. E. M. writes: "Last November I took the screening examination for the air corps and failed by two points. Before I had a chance to repeat the examinations, enlistments were closed. Now when I'm drafted I'd still like to get into the air corps. Can you tell me what all I could study to be sure to pass the examinations next time?"

ANSWER: Persons who have taken the screening examinations for the air corps but have failed and who wish to try again when they go into service should seek the assistance of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This organization is lending every possible assistance to air corps aspirants by giving them free screening examinations, free physical examinations, and free coaching so that they will be able to pass all the entrance examinations. If the candidate is weak on certain points, the efforts are concentrated on those points, and every effort is made to bring the applicant up to par. When the organization feels the applicant is satisfactory they issue a certificate which is accepted without question at the reception centers and assures the applicant of acceptance if facilities are available to train him. This assistance should be of particular interest to 17 year olds wanting to get into the air corps. The Chicago office is at 180 West Washington street. The telephone number is State 4893.

DISCOVER BODY OF BABY IN BOX AT POST OFFICE

The body of a baby boy, contained in a brown cardboard box, has been received at the main Chicago postoffice. It was mailed from Boston, Mass., and reached Chicago on Feb. 6. Postal authorities have asked police assistance in searching for those who mailed it. The body was identified as that of a new born boy by Dr. S. A. Levinson of the coroner's office.

The body was wrapped in a cloth of flowery design, possibly drapery material, police said. A religious medallion was pinned to a woman's handkerchief which was around the neck of the infant.

Police are striving to trace the source of numerous telephone calls made to the office of Coroner A. L. Brodie Thursday night. The callers, a man and woman, asked, "Has a baby sent to Chicago arrived yet?" No attention was paid to the calls until discovery of the baby's body brought them to mind yesterday.

Snite Heads City Division in Red Cross Fund Drive

Organization of a city Red Cross campaign division, under the chairmanship of Fred B. Snite, president of the Local Loan company, was announced yesterday by Martin H. Kennelly, chairman of the $8,750,000 war fund drive to be launched March 1.

'EXPERT' SOLVES THE TAX PUZZLE: JUST RAISE 'EM!

House Hears Night School Theorist Tell All.

on his heels and announced that he had a perfect tax collecting formula.

"It's simple," he told the solemn faced congressmen, many years his senior. "Take A, multiply by B, and substract C plus, D, then multiply by E and divide the product by B."

The members had remained patient thru his earlier testimony even when he had informed the committee that payment of 3/44 of the 1942 tax liability every quarter thru 1945 would pay off that obligation. But the formula brought a quick remonstrance from Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.].

Took Week to Think it Up.

"What is this an algebra lesson or a tax hearing," he demanded.

Cohen hurriedly explained that he was merely showing how employers would calculate an employé's tax from his total earnings and exemptions and dividing it up into the number of pay periods for withholding purposes.

"Is this the WPB plan?" asked Knutson.

"No, sir," replied the witness. "I took a week off to do it."

"I can't think of a better way you could spend your time," replied Knutson. "How much will your plan raise?"

"I have that figured out, too," said Cohen. "Just didn't get around to giving it to you."

"We thought you'd forgotten something," the Minnesota congressman observed blandly.

President Seems Confused.

"I don't know whether to use the fiscal year or the calendar year—even the President seems confused about that," the witness began.

"Use either one—it's all the same to the citizen's pocket book," Knutson said.

"Well, I figure about $6,602,609,000 in new revenue," Cohen declared.

"That leaves us only about 10 billions to go," Knutson replied.

"There's the corporations . . ." Cohen began.

Knutson broke in:

"O, sure, we'll get it from the corporations—10 billions—easily. Yes, that solves everything."

$25,000 SALARY LIMIT REPEALER GETS TEST TODAY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The house ways and means committee will vote tomorrow on a proposal by Rep. Bertrand W. Gearhart [R., Cal.] to repeal by congressional action the $25,000 [after taxes] limitation on war time salaries imposed by executive order.

Indications were that the committee might write a bill whereby congress itself would fix a limit.

The salary limitation repealer, backed solidly by the 10 Republican members of the committee, was offered by Gearhart as a rider to the measure to raise the nation's debt limit from 125 to 210 billion dollars.

Deposits $6,000 in Bank; Escapes Fine for Imbibing

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12 [Special].—Stanley Badewicz, 49 years old, of 1754 South 65th street, who carried $6,000 in his pocket when arrested for being drunk Monday, is in good standing with Judge Harvey L. Neelen of the District court. Judge Neelen fined Badewicz $25 for being intoxicated but told him that if he would deposit the money in a bank or put it in a safety deposit box he would remit the fine. Today Badewicz produced a bank book which showed he had deposited the $6,000. Badewicz is a war worker who recently came here from Poland.

PETRILLO CITES TERMS TO LIFT BAN ON RECORDS

Invites Industry to Open Negotiations.

New York, Feb. 12 (AP).—The American Federation of Musicians [AFL] announced today it had submitted to large recording firms proposals to end its ban on the making of records by AFM members for public use, and invited industry representatives to a negotiations conference Monday.

James Caesar Petrillo, union president who issued the ban last Aug. 1, has contended that he ordered the stoppage to give more employment to more musicians.

The union chief has maintained thruout the dispute, which has been in the courts and before a senate committee, that thousands of his 138,000 members were not employed because of the juke box and the recordings used in dance halls and radio stations in this country and Canada.

Proposals by Union.

The union said it proposed:

1. A fund to reduce unemployment among members, to be created by fixed fees for every record and transcription reproduction and for mechanical devices and library service which the union says contributed to such unemployment. . . . The fund would be used also to foster and maintain musical talent and culture and music appreciation, and furnish free, live music to the public by means of symphony orchestras and bands.

2. Recording manufacturers to pay the union a fixed fee, negotiation to decide it, for each side of musical recordings made by members.

3. Members may make commercial or sustaining transcriptions without extra pay to the AFM, provided they are played only once. [Number of copies to be decided by agreement]. Companies renting transcriptions shall pay the union a percentage of rental charges, the percentage to be agreed upon.

4. Companies selling wired music shall pay the union a percentage of the price charged, negotiation to determine the percentage.

5. For each juke box used, a fixed, negotiated upon fee shall be paid the union annually.

Defied Senate Committee.

Petrillo asserted that the senate committee before which he appeared recently had asked that he lift the ban pending settlement, but that he had refused, because under such conditions "the thing would never get settled."

"We can't solve these problems ourselves," he declared. "Unless the industry helps us to solve the problems, we can't get anywhere. If the industry is fair about it, as we will be, this thing can be settled in a few weeks."

Available spokesmen for the recording industry would make no comment on the proposals, saying merely that they had been invited to Monday's conference.

FARMER KILLED, WIFE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Oscar Nelson, 45 years old, of Kingston, De Kalb county, a farmer, was fatally injured and his wife, Agnes, 50, was hurt yesterday when their car collided with an automobile at Harlem avenue and 79th street in Lyons township. Chester Lopinski, 36, of 7206 Archer avenue, Summit, was the driver of the other car.

Six persons were taken to Little Company of Mary hospital after a train-automobile crash at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing at 95th street and Ashland avenue. Arthur Anderson of 2222 West 113th street was the only victim in a serious condition. As soon as the crossing gates were lifted after the passing of a northbound train Anderson drove upon the tracks and his car was struck by a southbound train. His car was hurled against another and slightly injured its five occupants.

Edgar Lewis, 42, Negro, was killed by an automobile at 51st street and Cottage Grove avenue. He lived at 731 East 50th place. The driver was Hugh Benford, 4441 Langley avenue, city street employé.

Wojcieck Puc, 57, of 562 Adams street, a laborer, died in County hospital of injuries suffered Jan. 17 when he was struck by an automobile at Washington boulevard and Jefferson street. Andrew Curtis, 1134 South Monitor avenue, was the driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 60 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 56 were killed in Chicago where 1,568 were injured.

W-G-N FEATURES OPERA 'FAUST' ON AIR TONIGHT

A streamlined radio adaptation of Gounod's opera, "Faust," will be presented on the Chicago Theater of the Air over W-G-N, W59C, and the Mutual Broadcasting system from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Marion Claire will sing the leading feminine rôle of Marguerite and Eugene Conley that of Faust. Laurette Fillbrandt and Marvin Mueller will take the dramatic parts of these characters.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak.

The radio adaptation of this opera was prepared by Jack La Frandre, also director of this Saturday night series. Musical background will be provided by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus under the direction of Henry Weber. Robert Trendler is the vocal coach.

John MacDonald will sing the rôle of Mephistopheles, with John Barclay taking the speaking part. Bruce Foote will sing Valentine; Forrest Lewis will take his dramatic part. Bret Morrison will be the narrator.

KNOX FACES NEW QUIZ ON WINCHELL RADIO OUTBURST

Gossip Accused of Falsifying News.

BY WILLIAM MOORE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox had for consideration today a second set of questions regarding the naval status and conduct of Lt. Comm. Walter Winchell, a radio gossip, as the house naval affairs committee prepared to open public hearings next week on earlier queries.

Knox is scheduled to appear before the committee to give a full report on the first set of questions which concern Winchell's accusations against congress and the American people in his radio broadcasts and newspaper column.

Two lists of questions were submitted by Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] in house resolutions under which Knox is required to answer within seven days. The second set of questions, Hoffman disclosed today, take special cognizance of Winchell's broadcast last Sunday, which charged that the federal bureau of investigation, to stop an information leak in Washington, issued a purposely misleading story indicating that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill were meeting in Canada at the time of the Casablanca conference.

Story Denied by FBI.

Hoffman's resolution said Winchell declared that men guilty of permitting the story to leak out were trapped as a result. The story was promptly denied by the FBI. Hoffman charged, therefore, that "Lt. Comm. Winchell was again guilty of falsehood" and asked the navy what steps have been taken to punish him.

The new questions also accuse Winchell of writing in his column of last Tuesday:

"Hitler is losing ground in Russia, in the air over Germany, and on the sands of Africa. He seems to win only in congress."

Hoffman asked Knox if the statement about Hitler's winning in congress is not conduct unbecoming an officer.

Voters Called 'Damn Fools.'

Knox replied that Winchell's slap at "saboteurs who landed in congress" did not constitute scandalous conduct, but conceded that Winchell had referred to American voters as "damn fools" for electing the officials he was attacking.

Knox reported that Winchell was given confidential orders last March 17 assigning him to active duty, that this was special duty, and that the orders were still in effect when Winchell made his statement about the voters.

Hoffman's new questions ask this information:

"Was not the calling of voters 'damn fools' conduct unbecoming an officer? If so has any action been taken to punish him? Were his statements violations of navy rules? Did Winchell present the views of the navy? Are naval officers not required to submit public utterances to some branch of the government? Should not his statements have been submitted to the office of war information?

"Is the use of contemptuous language regarding congress permitted by the navy? Are naval officers permitted to challenge the patriotism of congressmen? What duty is Winchell performing for the navy? Is he a public relations officer of the navy? Who issued his confidential orders? Were they issued at the direction of President Roosevelt?"

BOARDS TO MAKE FINAL PLANS ON POINT RATIONING

Local rationing boards in Cook county outside of Chicago, in Du Page and Lake counties, and in Lake county, Indiana, will complete arrangements next week for the mass registration of consumers for point rationing which will be conducted thruout the nation Feb. 23 thru 26, Michael F. Mulcahy, area director for the office of price administration, said yesterday.

Most outlying communities will utilize school buildings and personnel, he said. Classes will be continued thru all or part of the regular school day in most instances. In Chicago, however, all grade school and college classes will be suspended for the week but high and trade school classes will not be interrupted.

Mulcahy explained that schools in the suburban areas usually can conduct the registration without suspending classes.

Elevator Unionists Ask for O'Grady Reinstatement

Approximately 1,600 members of the Elevator Operators and Starters' union, local 66, petitioned the executive board of the AFL Building Service Employés' International union yesterday to vacate the suspension order against their ousted president, James Leonard O'Grady. The petition was drawn by Francis Heisler, attorney for the appellants.

CHAPTER 22.

STAINED HANDKERCHIEF.

When Florrie was gone, March got up. Face and voice were grave as he said, "The analyst must have these at once. They're stained—something besides the burning. If, as I expect, that stain is blood, we have the reason why they survived the fire.

"The wet patch wouldn't burn, and somehow it must have screened the butterfly. Queer how the little things survive, isn't it?"

Miss Silver was as grave as he.

"Yes," she said.

Carey took Laura to the Grange cottage to see Sylvia Madison after lunch. Tim, it appeared, had been out ever since breakfast—"and then he only drank some coffee and went off." Sylvia, on the telephone, was very, very worried.

"It's all a nightmare," Carey said soberly as they walked down the drive—"and nightmares are a bit outside Sylvia's form. She's rather sweet, you know, and they used to be most awful happy, but she wants propping, and Tim has let her down flat."

There was a sound of tapping footsteps behind them. Turning, they beheld Miss Silver hurrying down the drive in an antique black cloth jacket shaped to the waist and a gray and black checked scarf which only partially covered the coat's own collar of nibbled, yellowish fur. A felt hat, from which she had removed a bunch of purple pansies, was secured by a jetted hatpin of pretentious size. She came up with them, holding the scarf.

"Agnes very kindly lent me this, but the ends fly out so. I am not really accustomed to wearing a scarf. My fur collar keeps me very snug, but the color is perhaps a little bright for present circumstances. May I join you as far as our ways lie together? I thought of paying a call upon Mrs. Madison. I fear that she may be feeling very much upset by what has occurred."

There was a slight dismayed pause. Carey's frown came down.

"Laura and I were going there," he said bluntly. "If she is upset—" Miss Silver broke in brightly.

"O, but I should not dream of staying. Do you know I guessed that you might be going there, and I rather welcomed the opportunity of accompanying you. But I have no intention of staying. I have something of Mrs. Madison's which I should like to return to her—that is all."

Stepping out briskly between two silent young people, she discoursed upon the weather, the beauties of a winter landscape, the difficulties of providing sufficient workers for the land in wartime.

"Mrs. Madison now—she hardly seems to be a country type, if you know what I mean, Mr. Desborough."

Mr. Desborough knew very well. Until things had gone wrong for her Sylvia had played at living in the country as charmingly as she had played at being Tim Madison's petted bride. Now the play was done.

He replied briefly, "No."

Miss Silver continued her bright conversation.

"No? I thought not. She has too sheltered a look, if I may say so. Of course, it is all right when her husband is here, but how does she manage when he is away? The lane between the cott

Tea at Casino to Fete Envoy from Australia

BY JUDITH CASS.

HEARTS and flowers naturally will be the motif for most of the gatherings planned for today and tomorrow, but no party arranged for St. Valentine's day could be more appropriate than the small one Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine is giving tomorrow afternoon, bridge followed by dinner, at the Casino. She will have Valentine decorations, of course, but Mrs. Valentine herself, who is to be hostess today for the English-Speaking union at its tea for Owen Dixon, will be the only Valentine of this gathering. The union is keeping expenses at a minimum—as is the fashion these days—for its reception for the minister from Australia to Washington, and so is dispensing with party ingredients other than the good food, refreshing drinks, and interesting guests that insure a successful affair.

Mr. Dixon, who has served on the Victoria Supreme court and the High court of Australia, was knighted in 1941. He spent yesterday in Springfield, attending the Lincoln's birthday ceremonies, and arrives in Chicago today. Frank A. Hecht, president of the union; Mr. Dixon, Mrs. Valentine, and Wilfred H. Gallienne, British consul general, and Mrs. Gallienne will form the receiving line for this afternoon at the Casino. Together with Mrs. Hecht and Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, the receiving line will have tea at a speakers' table, and the Australian envoy may be persuaded to speak briefly.

Assisting Mrs. Valentine as hostesses today will be Mrs. Benyaurd B. Wygant, Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, Miss Naomi Donnelley, Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mrs. Ralph James, Mrs. Herbert Bradley, Mrs. William B Greenlee, and Mrs. Silas Strawn. Some younger members of the union also will be on hand to assist with tea, among them Miss Margaret Hecht and Mrs. Herbert Woodward. Only members of the union and their immediate families have been invited to the reception.

Valentine Parties to Be Given at Several Clubs.

The Saddle and Cycle club will be festooned with hearts tonight for the club's Valentine dance, and the Chicago Yacht club will be appropriately decorated for its midshipmen's party tonight and for a members' supper tomorrow. The South Shore Country club is giving a Valentine's ball tonight, at which the invitations frankly invite members to renew old romances or begin new ones. A special orchestra will provide the proper romantic mood.

Jacques Gordon, violinist and one of the founders of the Tavern club, will be the special guest at the club's breakfast tomorrow. After breakfast Mr. Gordon and his ensemble will give a musical program.

Reservations for a buffet supper before the dance program by Jean Erdman and Merce Cunningham tomorrow night at the Arts club were closed a week ago, so popular are these Sunday evening gatherings. Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw, Mrs. Vincent Paul Gatti, Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mrs. Otho Ball, Mrs. Edward Leight, Mrs. Graham Aldis, and John Palmer are a few of those with reservations.

Knollwood Club Plans Another Sleigh Party.

The Knollwood club has planned another sleigh ride party for this evening, patterned after a successful one of a few weeks ago. In case there is no snow, the committee has hay racks ready for substitution. The George Rossiters, the Edward Wilsons, Mrs. Simpson Stevens, Thomas Dean, Leo Sheridan, the Donald Easters, and the Robert Kenyons are among those entertaining guests at the club's Valentine party.

The "35" dancing group, composed of 35 couples on the north shore, will give its second dance of the season tonight at the Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Before the party Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, the Lawrence Sizers, the John S. Manierres and the Thomas H. Knorrs will entertain at dinner. The group is planning a barn dance and box supper for March 13 and a dance for May 1, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Daniel Leonard.

The Indian Hill club's dance tonight will feature smorgasbord instead of Buttons Made of Plastic Give Bright Accent

BY REA SEEGER.

Tidbit buys around the shops are legion. Buttons for instance. If you want to see what the button makers have done with plastics, now is the time. Some of the best looking buttons ever used for decoration or as firm anchoring devices are made of nonpriority plastics. Huge ones for coats combine two blended colors or stunning contrasts, and the same sort of buttons are designed for accent duty on dresses.

Wood buttons are going strong. Pale honey, beige, copper, blonde, chestnut, and all the dark shades are ideal for tailored clothes of thin wool, for simply fashioned silk daytime dresses and for smart hand knit sweaters and dresses. The buttons made of two or even three colors of wood in slender panels are very effective. They will look smooth and smart on summer ginghams and linens, too. Transparent crystal buttons are combined with fresh looking colored insets, such as tiny flowers, geometric designs, foliage, and tricky twists of the colored plastics in the center. Transparent crystal forms the rims. All sizes and color combinations are available in these picture buttons.

There are all kinds of filigree metal buttons and clasps and belt buckles around, both in bright and dusky silver and in gold. They are extremely handsome accents for your dress parade clothes, silk suits especially. The very large discs are equal to solitary adornment high on the chest pocket, a double duty idea for a jeweled clip. Tiny filigree buttons will work magic as shining trim for lace blouses and the lace suits scheduled for summer time wear. Buttons these days make the most distinctive costumes.

Benefit Will Be Given for United China Relief in Hinsdale Tomorrow

A benefit for United China Relief that will be given tomorrow at the Hinsdale Community house promises to be even more successful than a similar venture last year which raised enough money to buy an ambulance for the Red Cross in China. The Rev. Theodore K. Vogler, pastor of the Hinsdale Union church, is chairman of the benefit committee, assisted by Mrs. Eugene W. Kettering, who is chairman of the planning committee, and Mrs. James Walker and Mrs. Archibald MacLeish, who are co-chairmen of the exhibits committee. A number of Hinsdale residents who have traveled in China and who have valuable collections of Chinese articles have agreed to exhibit them. An afternoon and evening program by Chinese singers and dancers and an address in the evening by Dr. Shih-chi Hu, secretary of the Cooperative League of China, are included in the benefit.

"There isn't very much that I can say in letters, but . . . after leaving where we were we left for here and not knowing we were coming from there to here, we couldn't tell if we would arrive here, but nevertheless we are now here and not there. The weather here is just as it is at this season, but quite unlike the weather where we were before we came here. After leaving by what we left by, we had a good trip. The land and water are just like they would be here and not anything like they are there. The people here are just like they look, but they don't look to be like they are where we came from."

Godiva to Hollywood.

It seems rather strange to go to Hollywood to get a cast for a farce on Hollywood, but that is what will happen to "Lady on Horseback," the Lady Godiva play by Chicagoans Ben Cohen and Seymour Korman which Fred Herendeen is streamlining, for there it goes within a month. After bobbing around for three years like unrequited love, the play now has been snatched up. Herbert Ward, who produced the first George White "Scandals," will produce it. Al Evans is composing the music and Herendeen the lyrics. Movie magnates are querying madly about movie rights. And co-author Korman, a war correspondent in London, doesn't know a thing about it.

Cadets Departing, So U. of C. Co-eds Open a Prom Date Bureau

Women students at the University of Chicago set up a date registration bureau for substitute escorts yesterday when they learned that army air force reserve cadets are to report for active duty Feb. 18, just two days before the Washington prom, to be held the night of Feb. 20 at the Shoreland hotel.

The number of men enrolled at the university, already depleted by the war, will be reduced 94 more when the air cadets leave. Several hundred soldiers are there studying meteorology, but they must be in their dormitories by 11 p. m. Curfew for sailors enrolled in radio and signal courses is 9:30 p. m.

Miss Betty Headland, 20 years old, of Beverly Hills, a member of the prom committee, said the object of the date bureau, operating in Mandel hall, "is to get the girls to give personal data about themselves, and to fill the orders of fellows for glamour girls or just dates." The prom will be the 39th annual, and the last for the duration.

Madeline Hedly Will Be Married This Afternoon

For her marriage at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in St. Chrysostom's church to Gordon Arthur Kiernan, Miss Madeline Hedly will wear the wedding dress and veil in which her sister, Marion, became the bride of Robert W. Buckley. Mrs. Buckley will serve as matron of honor, and her young son, Robert Hedly Buckley, as ring bearer. Also preceding the bride to the altar will be Mrs. Lewis C. Davis, Mrs. Edwin T. Johnson III. of Detroit, the bride's cousin; Miss Betsy Richards, Miss Marilyn Gooder, and the flower girl, 4 year old Judy Cagney, daughter of the Richard Cagneys of Wilmette.

Mr. Buckley will be best man for Mr. Kierman, whose parents, the Arthur Kiernans, are here from Detroit for the wedding. Ushering will be Mr. Johnson, Edward H. Dunn, Mr. Cagney, and Earl Russell. After the ceremony the bride's father, Arthur Howard Hedly, will give a reception in the Stone street apartment which the Buckleys have taken for the winter. After a two-week trip thru the south Mr. Kiernan and his bride will be at home in Detroit.

The details of the marriage yesterday in Coronado, Cal., of Mrs. Thorne Gillespie and Rudolf E. Knepper are still unknown to members of the Thorne family in Chicago, but it is supposed that the wedding took place in the afternoon in the home of the bride's parents, the Robert J. Thornes. Mr. Knepper, a former Onwentsia golf champion, is in the navy, and he and his bride will continue to live in California.

Mrs. Marc A. Law is in Seattle, Wash., for the marriage at 2 o'clock today of her daughter, Mary Louise, to Ensign William Richard Goodier, U. S. N. R. Lt. and Mrs. Joseph L. Kennicott of Highland Park, who are stationed in Tacoma, Wash., will be the only attendants. Ensign Goodier is the son of Harvey T. Goodier, American consul at Fort William, Ont., and Mrs. Goodier. He and his bride will live near his navy post in Seattle.

Miss Margaret E. Koch and Ensign Albert H. Pfanschmidt Jr. will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in the Church of Our Saviour, Elmhurst, with a reception following in the Elmhurst home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Paul W. Koch. Miss Koch was graduated from Stephens college. Her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pfanschmidt of Peoria, was graduated from the Bradley Institute of Technology and has been instructing in the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Northwestern university. He and his bride will live on the north side until Ensign Pfanschmidt reports for sea duty.

Education Council Appproves Church Agencies' Merger

The International Council of Religious Education yesterday approved the plan of merger for eight interchurch coöperative agencies—of which it is one—into the North American Council of Churches of Christ. The action of the educational council, meeting in the closing day of a week's conference, raises to six the number of organizations now approving the merger.

In the absence of Dean Luther A. Weigle of Yale university, commission chairman, Dr. Arlo A. Brown, president of Drew university, Madison, N. J., read the report which was adopted. The plan now will be sent to the 73 groups participating with the council for ratification. These groups include education boards of 42 denominations and state and city councils.

The eight groups include the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Home Missions council, the Foreign Missions Conference of North America, the Council of Church Boards of Education, and the United Council of Church Women. Yet to approve the merger are the Missionary Education movement and the United Stewardship council.

Valentine Greeting.

I want no pointed Cupid's darts
To pierce my office life;
In fact, I'm quite content to know

And so, I send no hearts and flowers,
No frilly valentine—
For tho you're quite a sweetheart,

O, please, please don't be mine!

Winter Into Summer.

"Walking along Michigan avenue in a blizzard with a brisk February wind making progress difficult, I glanced into a shop window and saw a bit of summer in the form of a gay embroidered handkerchief. 'Made in Switzerland,' said the tag attached to it.

"I was suddenly back on a narrow little street in Lucerne by a lake, calm and peaceful and incredibly blue. Above towered the Alps, like a massive protector of the small village below. The soft purple of the Alpine glow cast itself over the snow, yet it was summer and bowers of deep red roses were in full, fragrant bloom.

"At the foot of the street sat a girl in native dress—before her a framework of wood at which she gazed thru a small magnifying glass at the picture she was creating with a tiny embroidery needle. There, on a piece of linen as delicately white as the mountain peaks above her, the girl was creating a picture of her homeland — a composite tapestry which transported me from the chill of winter in Chicago to summer in Lucerne."—Agnes W. Cosgrove.

Keeping You Posted.

Just to keep you posted: Flossie Valentine is still in the Chicago telephone directory. She is a foot specialist—not a heart specialist.

Thoughts at the Counter.

In 1857 one company in New York City sold valentines priced from 3 cents to $30—the latter an enormous framed greeting. . . . In the 1800s there were books of verses—"Valentine Writers"—for those too shy to speak. . . . One of the earliest valentines was sent by Charles, duke of Orleans, in 1415 to his wife while he was in prison after the battle of Agincourt, showing that fighting and loving have been going on a long time. . . . A New York collector owns a Civil war valentine kidding a "newly commissioned officer." . . . The girls at the valentine counters this year have noticed that tender messages are more to the customer's liking than comic greetings. . . . Possibly it is due to the teaching of my dear mother [who always had me take valentines to school for the youngsters who might not get any] that I wish I knew the homeliest, awkwardest, gangliest, lonesomest raw recruit in all Uncle Sam's army so I could send him a simply elegant valentine.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Monty Woolley, expert in portrayal of the eccentric egotist, finds pliable yarn for his knitting in "Life Begins at Eight-Thirty." He is, however, by no means the whole show. The picture is vital and beguiling quite as much because of Ida Lupino's luminous impersonation. And it is also deeply in debt for sustained interest to the work of Sara Allgood and Cornel Wilde, who plays his first top rôle in a major production.

Madden Thomas is a once famous Shakespearean actor, whose love for liquor has put him on the skids without in any way curbing his ebullient spirits or his mania for pat and acid comment. . . . His crippled daughter, Kathi, adores him, and, tho she understands him too well, stands by him. . . . Thomas will take any old job—and, the moment it palls, as quickly lose it. . . . He is a Santa Claus—and VERY high when the picture opens. So high that the police take him home and a young composer who lives in the building helps him up the stairs to his apartment—thus meeting the gentle Kathi.

Between her and the shy young composer springs a beautiful romance. From here on Robert and his fat and wealthy aunt, Mrs. Lothian, who for many years has adored Thomas, despite drink, disposition, and varied insults to herself, are potent factors in the infuriatingly human story that unfolds. It is a symphony of selfishness and selflessness, with Woolley playing the blatant central theme and Miss Lupino the gentle, insistent minor chords, which toward the end gain a volume and control you have yearned for. [How's that, Miss Cassidy?]

The finale is lovely! It fools you so!

At first I was afraid Mr. Woolley was going to insist on being "The Man Who Came to Dinner" as he did in "Pied Piper." . . . But he got smart and makes Madden Thomas "Mr. Theater" himself.

See you tomorrow.

Rose Arbanas Shows Promise in Recital of Career in Mozart

Rose Arbanas, lyric soprano, appeared in Kimball hall recital last night, with Jasna Bjankini as accompanist. Miss Arbanas' voice is so fresh it shines, and it has a natural accuracy of placement and articulation that could mean a career in Mozart and in the more subtle French songs—values she recognized by including both on her program. But potentialities are one thing and developing them is quite another. Despite a charming voice, her singing is immature in quality and technique, and she skims the shallow surface of songs without sensing their significance. She needs time and training, but she has a voice worth encouraging.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 12.—Hedy Lamarr's returning to work in Arthur Hornblow's picture at Metro, which must mean that some arrangements for a settlement of that lawsuit have been made. But so far, every one is keeping mum, including Hedy. . . .

Jane Randolph.

Nice to know that Joe Louis has been given the green light to appear in Irving Berlin's picture "This Is the Army." . . . I'm laughing. Lady Korda makes another announcement. After three more pictures, including present one, she plans to retire. When she returned from entertaining our boys overseas, she made an announcement—she'd retire from our screen and return to England. The next day she went out and got herself a new agent and lined up three pictures. Seeing is believing, says I. . . . "The Cat People," made for $138,000, and well on its way to gross over a million, will be followed by a sequel. "Curse of the Cat People," with Chet Smith and Jane Randolph. Too bad they killed off Simone Simon in the first. It's a new kind of horror dish.

Builder-Upper.

Paul Lukas' addition to "Hostages" gives that one a superb cast, what with Luise Rainer, Arturo De Cordova, Oscar Homolka, Rex Williams, and Frank Tuttle directing. Luise Rainer asked for only simple clothes in this. Said she, "If I were overdressed today, I'd be criticized as severely as tho I had three turkeys and a couple of hams on the table at the same time. . . . Hollywood's thinking of having movie stars do movie shorts for foreign charities. . . . Gabin and Dietrich in the dimmest corner of Cock 'n' Bull, looking mighty glum after reconciliation.

Tit for Tat.

Louis Calhern, who wrote a piece about touring in "Life with Father," has been asked to do his autobiography. He's started with a chapter "What My Children Might Have Been Like If I Had Any," and comments, "I dare say they would have inherited all the unpleasant characteristics of my three ex-wives, including Ilka Chase." Sounds as tho he's going to return the compliment Ilka paid him in her book. . . . Betty Hutton let out an Indian war whoop when she told me studio's moving heaven and earth to get Humphrey Bogart to play with her in "Texas Guinan." . . . John Emery, beard and all, has replaced Vincent Price in "Angel Street" on Broadway. John's already yearning for Hollywood. . . . Director George Marshall telephoned his son in Georgia the other day. Offspring answered, "Hello, Pop! Some respect, please! You're now speaking to Corp. George Marshall."

Came Prepared.

Senator's daughter, Mimi Chandler, rushed into Greer's for new dress she had made for opening of the Officers' club at Santa Anita. Sure, it's the Turf club. Mimi had in her arms a ruff of pink tulle measuring five yards. 'Twas big enough to catch the whole army in. . . . Gosh! Joining the army did things to Frank Capra. Now he'll only talk to those in uniform of his rank—or higher. You know—like the Cabots and the Lodges. . . . Life is advancing by leaps and bounds on the Ann Sheridan ranch. Since she's been away, she's had 14 baby chicks and two litters of kittens. . . . Mickey Rooney, driving his big car around Metro, ran into a fire plug, which threw his pal Sidney Miller into the windshield. Now Sidney's wearing stitches.

Taking Chances.

Most of our stars, like Claudette and Ginger, who are 'way over ceiling, decided, in spite of the $25,000 salary limit, to go right on making pictures. Now they're not so sure, because the government has gathered up so many of our top photographers, and are they important! They can make you look 18 or 80—and without them, life is just not bearable. . . . No flies on 20th,—lifting its option on Milton Berle, whose popularity, both in the "Ziegfeld Follies" and on radio, is mounting by leaps and bounds. He can't do a picture till fall. . . . I hope if Jinx Falkenburg's brother Bobbie gets a part in "North Star," he'll be given a chance to act, which so far has been denied his sister.

Nice Words.

Comm. Ralph Emerson brought messages from the South Pacific from Comm. Gene Markey, also Bob Montgomery. Tells me Edgar Rice Burroughs is a war correspondent there, sleeps on the ground most of the time with rest of the youngsters, gets younger every day. Won't come home, says, "My place is here until this mess is over." Emerson, who's in aviation, went to England in 1940 for the R. A. F., and thru him, they adapted many of our photographic tricks from the movies, which have come in mighty handy for them and for us. "Yes," said he, "our picture people are something to shout about."

Keep on Trying

Buddy De Sylva moaning low because Joe Breen had cut out the hottest scene in "China" between Loretta Young and Alan Ladd. . . . Veronica Lake, with black hair and brown lens under her eyelids, will get that part in "Dr. Wassell" if De Mille doesn't remember to be stubborn. When first suggested, he said she couldn't possibly do it. . . . If Duncan sisters want to round up some talent for their "Hit Parade" musical, all they have to do is make a house to house canvass of the valley, and they can find more talent from vaudeville than we have in the studios.

The Stage

—By Cecil Smith—

The Gilbert and Sullivan players at the Studebaker theater, whose legal name is the Boston Comic Opera company [because the company gave its first performances in Boston, and it had to have some kind of name] pull up stakes after tonight's repetition of "The Mikado." The final performance will begin 15 minutes earlier than usual, at 8:15, because the members of the company have to catch an 11:30 train to reach their next stand in time.

This afternoon "Ruddigore" will be presented for the first and only time. The addition of this rarely performed opera swells the fortnight's total to seven different works, among which have been all the most popular Gilbert and Sullivan collaborations except "The Gondoliers" and "The Yeomen of the Guard."

I am not in a good position to discuss the merits of "Ruddigore," never having heard it except on phonograph records. The D'Oyly Carte company did not include this opera in its repertory in its last appearances here, and it would take a statistician with more complete files than mine to discover the date of its last professional presentation here.

The libretto of "Ruddigore" is a satire upon the popular melodrama of Gilbert's day. It is marked by a unique and eerie scene in which half a dozen Murgatroyd ancestors emerge from their picture frames in the baronial hall in order to berate the latest Murgatroyd baronet for failing to do his daily duty properly. This duty, of committing one ugly sin or misdeed each day, appeals to the current Murgatroyd so little that for some time he successfully conceals his identity by pretending to be a yokel named Robin Oakapple. When he is forced to resume his proper noble guise, a series of complications ensues which only a typical Gilbertian syllogism can resolve in time for the final curtain.

The Boston Comic Opera company's road schedule, arranged in the face of war time transportation difficulties, leads to the west coast by way of many intermediate stops from Des Moines to Salt Lake City. In most one night stands "The Mikado" will be given, tho Des Moines gets "The Pirates of Penzance."

[ADVERTISMENT]

Film is an enemy of toilet sanitation

Unsanitary film collects on toilet bowls constantly. You can't help it. But you can remove it quickly and easily—with Sani-Flush. No unpleasant scrubbing. Each application cleans away many recurring toilet germs and a cause of toilet odors. Use it at least twice a week.

Don't confuse Sani-Flush with ordinary cleansers. It works chemically. Cleans the hidden trap. Sani-Flush is absolutely safe in septic tanks* and toilet connections when used according to directions on can. Sold everywhere. Two handy sizes.

*FREE—For Septic Tank Owners—Eminent scientific authorities have proved how easy and safe Sani-Flush is for toilet sanitation with septic tanks. Write for their interesting report. It is free. Address: The Hygienic Products Company, Dept. 51, Canton, Ohio.

Meat and Bean Recipes Appear on Honor List

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1943: By The Chicago Tribune.]

A Nebraska reader asks if the prize recipe contest editors have a prejudice against entries from her state. No, of course not, and I hasten to add that our very first $5 prize winner was a Nebraskan.

But, like all conscientious cooks, our editors are prejudiced in favor of any really good recipe that manages to dodge war time food restrictions and shortages. Such a recipe is welcomed from any reader in any state in the Union.

Before you put your entry in the mail, won't you please check to see that the ingredients are available in the stores? Then, if you're in doubt as to the economy of said recipe, make a quick calculation of the total cost of the ingredients at today's prices. Recipes that call for a great many eggs or other expensive foods aren't likely to win a prize.

Two recipes using meat sundries and two using that good protein food, lima beans, make up today's honorable mention awards in the contest.

Tripe à la Varsovie.

[Serves six.]

3 pounds tripe
1 soup bone
3 carrots sliced thin
1 stalk celery, cut up
1 large onion, sliced
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Salt, pepper
Dash of nutmeg
Meat sauce [Worcestershire or similar]
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon marjoram
½ cup top milk [optional]
¾ pound ground suet
2 eggs
Cracker meal
1 small bunch parsley

Wash tripe and soak in cold water for 1 hour. Drain, cover with fresh water, and bring to a boil. Drain and cover with fresh cold water. Simmer 3 hours in covered kettle. In separate kettle cook soup bone with vegetables to make a stock. Cut cooked tripe in thin strips and cover with stock. Blend melted butter and flour and stir in a little of the stock. Add to tripe and cook, stirring until thickened. Add salt and pepper to taste, meat sauce, and other spices. Stir in top milk. Meanwhile, blend ground suet with beaten egg yolks and add enough cracker meal to make a stiff dough. Fold in egg whites, parsley, and salt and pepper to taste. Drop this dough into stock for dumplings. Cover tightly and cook 20 minutes or until dumplings are tender.

MARY B. SMIETANKA,
7345 Oriesby avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Old Fashioned Kidney Stew.

[Serves six.]

3 beef kidneys
3 tablespoons fat
¼ cup flour
2 cups water
3 teaspoons minced onion
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 cups hot boiled rice
Toast strips

Split kidneys and remove core, skin, and hard membrane. Cut into sections. Cover with cold, salted water and soak 1 hour. Drain. Sauté in hot fat until lightly browned. Add flour, stirring in well. Brown flour, stirring. thruout. Add water, onion, pimiento, and seasonings. Cover and cook until tender, about half an hour. Keep at simmering temperature. Serve on hot rice with toast strips as garnish.

MRS. MARY NEWMAN,
165 15th avenue, Columbus, O.

Barbecued Limas.

[Serves eight.]

2 cups dried lima beans
½ pound salt pork
1 small onion, sliced
1 clove garlic, chopped
¼ cup fat
1½ tablespoons prepared mustard
1½ teaspoons chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 can tomato soup [10½ ounces]
⅓ cup vinegar

Soak beans overnight. Drain and add water to cover. Add half the salt pork and cook slowly until tender. Drain and reserve 1½ cups of the cooking liquid. Brown onion and garlic in fat and add mustard, chili powder, salt, soup, and vinegar. Cook 5 minutes. Alternate limas and this sauce in a greased casserole and top with remaining salt pork cut in strips. Bake in a hot [400 degrees] oven for half an hour. MRS. T. AMEDEI, 752 Van Buren street, Gary, Ind.

Lima Warbit.

[Serves six.]

1 cup dried lima beans
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon sage
½ teaspoon pepper
⅔ cup rolled and sifted cracker crumbs

Pick over and wash limas. Cover with water and soak overnight. Drain, add 1 quart of cold water and the salt. Boil until soft. Force thru coarse strainer and add remaining ingredients in order listed. Roll in additional cracker crumbs, then in 1 beaten egg and again in meal. Sauté in greased skillet until well browned on all sides. Serve with tomato sauce.

MRS. ROBERT KERBER,
7244 Harvard avenue, Chicago, Ill.

TODAY'S $5 PRIZE RECIPE

Green Pea Salad.

[A hearty salad.]

[Serves six.]

2 cups cooked peas, drained
1 cup salted Spanish peanuts
1 cup chopped sweet pickles
¾ cup salad dressing

Mix all ingredients and chill well. Serve on lettuce leaves.

Zeta Phi Eta Alumnae.

The Beta alumnae group of Zeta Phi Eta, speech arts sorority, will gather for a meeting and program today at the home of Mrs. R. G. Peterson, 3202 Lake Shore drive. A program will be given by Judith Waller.

Two Tailored Designs

DRESS AND SUIT.

The suspender-shoulder jumper dress is a grand one for in town or vacationing. With its contrasting, preferably gay, printed blouse, it's a spring-like twosome. The girl's suit has a longish jacket like those big sister is including in her spring collection. The skirt has suspenders.

Style No. 2706 is designed for sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 and 36, 38, and 40 inch bust measurements. Size 16 requires, for jumper, 3 yards of 35 inch or 2¾ yards of 39 inch material; for short-sleeved blouse, 2 yards of 35 inch or 1¾ yards of 39 inch.

Style No. 3194 is designed for sizes 4, 6, 8, 10, 12, and 14. Size 8 requires 3¼ yards of 35 inch or 2⅛ yards of 54 inch material.

Each pattern costs 10 cents, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost (coin preferred—wrap it carefully), for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT: Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The Clotilde pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

Women in War Work

By Kate Massee

Forty-seven WAVES officer candidates left yesterday for training at Smith college. Eighteen young women from the metropolitan Chicago area were among one of the largest officer training groups to leave here. They included Corinne Anderson, Ethel Anderson, Wilma Bangert, Billie Bender, Elizabeth Best, Emily Butler, Agnes Fraser, Irene French, Frances Hardy, Virginia Hardy, Frances Lutz, Albina Miller, Mary Rodger, Gertrude Smit, Lura Strawn, Florence Turnbull, Jean Wentworth, and Mary Daly.

A group of SPARS also left yesterday. They will take boot training at Hunter college in New York. On Tuesday, 170 WAVES enlistees will follow them to Hunter. The groups will be the first contingent to be trained there.

Chicago's Hungarians have pledged to sell war bonds totaling $100,000 for a war bond concert at 3 o'clock Sunday, Feb. 21, at the Civic theater, 20 North Wacker drive. Alexander Sved, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera; Miss Maria Matyas, member of the Chicago Opera company, and Leo Kopp, conductor of the Chicago Civic Opera will entertain. The purchase of a war bond will constitute a ticket of admission. Hungarian women, churches, and societies thruout the city are coöperating to reach the goal. Dr. Gordon Laing, chairman of the Foreign Origin groups, and Mrs. John Sinko, chairman of the Hungarian committee of the Chicago and Cook county war savings staff, head the committees.

A series of four cappings will see 98 new members added to the ranks of the Red Cross Volunteers Nurses' Aid corps between today and next Friday, according to Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, chairman of the nurses' aid corps of the Red Cross in Chicago.

Thirty-one nurses' aids will be graduated at 2:30 o'clock today at Michael Reese hospital. Fifteen women who have trained at Ingalls Memorial hospital will be capped in a ceremony Thursday at the Elks club in Harvey. A total of 27 will be capped Friday at the Cook county hospital, and 25 will be graduated the same day at St. Luke's.

The graduating aids have completed 45 hours of practical experience in hospital wards and 40 hours of classroom work. Upon graduation they have pledged to serve 12 hours weekly.

Mrs. Spiegel said many more nurses' aids are needed. She urged women over 18 who are American citizens and in good health to apply to Red Cross headquarters, 529 South Wabash avenue.

Hearts and flowers and cupids will set the pace for the first formal ball at the Officers' club in the Hotel Knickerbocker tonight. All commissioned men, their wives, or women friends, and WAACs, WAVES, SPARS, and army and navy nurses have been invited to attend. The club is sponsored by members of the Business and Professional Women's club. Mrs. Allan Hurst heads the committee.

Mrs. Allan Hurst.

The Y. W. C. A. has sent out an SOS for women volunteers who are not afraid of losing a little beauty sleep to serve in the organization's new program of midnight to 4 a. m. parties for night shift workers.

Mrs. Hugh Bogardus is chairman of the committee on volunteers, and the parties, in which the U. S. O. is cooperating will be held every two weeks at the west side center. The next one will be on Feb. 19. Volunteers assist staff members by serving as general hostesses, registering guests, and passing out roller skates and refreshments. Women willing to do their bit for the men and women who work at night to keep Chicago's factories turning out war materials should apply to Mrs. Bogardus, 203 North Wabash avenue.

Mrs. Ambrose Diehl, newly appointed national executive director of the Association of Army and Navy Wives is spending the week-end in Chicago conferring with Mrs. Carter Collins, national organizing chairman of the association. The group's plans for the year and the manner in which it can best coöperate with other agencies, will be discussed. Besides heading the army and navy wives group, Mrs. Diehl is chairman of the war activities committee of the National Council on Women. Mrs. Millard B. Kennedy, president of the local unit, is entertaining for Mrs. Diehl and Mrs. Collins tomorrow at her home in Evanston.

[This department reports on women's war activities and answers questions regarding such activities.]

4 Chicago Consulates of Latin Nations Tell Changes in Personnel

Four Latin American consulates in Chicago have announced transfers of personnel. Don Ricardo Hill, consul general of Mexico, has been sent to New York, and Mario Lasso has taken his place here. Peru's consul general, Don Federico Elguera, has been transferred to New Orleans, La., where he will serve as consul general for the south central states, and F. W. Swanson is acting consul here, pending the arrival on March 1 of Antonio Picasso. Don Egidio da Camara Souza, consul general of Brazil, also has been transferred to New York to take over the directorship of the Brazilian government bureau, and the former vice consul, Vincente Paulo Gatti, is acting consul here. Don Ernest Lecointe, consul of Bolivia, having retired from service, is succeeded by Arturo Silva.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1943: By Ely Culbertson.]

Few things are more important, on defense, than to "read" partner's opening lead and to determine whether or not the known conditions warrant the return of the led suit. Note today's hand:

North, dealer.
East-West vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

	NORTH
	♠ K 9 8
	♥ 10
	♦ J 8 7 4 3

	SOUTH
	♠ 10 6
	♥ A 9 6
	♦ A K Q 9
	♣ J 7 4 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	1 spade
3 diamonds	Pass	Pass	Pass

Altho East had considerable strength, he was unable to act over North's three diamond bid, his shortness in spades precluding a double raise of West's overcall. West, despite his vulnerability and the fact that his honor strength was far from robust, might well have contested the contract by bidding three hearts, simply on his distribution and on the significant fact that the opponents had stopped at three diamonds.

West opened the club deuce, even tho he had only one trump. Declarer put in dummy's nine spot [for some strange reason of his own], and East won with the queen. Now, correctly analyzing that the club deuce lead must either have been a singleton or from four to the jack, East saw that he could not lose by returning a club. In the former event, West would ruff and East still would have another club trick in the king. If, by remote chance, declarer had ducked the first club lead when holding a singleton, West would have the jack to force dummy's ace and East's K-8 would still lie over the 10-5.

Actually, of course [as was to be expected], West ruffed the club return and shifted to a spade. Dummy's king was played. East won and cashed the spade jack, then led a low heart. Declarer won and drew trumps, but still had to concede a club trick to East's king, and the contract was down one.

Bishop Manning Raps 'Intrusion' by Archbishop

New York, Feb. 12 (AP).—Bishop William T. Manning tonight branded as an "ecclesiastical intrusion" and "highly improper" a recently published letter of the Archbishop of Canterbury which said proposed union of the Episcopal and Presbyterian churches would be "a great contribution towards the cause we all have at heart."

The letter of the most Rev. William Temple, appearing in recent Episcopal church publications, among them The Churchmen and the Living Church, was addressed to the Rt. Rev. Edward L. Persons, retired bishop of California and chairman of the commission on approaches to unity.

Declaring "the proposal in question is a most acutely controversial one in the Episcopal church and for that reason, if for no other, the Archbishop should have refrained from any expression in regard to it," the bishop of New York said in a letter to church papers:

"The presiding bishop of our own church has not felt it right to express himself publicly on this controversial question; why then should the Archbishop of Canterbury be asked by Bishop Parsons to make a statement for publication in regard to it, and why has the archbishop allowed himself to do so?"

Bishop Manning said the Archbishop of Canterbury was "gravely misinformed" if he obtained the impression that the majority of Episcopalians favored union with the Presbyterian church.

"There has at present been no evidence that this measure is supported by a majority but on the contrary it is certain that a great number of our clergy and laity, and of our most competent scholars hold that this proposal is irreconcilable with, and destructive of, the principles and teachings of the prayer book as to the apostolic ministry," he said.

"I believe firmly," he added, "that this proposal will be rejected by our general convention, but if it were adopted this would beyond any question, bring actual crisis and disruption to the Episcopal church."

Dr. John Knox Will Join N. Y. Seminary's Faculty

New York, Feb. 12 [Special].—The Rev. Dr. John Knox, professor of new testament and homiletics in the divinity school of the University of Chicago, has accepted a call to the faculty of Union Theological seminary here and will begin his duties here when the seminary reopens this autumn. The Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, president, made the announcement today. Dr. Knox was graduated in 1919 from Randolph-Macon college; in 1925 he received a bachelor of divinity degree from Emory university, and in 1935 a Ph. D. degree from the University of Chicago.

Crocheted Child's Dress

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

An attractive, yet durable crocheted dress for youngsters from 2 to 8 is an inexpensive and quickly made needlework item. It has fashion from the small yoke and puffed sleeves down to the skirt. The body of the dress is done in shell stitch and the yoke in single and double crochet.

For instructions in crocheting the child's dress from 2 to 8, No. 882, send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Inbetween Age Boy Needs Love of His Father

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1943: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

For those fathers who are fortunate enough in this war time to be at home with their inbetween age children during this period of their growth it is especially important that they learn to look upon them with understanding eyes, and with tolerance for those aspects of their behavior which often happen to infringe upon the convenience of a grownup.

Fathers should try to see, in preadolescence years, not only a lively and often obstreperous child, but a man or woman in the making, for the teens, which look so far away, have a way of swooping down suddenly. Then comes maturity.

In this turbulent world children need all the happiness and peace their home can give them. The misunderstood inbetweens, especially, need it. The more they have while they are young and at home the more they will be fitted to cope with the world of tomorrow, with all the major changes and adjustments that inevitably come in with a post-war period.

It would be absurd to say that any of our children are untouched by the war. They all have, according to their age and temperament, fears, misgivings, and other reactions to it. Most of them have actually participated in one way or another.

But the middle part of this period we call the "inbetween age" [6 to 12] is on the whole probably the most carefree, objective, and happy-go-lucky time of a child's life, being, in a way, childhood's last stand before the onset of adolescence. It should not be marred, as it too often is, by the friction and scolding and disapproval that cloud the home atmosphere. This cloud is frequently the result of a father's misunderstanding.

valentines. The party will be held in the Village, which is the part of the clubhouse that is kept heated during the winter. Dancing will follow. The club's final dinner-dance of the winter will be held on Feb. 27.

Benefit Lecture Today Aids Poetry Magazine.

The Chicago committee on funds to aid Poetry magazine has invited Hubert Norman Pullar to be its special guest at luncheon today following David Daiches' lecture on "Aspects of Contemporary Poetry." The talk, second in the benefit series, will be given at 11 o'clock in the Arts club. Both Mr. Daiches, a member of the faculty at the University of Chicago, and Mr. Pullar, who recently came here from Istanbul, Turkey, to be vice consul in the British consulate, are of Scotch descent. Mr. Daiches expects to leave soon for Scotland.

Among those at the speaker's table today will be Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Arthur Meeker Jr., Mrs. Cecil Barnes, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Pargellis. Mrs. Moisant Griffiths, Miss Edith Wyatt, Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, and Mrs. Edward Rothbart are among those with reservations for luncheon parties.

Singing with the Radcliffe Choral society on a benefit program for the united nations relief fund tonight will be Miss Mary Alden Lee, daughter of Mrs. William George Lee of Astor street.

N. U. Settlement Children Will Get Valentine Gifts.

The children in the pre-school group at Northwestern university settlement will have a happy Valentine's day, for baby food jars filled with candies by the settlement's junior board will be distributed among them. Members of the junior board are doing their part in other ways than working for the settlement. Mrs. James Peirce, the president, has been a blood donor, and three officers, Mrs. William Holbrook, Mrs. William Campbell, and Miss Evelyn Swift are nurses' aids. Miss Edith Lapham also is doing nurses' aid work; Mrs. William Taylor is associated with the U. S. O., and Mrs. Allan Howard is an air raid warden.

Mrs. Robert C. Haskins is observing her 81st birthday anniversary today in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she is spending the winter.

Catherine Louise Lowrey's Engagement Is Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Roderick Lowrey of Winnetka have announced the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Louise, to George Noble Bishop Jr. of St. Louis, Mo. Miss Lowrey attended the North Shore Country Day school, Dana Hall, and Denison university, and at present is studying at the National College of Education. Her fiancé was graduated last month from Grinnell college, where he was captain of the football team last fall. He expects to enter the army soon. Miss Lowrey's sister, Constance, was married at Christmas time to Robert Borchert Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Elsworth Keith of Hinsdale announce the engagement of their daughter, Betsy Northup, to Lt. Robert W. Rankin, son of Mrs. Walter Rankin of Western Springs. Miss Keith attended the University of Colorado. Her fiancé is stationed at Fort Riley, Kansas.

Capt. and Mrs. Oluf A. Christensen of Arlington Heights announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane, to Cadet Charles T. Mickelberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mickelberry of Constance avenue. Miss Christensen is a senior at Beloit college, which her fiancé also attended. Thru the Looking Glass

One of our readers writes that his wife is strenuously opposed to having their high school age daughter take even the minimum of physical training at school, and particularly opposed to having the 15 year old go out for some voluntary courses in physical fitness that the school is suggesting. The mother feels that the girl will become unattractively muscular. He wants to know if we agree.

We don't. We think the girl will be healthier and happier and handsomer if she takes a physical fitness course. The modern exercises that have been developed for girls and women are not to be confused with the old setting ups and dumbbell swings of the "physical jerks" era. They're rhythmic exercises that develop strength, flexibility, and coordination and guarantee a better figure than she otherwise could have.

The exercises of the old school that developed bulgy muscles have been discarded. The ones taught in most schools today are all of the rhythmic type that streamline the figure and develop smooth grace.

Today's young woman is expected to be healthy, and to look it. We all can be thankful, for many reasons, that the fashion for being thin and wan and vapourish is definitely dead. It seems to us a great injustice to try to make any girl an orchid in an era when sturdiness and vitality are recognized for their true worth. The physical fitness courses for girls will give us a crop of healthier, more attractive women a few years from now.

INDIANA FACES BADGERS; ILLINI AT MINNESOTA

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

SEAMAN ART STEWART of the British navy has scored 111 ring victories in as many starts since entering the service. . . . Stewart, a South African, is called the "fighting parson" because he kneels in prayer in his dressing room before each battle. . . . When Leo Durocher was asked about the Dodgers' pennant chances for 1943, he replied, "With things the way they are, even the Phils have a chance this year." That should be great news for Hans Lobert. . . . The Tigers have heard nothing officially from Outfielder Roger Cramer, who is working as a carpenter on new barracks at Fort Dix, N. J. . . . He was reported to have said that he expects to help "win the war with his saw and hammer." . . . Ed Barrow steps up to deny the government's claim that Joe DiMaggio was paid $42,000 last season. . . . "The real figure," says Ed, "was $43,750." . . . Sports fans in California apparently have recovered completely from their fear of bombing raids. . . . They are paying good money these nights to watch a wrestler billed as the Masked Cougar. . . . After being turned down in six attempts to enlist in the army, Boxer Mike Belloise was drafted. . . . "I wish it were true," says General Manager Warren Giles of the report that the highest paid member of the 1942 Reds was Bucky Walters at $15,000. . . . Giles indicated that at least three members of the club were paid more than that. . . . Walters' wage for 19 victories is believed to have been $22,500. . . . The 3 year old filly, Zorayda, is one of those turf rarities, a pure white thorobred. . . .

Wonder how Jimmy Reeves feels about Jake LaMotta's recent upset victory over New York's Ray Robinson. . . . Reeves has beaten LaMotta three times. . . . Now Detroit fans are pulling for a fourth match between the Clevelander and LaMotta. . . . Hockey was the first sport to put numbers on its players. . . . A lot has been written about "firewagon" basketball and when Milwaukee fans use the term they're not kidding. . . . Twelve stars from Marquette university's basketball, football, and track squads are serving as night firemen in suburban Wauwatosa. . . . They live there and each is on duty every third night. . . . Dutch Ruether is athletic coördinator at the Lake Washington shipyards in Seattle. . . . Notre Dame lost one of the most underrated men in its athletic department when Joe Petritz, publicitor of Irish sport teams for 14 years, recently accepted a commission as a lieutenant [j. g.] in the navy. . . . His efficiency and courtesies made the coverage of news at Notre Dame for newspaper and radio men a pleasant assignment.

Illini Swimmers Invade Northwestern Today

Northwestern's swimmers will be hosts to Illinois this afternoon in a Big Ten meet. The meet will be the first of five for the Illini, whose squad of 10 includes five letter men. Chief hopes of the Illini will be Capt. Jim Brekke, middle distances; Jim Brown and Tor Meeland, sprinters; Jim Roach, back stroke, and Dick Gill, breast stroke. Purdue and Indiana will clash at Bloomington, Ind., and Wisconsin will oppose Minnesota at Madison in other Big Ten meets.

WISCONSIN CAN WRECK HOOSIER HOPES TONIGHT

Purdue, Great Lakes Meet in Stadium.

Honor Schreiner

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 12 [Special].—Dave Schreiner, Wisconsin end, who was voted the most valuable player in the Western conference last fall, will receive the 1942 full size silver football award tomorrow night between halves of the Wisconsin-Indiana basketball game. The presentation will be made by Wilfrid Smith, representing The Chicago Tribune.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

One month ago the Illinois basketball team invaded Wisconsin's fieldhouse and wrecked the Badgers' hopes with a 12 point victory that established the Illini as competent to defend their Western conference championship. Tonight, again in Wisconsin's fieldhouse, Indiana university must match Illinois' victory to continue undefeated and tied with the Illini.

Indiana also defends a 15 game winning streak, the longest in Hoosier history. Equally important, of course, is the second game of the Wisconsin-Indiana series Monday night. The Big Ten title quite likely will be decided this week-end.

Illini Battle Gophers.

Illinois will be busy this evening and Monday at Minnesota, where the Gophers probably will be no more able to stem the Illini rush than Ohio State was last week. In the third conference game tonight, Iowa will invade the Evanston High school gymnasium to play Northwestern. If the Wildcats can sweep this series—the teams meet again Monday—they seem assured of a first division berth.

Purdue, the only other conference quintet in action tonight, faces Great Lakes in the opening contest of the weekly Stadium double header. The Bluejackets defeated Purdue, 48 to 43, earlier and, unless the Bollermakers bounce back from their dismal showing against Northwestern a week ago, Great Lakes will have its 29th victory in 31 games.

De Paul Foe Unbeaten.

The Purdue-Great Lakes game will start at 8:15 tonight and will be followed by De Paul and Western Kentucky State. The undefeated Kentucky squad, with an exceptionally tall starting quintet, hopes to hand the Blue Demons their third licking in succession and the fourth of De Paul's season. The Demons have won 13 games and have improved steadily, despite successive defeats by Notre Dame and Camp Grant.

The midwest will follow closely tonight's game in New York's Madison Square Garden between New York university and Notre Dame. It's the highlight of the eastern season and will be surpassed a week from tonight when Notre Dame meets Great Lakes in the Chicago Stadium and De Paul plays the University of Kentucky, only team to beat the Irish this year.

Loyola Plays at Toledo.

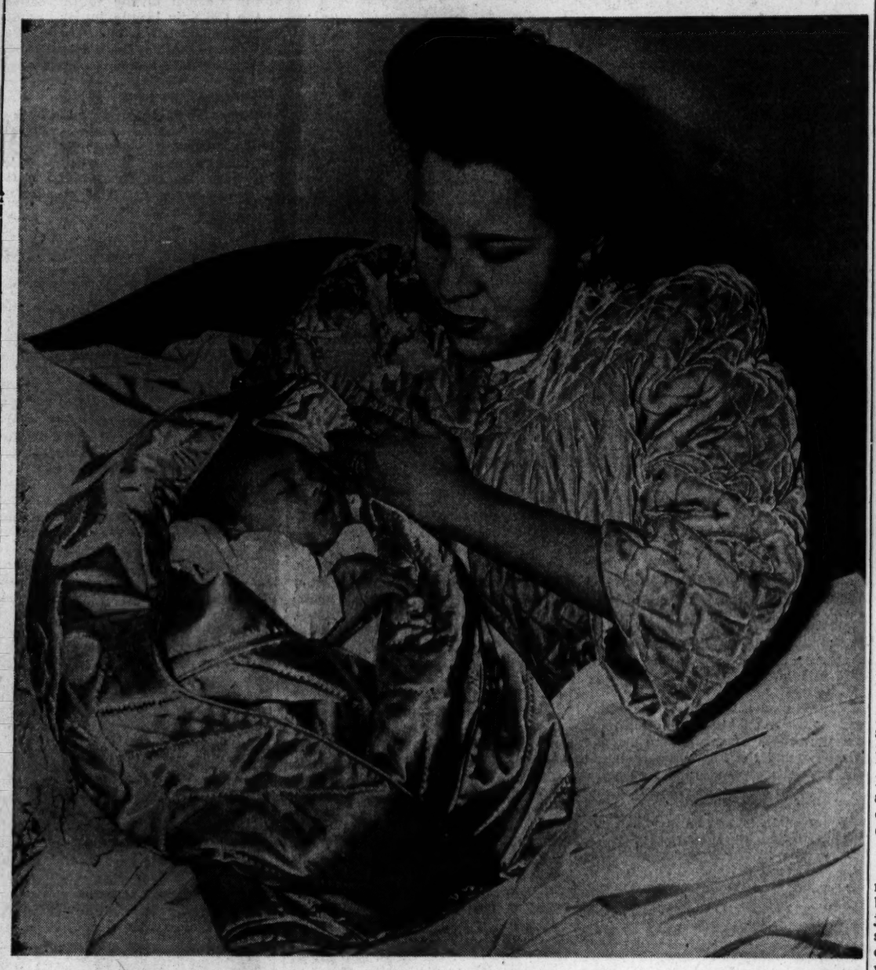
Loyola also is on the road tonight. The Ramblers play at the University of Toledo.

The Iowa-Northwestern games are expected to develop high scoring, in view of the Wildcats' work against Purdue and Iowa's 62 points against Knox this week. Four of the Hawkeyes' five defeats were by Indiana and Illinois and the other was a 1 point licking by Minnesota, so the record does not indicate Iowa's real strength. Northwestern's Otto Graham, now in second place in the individual scoring race on average per game, will be seeking to overtake Andy Phillip of Illinois, the conference leader.

Ohio State to Receive Football Trophy Feb. 22

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 12 (AP).—Ohio State's football team, voted in the Associated Press poll of sports writers as the top team of the nation, will be awarded the Henry L. Williams trophy in Columbus Feb. 22. The "M" club, composed of letter men at the University of Minnesota, sponsors of the trophy, will make the presentation.

MISS BARROW MAKES DEBUT



Miss Jacqueline Louis Barrow, 5 day old daughter of Sergt. Joe Louis and the former Marva Trotter, seems unruffled by her first appearance before the camera in Provident hospital yesterday. She is the first child to be born to Mrs. Louis. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Chicago Will Hold Track Meet Tonight

Track athletes of five Western conference schools—Chicago, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue, and Wisconsin—will compete tonight in the little Big Ten meet in the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

Wisconsin, Chicago, and Minnesota are expected to fight it out for honors. Purdue and Northwestern are given no better than an outside chance because they lack the team balance of the other three. Wisconsin, bringing 15 competitors, will be headed by Bob Beirle, Big Ten shotput champion.

Beierle Has Support.

In addition to Beierle, the Badgers have Bob Hodgell, who has turned in the best high jump mark recorded in Big Ten meets this season, Ashley Anderson, who shared in third place vault honors last year, Walter Lambert, a competent hurdler, and John Towle, a good sprint man.

The Maroon team is headed by Capt. Ray Randall and Bill Mayor-Oakes, two milers, Bob Kincheloe, vaulter and hurdler, Harrison Beardsley, middle distance runner, and Mordecal More, sprinter. In addition Chicago will have the services of Aubrey Moore, sophomore sprinter and hurdler, and Dick Rider, a capable high jumper.

Gophers Have Strength.

Minnesota's delegation will be headed by Frank Adams, hurdler; Ralph Pohland, half miler, Floyd Foslien, distance runner, and Chuck Hosfield, vaulter.

Purdue's entrants include B111 Bancker, a sprinter, George Archer, 440, Chuck Duesler, a distance man, John Brebner, a high jumper, and Tom Brown, a middle distance man.

HANOVER PLAYER GETS 70 POINTS TO SET RECORD

Hanover, Ind., Feb. 12 (AP).—Frank Jean broke the Indiana college basketball individual scoring record tonight by making 70 points as Hanover romped to a 104 to 55 victory over the University of Louisville. Jean's feat, coming from 32 field goals and 6 free throws, broke the previous record of 68 points, set by Bill Spradley of Oakland City in the 1940-'41 season.

Joe Meets Daughter

Sergt. Joe Louis yesterday was a visitor in Chicago prior to departing tonight for Burbank, Cal., where he will appear as an actor in the army sponsored film, "This Is The Army." The world heavyweight champion, who has been ordered to report in Burbank Monday, went immediately to Provident hospital on his arrival from Fort Riley, Kas., to see his infant daughter.

After the hospital visit, Mrs. Louis said they had decided to name the baby Jacqueline Louis Barrow, the first name being in memory of Jack Blackburn, the boxer's late trainer. Louis refused to pose for photographers, saying he did not have army permission to do so.

Gottselig Dons Skates to Aid Fading Hawks

Games Tonight

Detroit at Montreal.
Chicago at Toronto.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Coach Johnny Gottselig, one of Chicago's outstanding hockey pets, tomorrow night will launch a comeback as a Blackhawk when he takes to the ice in Chicago's match with the Boston Bruins in the Stadium. The decision was made yesterday by Manager Paul Thompson, who has been listening with increasing interest to the pleas of the veteran stick wizard that he be given a whirl at current competition.

Gottselig, who joined the Hawks at the start of the 1928-'29 campaign, the same season that Mush March broke in, will appear on a line with Cully Dahlstrom and Fido Purpur, thus relieving George Allen, who is to be tried out as a defense man.

John's Always Ready.

Tho he is 36 years old, rather ripe for a big league hockey player, Johnny is in excellent physical shape. Always a lean fellow, Gottselig has been skating at all Hawk practices this season. Last year he was playing manager of the Hawk's farm team, the Kansas City Americans, and made 25 goals and 35 assists for a total of 60 points.

Gottselig, when he learned that Thompson had wired him to be ready for regular line assignments tomorrow night, didn't lose any of his enthusiasm about returning to active duty. "I am confident I can go," said John, "but one never knows about the legs. I'll be able to give a better report about midnight Sunday night."

Play in Toronto Tonight.

The Hawks have some more hockey playing to do before they are bolstered by Gottselig. Tonight they will play the fading Maple Leafs in Toronto. It is conceivable that they might win this game, tho it is to be played outside Chicago Stadium. The Hawks have won one road game this season and the Leafs were the victims, 4 to 3, 'way back on Nov. 14.

The Hawks must pick up another road victory or two the rest of the way if they are to get in the Stanley Cup playoffs. Currently they are only a game behind the third place Leafs, but the Chicagoans are only a game and a half out of fifth. If they finish fifth or sixth they'll not be in the playoffs.

Boston will make one more trip to Chicago after tomorrow night's visit. The Bruins will be back on Feb. 28.

Northwestern Matmen Face Michigan; Badgers at Iowa

Northwestern's wrestling team, weakened by injuries to three first stringers, faces its stiffest test of the season today when it meets Michigan in Patten gymnasium. The Wildcats' hopes center on Art Nethercot, 128 pounds; Ed Wojciechowski, 175 pounds, and Bill Ivy, heavyweight. Wisconsin will meet Iowa in Iowa City today.

Army's College Soldiers Must Skip Football

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—Soldiers enrolled in army specialized training courses will not have time to participate in college football, officials said tonight, altho definite orders to that effect have not yet been issued.

Under the intensification of training necessary to speed into service thousands of young men trained in highly technical skills, each man will have a work schedule of 60 hours for each week he is in college.

"Take the case of a mile runner or a football player who requires much seasoning and conditioning which involves a great expenditure of time. He simply can't do it, due to lack of time," said Col. Herman Beukema, director of the specialized training program, today.

Says There Is Just No Time.

"From the schedule I gave [the 60 hour work schedule]," he continued, "you can figure out whether the time is there to put that man in condition, or, in other words, to have him compete for his college as a quarter back. He simply can't, due to lack of time."

Brig. Gen. Joe N. Dalton, assistant chief of staff for personnel, services of supply, agreed. Dalton added "We are not sending these men there to participate in big time college athletics."

Asked whether a soldier would be permitted to participate in a college sports program now existing, Dalton replied: "That brings up the question of participating in college athletics. If he is subject to becoming a representative of the college on the college team, as I understand it the decision is 'no.'"

No Formal Order—Yet.

Subsequently, it was explained that no formal order to that effect had been issued—yet—and that the objection to participation in varsity sports was based wholly on the lack of time remaining after the hours which must be devoted to study.

Aside from the varsity activities, army men said, there is no objection to soldier participation in competitive sports—in fact, it will be encouraged. But it will be wholly on an intramural basis.

The first courses under the army specialized training program will begin March 1 in advanced engineering subjects at at least one university in each service command, Beukema said. By April 1 the program will be in full swing.

All to Go This Year.

When the educational program is in full operation the army will have 150,000 students in colleges under the specialized training program, including 70,000 aviation cadets, and 30,000 men taken from the ranks for courses in meteerology, elctronics, and other subjects.

Lt. Col. W. E. Gregory of the adjutant general's department said all members of the army's enlisted reserve will be called up by the end of the school year. Exclusive of aviation cadets, these reserves in colleges and universities number about 48,400.

BIG 10 TO PLAY

"The Western conference confidently expects to have intercollegiate football this fall."

This was the comment yesterday of Maj. John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the conference, when he was informed that officers directing the army's specialized training said their program would not permit participation in intercollegiate sports.

"Without discussing the number of hours the student soldiers will be required to study or other factors," Maj. Griffith continued, "the position of the conference has been that we wished to offer all our facilities and our personnel to winning the war. We believe that our program will toughen up the prospective combatants better than any system of mass calisthenics."

No Touch Football Planned.

"We will have real football—no touch football—for we all believe that if intercollegiate competition isn't arranged the students will draw up their own programs, as they did in the beginning before faculties took over control."

Kenneth L. Wilson, director of athletics at Northwestern university, pointed out that the announcement

CHICAGO GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM IS POWER PACKED

Champions' Tourney Feb. 22 Is Next.

Tonight's Bouts

Kansas City [Mo.] Star, finals.
Fort Worth [Tex.] Star-Telegram, semi-finals.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Chicago boxing fans were highly enthusiastic yesterday over the make-up of this city's Golden Gloves team following Thursday's local title bouts in the armory. The eight champions who emerged from those bitterly contested matches now are pointing for the Tournament of Champions, in which they will meet the most formidable fighters of all Golden Gloves territory. This tournament, the biggest show in amateur boxing, is scheduled for the Stadium Feb. 22, 23, and 24.

Those who saw William Johnson, Savoy A. C. 160 pounder, perform in the city finals are agreed that he is Chicago's outstanding contender, with high prospects of going all the way to a Golden Glove championship. In stopping Mike Birakovich of Navy pier in the third round, Johnson displayed just about everything a good amateur boxer should have.

He Proves He Can Take It.

He weathered a sensationally powerful attack in the early stages, taking some pretty hard punishment without dropping to the canvas. Once he was belted to one knee by the force of the sailor's attack. Then came that magnificent rally in which Johnson's boxing skill and hitting power asserted itself. It was amazing that he had strength for the tremendous body punch that ended the fight after he himself had taken so much pounding.

The fans also praised Tim Dalton, west side Irish boy who displayed brilliant ring generalship in outpointing the highly regarded C. Y. O. lightweight champion, Melvyn Johnson. Dalton's smart tactics will stand him in good stead in the Stadium bouts, where he will be forced to deal with fighters of many varied styles and many degrees of ability.

Trainer Planned It That Way.

Pop Howard, veteran Golden Gloves trainer, coached Tim for that bout and pointed him for a specific opponent whom both knew well. The question now arises whether Tim will be able to size up the situation and go ahead to victory in the Tournament of Champions when he gets into the ring with a fellow neither he nor Pop ever saw before.

George Adams, vigorous little puncher from the Savoy A. C., was acclaimed as one of the most improved amateur boxers in Chicago, following his defeat of Jimmy Sarnella in the flyweight final. George had been runner-up to Al Noto for this title last year.

Roche Wins for Navy Pier.

Dick Roche, Navy pier bantamweight, made up for the defeats of his two teammates, Berskovich and Russ Fitzsimmons, by scoring a decisive victory over Dan Connolly of the C. Y. O. He forced his opponent to clinch repeatedly, but whenever he could get free and in the clear for a few seconds Roche belted his rival in thumping fashion.

Walter Moore, Savoy A. C. heavyweight, who was novice champion of that weight class last year, showed that he is fully qualified to fight in the more experienced division. He won all the way against Fitzsimmons, showing no fear at all of the sailor's hitting power, which had conquered some powerful opponents in the north section tournament last week.

Other Boys Are Good, Too.

And so on down thru the whole lineup, there are no real weak spots. Bertrand White, Jimmy Hunt, and Reedy Evans all whipped thoroly capable opponents. Whatever their bouts lacked in sensational qualities they made up in demonstrations of boxing skill.

Fights You'll Want to See

The Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions and the Finals are next on the 1943 program of amateur boxing. Both shows will bring into competition in Chicago Stadium the finest amateur talent, produced in Golden Gloves tournaments in 25 cities.

SPORTSMEN ASK FOR PERMIT TO USE LIVE DECOYS

See It as Step in Solving Meat Problem.

BY BOB BECKER.

Interest in both fishing and hunting have taken an unexpected off season spurt, which has sportsmen keyed up these winter days. Looking ahead to fall when American hunters could use their shotguns to obtain food from this country's wild life resources, the Missouri Duck Hunters' association, made up of 500 sportsmen, has petitioned the United States Fish and Wild Life service to sanction the use of live decoys in waterfowl shooting next season.

Meat Should Be Conserved.

The hunters maintain that a few live decoys in front of a blind will eliminate much of the useless long distance shooting which cripples and wastes ducks. This is the year of all years when not one pound of wild game meat should be wasted, the association says. Many Illinois duck hunters have written us that a couple of live decoys would cut down losses of crippled birds.

The most unusual fishing of the winter is now going on in the Mississippi river at Dubuque and Guttenberg, Ia., where the wall-eye pike are hitting live minnows. If a fisherman wants something different in fishing methods he can copy the antics of the Dubuque boys. They step on a big cake of ice below the dam, and then float around in an eddy trolling a live minnow. Al Hartig, Dubuque fisherman, writes us that it takes about an hour for you to make the round trip on the ice cake thru the eddy. He adds that a few nights ago he counted 20 of these ice cake fishermen sailing around with their bait casting rods and catching fish. [The swimming season hasn't opened yet in the Mississippi!]

40 to 50 Pound Catches.

Carl Ihm, Guttenberg, Ia., which is at dam number 10 above Dubuque about 40 miles, says the boys are catching some big wall-eyes there on minnows. Some limits of 8 fish have weighed between 40 and 50 pounds. A nonresident license costs $3. Boats may be rented [they don't do the ice cake business at Guttenberg] for $1 per day.

The pike fishing is in the open river and the system is to cruise around casting or trolling a minnow until you hit a school of fish. The season on wall-eyes in the river will close March 1.

BEST IN THE SHOW

This dog was voted best in show last night as a climax to the Westminster Kennel club's two day exhibit in Madison Square Garden. It is a toy poodle and is known as Ch. Pitter Patter of Piperscroft. The owner is Mrs. P. H. B. Frelinghuysen of Morristown, N. J.

Toy Poodle Voted Best in Show at Westminster Club Event

New York, Feb. 12 [Special]. — Mahoney's O'Toole, an Irish water spaniel owned by Mrs. Charles M. Wynne of Highland Park, Ill., was proclaimed best American bred dog at the conclusion of the 67th annual showing of the Westminster Kennel club in Madison Square Garden here late tonight.

Selection of this Illinois blueblood met with much better acclaim by the thousands of canine enthusiasts who crowded the big arena than did the previous award of best in show bestowed on an imported black miniature poodle called Ch. Pitter Patter of Piperscroft, owned by Mrs. P. H. B. Frelinghuysen of Morristown, N. J. Pitter Patter's victory seemingly was one of the most unpopular in recent years and brought boos from all sections of the house.

Sheep Dogs Lead Teams.

Because Pitter Patter is imported it was necessary to rejudge the group for the James Mortimer Memorial Best American trophy.

The show's best team was made up of Shetland sheep dogs owned by Elizabeth D. Whelan of Fairview Village, Pa. They are Champion Bilbo Blue Flag of Poncono and Champion Sea Isle Merle Legacy, C. D.

The middle west, hunting center of the nation, scored heavily in the judging of gun dogs.

Headed by Mahoney's O'Toole, entrants from that sector swept the first three places in the group. O'Toole was placed just above the veteran English setter, Maro of Maridor, owned by W. S. Kennedy of Walled Lake, Mich. Third place went to the Irish setter Ch. Klieglight of Aragon, owned and entered by the Aragon kennels of Franklin Park, Ill.

Among the other best of group award winners was Vigow of Romanoff, a borzoi owned by Louis J. Murr of Spring Valley, N. J., which triumphed over a big field of hounds. Vigow is the son of Ch. Tyddo of Romanoff, which was voted best of the group last year. Vigow bested his father yesterday in the voting for best of breed.

Glenview Puppies Score.

Additional best of group triumphs were scored by Mrs. William W. Gallagher's Albany-owned Ch. Windruch O'Page's Hill, a Shetland sheep dog, representing the workers; Dorothy Lathrop's Beh Tang, a Pekingese, which took the toy title, and W. L. Lewis' wire haired fox terrier, Ch. Glynhir Gladly of New York, best of the terriers.

In the Welsh Corgis Pembroke puppy class the 9 month old twins, Gemora Glain and Gemora Gini, female of the pair, carried the colors of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Murphy of Glenview, Ill., to distinction, if not to victory. Glain came up best male, while Gini took second in her division. Murphy, who owns them, is head of Dogs for Defense in Illinois.

"They had a chance, but little opportunity," he said when told the two had lost to Barbara Lowe Fallass' champion Spring Robin of Andely from Cross River, N. Y.

Milwaukee Boxer Is Best.

John Phelps Wagner of Milwaukee, Wis., showed the best boxer in Ch. Volante of Mazelaine.

Thorndale Blue Bombshell, a young male dog, was reserve winner in the Kerry Blue terrier judging. Bombshell is owned by Horace Lepman, Chicago.

In the sporting dog class, Kleig Lights of Aragon, an Irish Setter from H. J. Cooper's Franklin Park, Ill., kennels, placed third.

EARL MITCHELL, GIL DODDS MEET AGAIN TONIGHT

Boston, Mass., Feb. 12 (AP).—Having failed twice to shake off the terrific closing drive of Earl Mitchell, Indiana university miler, Gil Dodds, the Boston divinity student, has changed his racing tactics for tomorrow night's duel in the Boston A. A. track meet's Hunter mile.

In his previous starts against Mitchell, Dodds set such a hot early pace that he was burned out when Mitchell cut loose with his finishing spurt. Both stars also will be forced to pay close attention to another rival in their five man field, Frank Dixon, New York university's Negro freshman, who runs equally well in front or from far back.

Greg Rice, winner of the last three Billings two mile events, will be seeking his 58th consecutive victory when he lines up with seven rivals, including Forest Efaw, now of the navy, who followed him across the finish line in last year's race.

Other 1942 B. A. A. meet winners entered were Barney Ewell, now of the army, in the Briggs 50 yard dash; Eddie Dugger of Dayton, O., in the 45 yard high hurdles; Charlie Beetham of the Iowa Pre-Flight school, in the Hollis 600, and Dick Morcom of New Hampshire university, and Mel Walker of Chicago, who shared top honors in the high jump a year ago.

Report Jim Thorpe Out of Danger After Heart Attack

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 12 (AP).—Jim Thorpe, famed Indian athlete and 1912 Olympic games hero, was reported tonight at Henry Ford hospital to be out of danger after suffering a heart attack yesterday.

CONCORDIA WINS PRIVATE SCHOOL BASKET CROWN

Concordia High school of River Forest yesterday clinched the heavyweight basketball championship of the Private School league by defeating Chicago Latin, 45 to 35, on the latter's floor. It was the ninth victory in a row for the winners and they have only one league game remaining.

Luther institute and University High divided their double-header at Luther, Luther winning the heavyweight game, 54 to 24, and University the lightweight contest, 27 to 8.

Todd school swept a double-header with Chicago Christian in Woodstock. The heavyweights won, 34 to 29, and the lights won their ninth straight league game and their 11th of the season, 28 to 11.

175 POUNDS—George Makris, Rhinelander, beat Myron Miller, Racine.

HEAVYWEIGHT—Verdayne John, Wauwatosa, beat Jim Carman, Madison.

LEW WALLACE TAKES FIRST AS EMERSON LOSES

Whiting High school defeated Emerson of Gary, 54 to 35, last night in a western division basketball game in the Northern Indiana conference in Whiting. It was the second defeat in 13 games for Emerson, which dropped it out of first place as Lew Wallace of Gary beat Hammond, 46 to 30, to take first place with 12 victories and 2 defeats. The conference championship will be settled Thursday evening when Lew Wallace and Emerson meet.

ELGIN WINS BIG 8 TITLE; DEFEATS WEST ROCKFORD

Elgin High school came from behind to beat West Rockford, 45 to 43, last night in Elgin and captured the Big Eight conference heavyweight basketball championship. Elgin is undefeated in nine league games and has only one more to play. Dave Kilbourne, captain of the Elgin team, stole the ball in final seconds of play and dribbled three-quarters of the way down the floor to sink the winning basket.

Gerald R. Gorman was announced yesterday as the newly elected president of the Town and Country Equestrian association, and W. Earl Butler, retiring president, as executive vice president.

JOLIET CATHOLIC BEATS ST. RITA TO TIE FOR LEAD

De La Salle Wins 2 from St. Ignatius.

Catholic High school of Joliet moved into a first place tie with Mount Carmel in the south section in the Catholic league junior basketball race last night by defeating St. Rita, 30 to 29, on the latter's floor. It was the fifth victory in six games for Joliet. Catholic also won the senior game, 50 to 27, paced by Bill Sticklen's 18 points.

De La Salle swept its south section double header from St. Ignatius on the victor's courts, the seniors winning, 28 to 25, and the juniors, 22 to 21. Jack Kerris scored 13 points for De La Salle in the senior game.

St. Mel continued in a first place tie with Philip in north section junior race by defeating De Paul, 35 to 25, while St. Philip was routing Fenwick, 46 to 14. Each has won five of six league games. St. Mel also won the senior game, 40 to 24, and St. Philip made it a double victory over Fenwick by taking the senior game, 40 to 32.

Leo, defending champion, tied Mount Carmel for first place in the south section senior race by overwhelming St. Patrick, 63 to 21, on the later's court. The Leo juniors defeated the home team, 25 to 19, to enter a three way tie for first place with Joliet Catholic and Mount Carmel. Leo has won five and lost one in both divisions.

PARIS SNAPS 24 GAME STREAK OF SOMONAUK, 71-37

Paris, Ill., Feb. 12 [Special].—Paris High school, thoroly experienced in compiling winning streaks itself, blasted the state's longest perfect record to date this season here tonight by scoring a convincing 71 to 37 triumph over Somonauk before 3,500. Going into tonight's contest, Somonauk had won 24 straight, while the Tigers used tonight's victory to bring their record for the year to 25 triumphs against a single loss to Moline.

The local five held only a 17 to 11 edge at the end of the first quarter but broke loose in the second period to pile up a 40 to 16 margin, and then extended it to 52 to 26 at the end of the third quarter. Al Denilauer, Somonauk center, was high scorer for the evening, with seven baskets and two free throws, for 16 points. Coach Ernest Eveland used 13 Paris players.

concerning the army's specialized training would not affect Northwestern, since the navy would take over facilities there. No announcement of the navy program concerning intercollegiate athletics has been made.

"Northwestern expects to continue an intercollegiate program and to be represented on the gridiron this fall," Wilson concluded.

Iowa Will Continue.

"If there are 12 men out for football next fall the University of Iowa will be represented by a team," E. G. [Dad] Schroeder, director of athletics at Iowa, declared yesterday. "Iowa believes in intercollegiate competition and will continue as long as any one wishes to compete. We are concerned neither with numbers nor other programs. We believe in intercollegiate competition."

BUSHNELL DISAPPOINTED

New York, Feb. 12 (AP).—Asa S. Bushnell, director of the office of eastern intercollegiate athletics, expressed disappointment today that specialized trainees in colleges would not have time for big time football.

"The army's announcement comes as a complete surprise, for previous signs had seemed to point in the opposite direction," Bushnell said. "The elimination of army on-campus trainees from the intercollegiate athletic program is disappointing to all of us concerned with college sports; we have felt that we could assist materially in the development and training of these younger members of the army, and we are sorry that we will not have the opportunity to do so."

Little Hopes for Best.

Lou Little, head football coach at Columbia university, said "I hope the youngsters will not be denied competitive athletics, even if it is between squads or companies. From my experience as a captain of infantry in World War I., I know how much better the men liked it when we played a game in contrast with calisthenics of the old one-two-three-four style."

MONTREAL PICKS THOMPSON AS 1943 MANAGER

Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP).—Fresco Thompson, former major league infielder, tonight was named manager of the Montreal Royals in the International league by General manager John McDonald. Thompson succeeds Clyde Sukeforth, former big league catcher, who was dropped when Branch Rickey became president and general manager of the Brooklyn National league club. Montreal is a Dodger farm.

LIBERTYVILLE CLUB BOXERS TIE 87TH STREET, 4-4

The Libertyville Boys' club held the 87th Street Naval Training school to a draw, 4 bouts to 4, in a series of amateur boxing matches in the 87th Street gymnasium last night. Lewis Kick, who won the 1943 novice Golden Gloves featherweight championship on Thursday, gave the Libertyville club a point by knocking out Sam Procopio.

CORONER HALVES CHEMIST STAFF VITAL TO COUNTY

Action Is Revealed After 'Sneak Appropriation.'

Disclosure of Coroner A. L. Brodie's "sneak appropriation" for his office to provide $8,000 for "investigators" was followed yesterday by the revelation that Brodie had cut in half the one section of his office that renders an important service: his staff of chemists.

This staf is charged with handling all suspected poison cases and speedy analyses are necessary to determine the treatment required. For years, the laboratory in the county morgue has been a busy place, handling thousands of analyses annually for hospitals and county institutions.

Chemist Staff Cut in Half.

For more than 10 years, the staff has included four chemists. Now it is revealed that Brodie has lopped off two of them, explaining to the Circuit judges' committee on help that they were the employés he could spare most easily.

Dr. Karl A. Meyer, superintendent of the County hospital, said Brodie's action might have serious results.

"This action holds the possibility of a tragedy," Dr. Meyer said. "In these times, the last thing that should be done is to reduce the coroner's technical staff."

Appearing before the judges' committee, which fixes the number of employés in county fee offices, Brodie represented the ouster of the chemists as an economy measure, but he did not reveal his plan to use $8,000 to hire new "investigators." A thoro scrutiny of details of the $194,000 appropriation for the coroner's office is to result from the revelation of the $8,000 "sneak appropriation."

Appropriation Called Illegal.

County budget experts said the $8,000 item plainly was illegal because [1] it was inserted after the final reading of the budget at the time of its passage Monday by the board of commissioners, and [2] it amounted to an appropriation for extra employés, which can be authorized only by the judges' committee.

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, and Judge Julius H. Miner, head of the judges' committee, both have promised to investigate Brodie's appropriation. Any investigation would be certain to include one into the coroner's $44,200 item for hiring court reporters, a practice long regarded as lucrative political gravy.

Brodie Takes Holiday.

Yesterday was the Lincoln's birthday holiday and, under the law, the coroner's office is the only county office required to be kept open. Brodie's office employés said he was absent for the day.

He could not be reached, therefore, to be asked for an explanation of his scheme to hire "investigators." This work has always been done by policemen assigned by Commissioner Allman, and the only expense to the county has been $1,500 a year for maintenance of their automobiles. At Brodie's request, the commissioner has transferred the policemen, effective March 1, when, presumably, the coroner proposes to hire his own investigators.

"Expert" Is Coroner's Chauffeur.

Members of the police department suggested that Brodie's investigators, if appointed, would be approximately the same caliber as his "ballistics expert," Irving Davis, who doubles as the coroner's chauffeur and his precinct captain.

Brodie appointed Davis to succeed Joseph C. Wilimovsky Jr., now an army lieutenant, who was a genuine ballistics expert and had the respect of the police force. Chauffeur-Expert Davis has had no training in any kind of criminal investigation. The police have been instructed to ignore him.

The coroner's office's handling of evidence in the murder of Mrs. Lillian Galvin and her maid, Miss Edna Sibilski, in Evanston last October was cited by the police as typical of the way Brodie's office operates. Two bullets taken from the bodies of the women by a coroner's physician could not be located for three days. Then, the coroner's office revealed that one bullet had been sent to the federal bureau of investigation in Washington and the other was in the home of the coroner's physician.

FAMILY FLEES HOME FIRE.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Petersou and their two children fled to the street yesterday when fire, apparently originating from an overheated furnace, caused damage estimated at $550 to their frame house at 7229 South Seeley avenue.

FALL FROM TRUCK FATAL.

Joseph Barrett, 44 years old, 1608 South Paulina street, a truck driver, died yesterday in Bethany hospital of injuries suffered Wednesday when he fell off his coal truck.

PUPILS PROTEST STAFF SHIFTS BY SITDOWN STRIKE

Demotion of Teachers Stirs High School.

Nearly 1,400 pupils staged a sitdown strike yesterday in the Roosevelt High school in East Chicago in protest against the transfer and demotion of their principal, Herbert Lahr. For nearly two hours they refused to move from classroom to classroom until urged to do so by Lahr himself. Many of the teachers, it was reported, considered striking.

The demonstration was against the action of the East Chicago school board earlier in the week demoting or shifting several school officials. Politics is blamed for the move. The first reaction was the resignation in protest of Roy Feik, school superintendent for nine years.

Demoted to Grade School.

The school board order demoted Lahr to the principalship of the Garfield grade school; shifted Russell F. Robinson, principal of the Washington High school to the Roosevelt High; demoted Alfred C. Senour, assistant superintendent, to principalship of the Washington, and demoted Miss Carrie Gosch, school veteran, from principal of the Garfield to a teaching post.

The three-man board's action was put thru by votes of John J. Dreesen and George Grimmer, Democrats. Herbert J. Rimes, Republican chairman, voted no. Dreesen was recently appointed by Mayor Frank Migas, a Democrat. The school officials affected are of known Republican sympathy, and their transfer or demotion was charged to politics. Dreesen denied this charge.

Teachers Assail Action.

While the children at the Roosevelt high were demonstrating yesterday, nearly 300 teachers and supervisory workers of the East Chicago schools met and adopted a resolution terming the board's action "undemocratic, hasty, unprofessional, unethical and arbitrary." A similar resolution was adopted by 100 school clerical workers. East Chicago has 12 schools and 315 teachers.

Feik declared the board's action was "without just cause and against my recommendation." Joseph H. Kempster, president of the East Chicago Chamber of Commerce, described the action as "shameful and deplorable."

Feik's resignation has not been accepted; nor has the board enforced its transfer and demotion order. As to a possible strike of teachers, Miss Todd, president of the East Chicago Teachers' federation, said there would be none.

M'KIBBIN BACKER BLASTS ALBERT'S PAST IN POLITICS

Has He Aided G.O.P.? Ferre Watkins Asks.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

Arthur F. Albert, one of three candidates for the Republican mayoral nomination, was ridiculed as "the boy alderman who never grew up" last night. Ferre C. Watkins, past state commander of the American Legion, rapped Albert and extolled George B. McKibbin, regular G. O. P. organization candidate.

Watkins also questioned Albert's Republicanism, inquiring what he had been doing during the last 12 years while the G. O. P. was fighting its way back.

"Those who have listened to his nightly lament over the radio have come to call him 'the boy alderman who never grew up'," Watkins said in a radio talk. "During the years Artie was mentioned in the press it was always in bitter attacks upon figures that towered above him.

Cites Albert's Record.

"In 1931 when Artie ran for mayor, his opponent, John H. Lyle, repeatedly stated that 'the boy alderman' was put into the campaign as a bipartisan tool of Mayor Cermak to divide the Republican vote. Out of 635,000 G. O. P. votes Albert received 99,000, or 15 per cent.

"When Dwight H. Green in 1939, without money or organization, launched his heroic fight which nearly elected him mayor and later made him governor, Artie Albert urged Republicans to enter the Democratic primary and vote for his Democratic candidate."

McKibbin, who appeared last night in the 21st, 41st, 48th, and 49th wards, has refrained from attacking Albert. But the former alderman, who entered the council at the age of 22, has been devoting much of his radio campaign — the most expensive [Albert has said] in Chicago political history—to charges that McKibbin is a tool for a "Kelly-Green machine" and traction interests. Albert will continue his radio barrage tonight.

Lyle Tells of Ward Groups.

Former Judge John H. Lyle, the third Republican candidate, announced yesterday his first roster of independent ward organizations, in the 1st, 8th, 11th, 27th, 29th, 37th, and 49th wards.

"I have one of the biggest lists of independent Republican voters and workers ever compiled," Lyle said.

In his next radio talk tomorrow at 4:15 p.m. Lyle is expected to demand that Gov. Green replace John D. Biggs of Greenville with a Chicagoan as chairman of the Illinois commerce commission. He also indicated that he will promise that if elected mayor he will establish south and west side branches of the Municipal Tuberculosis sanitarium.

Ald. John S. Boyle, rival of Mayor Kelly for the Democratic nomination, yesterday declared that the city should take over the bankrupt elevated lines in order to get a tenant for the subway. As mayor he would make certain to get new industrial life for Chicago, Boyle said, declaring that the big war plants have carefully established themselves outside of the city limits.

WOMEN'S GROUP FIGHTS GROWING FEDERAL POWER

Members of the National Association of Pro-America came here yesterday from 11 states to hold their national convention and to go on record as opposing what the organization of women terms "New Deal tendencies toward governmental control of traditionally free American institutions."

In a series of resolutions drawn up at the close of the convention in the Palmer House, the association announced its sponsorship of a pay-as-you-go income tax plan and a national sales tax. Other resolutions announced opposition to government purchases of property as an adjunct to fighting the war and thus depriving states of much needed taxes. The organization also pledged itself to continue its 10 year fight to maintain a free press in the United States.

Ruth Comfort Mitchell of Los Gatos, Cal., was elected president for 1943. Mrs. Harry C. Carpenter of Billings, Mont., who retired as national president, was chairman of the convention.

The association, whose membership is predominantly western, was organized in 1933 and was dedicated by Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Sr., its honorary chairman, to assist independent Republican women to uphold the Constitution of the United States.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Mrs. Lora McKibben, 315 31st street, Cedar Rapids, Ia.]

THE QUESTION.

What lesson in gardening did you learn last year?

WHERE ASKED.

The Art institute.

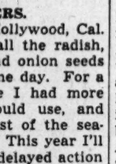
THE ANSWERS.

Joel McCrea, actor, Hollywood, Cal.—Last year I planted all the radish, lettuce, and onion seeds on the same day. For a short time I had more than I could use, and for the rest of the season none. This year I'll employ a delayed action system of planting so the harvest days will be scattered over a longer period.

Kay Nuciforo, actress, 1103 North Dearborn street—As long as I was going to have a flower garden I thought I'd make it worth while. I planted so many seeds in one small space that the flowers had room to grow in only one direction — straight up. They were skinny and without blossoms. This year they'll have plenty of space.

Virginia Blair, display artist, 2958 Pine Grove avenue—It seemed like a good idea last year to be the first in our neighborhood to plant a garden. I thought I was going to be the first to serve home grown vegetables. Instead I was one of the last because the young plants were nipped by the frost and it took them longer than ever to catch up.

Shirley Rosenberg, actress, 701 North Michigan avenue—People had told me that tomatoes were hard to raise so I tried to take extra good care of them. I watered them almost every day and still they didn't seem to do so well. Then I was told it was possible to give them too much water. It won't happen again.



Patricia Browning, actress, 1810 North Ridge road, Highland Park—I wasn't very particular in choosing a location for my garden. I thought as long as it was planted on a good fertile ground that was more important than anything. This year I'll know that things won't grow in a water-filled ditch and that good drainage is necessary.

Thomas H. Margo, actor, 4407 Beacon street—My last year's garden was one big lesson to me all around. It was a waste of good garden space, a waste of seeds, and also a waste of my own good time. I harvested absolutely nothing from it, and have learned that it takes more than just ambition to be a good gardener.

MAJOR REPAYS BLOOD WHICH SAVED HIS LIFE

Maj. John P. Stafford of the marines stopped at the Red Cross blood bank at 5 North Wabash avenue yesterday and paid back the blood that saved his life on Guadalcanal.

A member of the original marine contingent on Guadalcanal, Maj. Stafford was wounded in the cheek by shrapnel that severed an artery. For an hour and a half he held the severed ends of the artery in his hands to avoid bleeding to death. Blood plasma saved his life.

Yesterday, the major and his wife, who lives at 7020 North Paulina street with her two small children, paid back the blood.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Hannah Simons.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hannah Simons, 80 years old, 354 East 115th street, widow of Israel Simons, a pioneer merchant in the Roseland-Pullman community, will be held at 11 a. m. Monday in the chapel at 214 East 115th street. Mrs. Simons, who died yesterday, was the daughter of Max Ettleson, a confederate soldier. She resided in Chicago for 66 years. She is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Blanch Slavin, Mrs. Lillian N. Gould, Mrs. Cecil D. Levin, and Mrs. Myrtle Burgheim, and two sons, Walter and Edward L. Simons.

Capt. Edward Aloysius Duff.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 12 (AP).—Capt. Edward Aloysius Duff, 58 years old, former chief of navy chaplains, died last night at his home. He was retired in 1939 because of a heart disability. During the first World war he served in London and Paris and in 1919 was selected to accompany the body of the unknown soldier back to America. Later he was stationed at the Philadelphia navy yard, Brooklyn navy yard, and the naval air station at Lakehurst, N. J. Before his appointment in 1935 as chief chaplain.

Frank W. Newell.

Services for Frank W. Newell, owner of the Chicago House at Wheeling, well known eating place, will be held at 4 p. m. today in the chapel at 6754 Northwest highway. Burial will be at Lawyersville, N. Y., near his birthplace. Mr. Newell died Thursday in the Edgewater hospital after an illness of several months. He was 59 years old and had resided in Park Ridge and Wheeling for more than 20 years. His widow, Adelaide, survives.

CORONER HOLDS KEY TO IRATE MEN IN DIRTY SHIRTS

Two score northwest Chicago families, sleeping between dirty sheets and wearing dirty shirts, wanted to put Coroner A. L. Brodie thru the wringer yesterday. For the dirty laundry situation they blamed Brodie.

The families were long time patrons of Jim Moy, 72 years old, who operated a laundry at 5922 Division street. Moy became ill Monday after taking in a bumper washing. He died that night. The coroner stepped into the case and stepped out again with the key to the laundry. That's the last the customers have seen of the coroner.

Daily, the customers protested, they have called the coroner's office and asked about getting their clothes. "We don't expect to get them back clean," they said, "just so we get them."

Reporting on developments since Monday, the police were terse, saying only: "Things are lying dormant."

MISS NAPIERALSKI FUNERAL RITES TO BE MONDAY

Funeral services for Miss A. Emily Napieralski, Polish-American leader and member of the Cook County Civil Service commission, will be held at 9:15 a. m. Monday from the chapel at 3044 Cermak road to St. John of God church, 52d and Throop streets.

Miss Napieralski died Thursday evening in her Hinsdale home after a short illness. She was 60 years old. Noted for her social and relief work among Polish-Americans, Miss Napieralski was general secretary of the Polish Women's Alliance of America from 1910 to 1915 and president from 1915 to 1935. A close friend of the late Jane Addams of Hull House, she accompanied her abroad on the peace commission to The Hague.

She leaves two brothers, Dr. Emanuel and Stephen, an attorney, and three sisters, Mary, Frances, and Dr. Stella Napieralski.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

BIG INVESTORS BUOY MARKET IN BANK STOCKS

New Developments Create Demand.

Insurance companies and other big investors have been building up their holdings of bank stocks in the last several weeks, dealers in such stocks reported yesterday. The buying trend has resulted in a pronounced rise in the market prices of shares of many large Chicago and New York banks.

The demand was attributed to several favorable developments in the banking field. The latest of these is the movement in congress to exempt the banks from having to pay Federal Deposit Insurance corporation assessments on treasury bank balances derived from the sale of war bonds and from having to maintain reserves with the federal reserve banks against such balances, which are large.

Funds for Investment.

The banks, under present regulations, are required to pay the FDIC one-twelfth of 1 per cent a year on these balances. If bills pending in congress are adopted, the revised rules not only will save the banks the amount of the assessment, but will free a sizable amount of reserves which could be used for investment, thereby adding to income.

Among other factors which dealers said have influenced bank stocks are large deposits, generally at the highest levels on record, and a strong position in earnings. In the year-end reports, some banks reported moderate gains in profits and others showed small declines, but on the whole 1942 results were regarded as good.

New Business Created.

The V loan program, under which the government guarantees loans to producers of war goods requiring more money than their regular line of credit can handle, has created a substantial amount of business for the banks and has helped toward offsetting losses of business derived from nonwar industries.

Following are comparisons of bid prices of several bank stocks showing how most of them have advanced since Dec. 1:

UNION, CLOSED SHOPS ORDERED 'FROZEN' BY WPB

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12 (AP).—The war labor board today laid down the "general rule" that "a regularly established union shop or closed shop shall remain regularly established for the duration of the war."

The decision, with employer members dissenting, was issued in the case of the Harvill Aircraft Die Casting corporation, Inglewood, Cal., and the CIO National Association of Die Casting Workers over a closed shop which was to expire last April 15 and which the company refused to renew.

Dr. Frank P. Graham, public member, said in the majority opinion that the board, by its delay must share responsibility for new workers employed since April 15 "without the knowledge or acceptance of the conditions of the union shop." In ordering the union shop and checkoff restored as of April 15, WLB exempted these "interim" employés but said it would not do so in future cases. They need not join or may withdraw in 15 days; otherwise they must pay their union dues and remain in good standing.

RAILWAY FREIGHT RISES FOR WEEK; BELOW YEAR AGO

The Association of American Railroads reported today that 755,386 cars of revenue freight were loaded during the week ending last Saturday, an increase of 20,804 cars, or 2.8 per cent, from the preceding week, but 28,576 cars, or 3.7 per cent less than a year ago. The total was 45,190 cars, or 6.4 per cent larger than two years ago.

'White Collar' Men Pitch In to Make Tools

How 155 two man teams of white collar workers of all kinds have boosted the war goods output of a Cleveland machine tool manufacturer by working 4 hour split shifts while holding their regular jobs was told yesterday at the man power conference of the American Management association in the Palmer House.

Walter C. Mason, assistant employment manager of Warner & Swasey company, which originated the plan late last year in an effort to solve its man power problem, discussed its results at the closing session of the three day meeting.

Mason said millions of men in white collar jobs could help produce arms without interrupting their regular work if the plan were adopted widely.

Work Four Hours Each.

Warner & Swasey put the program into effect last October, starting with five teams. The company's 4 p. m. to midnight shift was split into two parts. One man of each team worked from 4 to 8 p. m., and his partner worked from 8 to midnight. The plan was so successful, Mason said, that 310 white collar men, or 155 teams, were hired.

One of the teams consists of a cartoonist and a manager of a large restaurant. A minister and a mail man form another. The president and a salesman of a coal company work as one team. On another are a teacher and a printer. One team consists of two lawyers. All were hired with the understanding that they would work six days a week, four hours a day.

Absenteeism No Problem.

Absenteeism, which personnel men at the convention said is a serious curb on war production, is practically nonexistent among the men who form the split shift teams at Warner & Swasey, said Mason, their rate of absenteeism being less than ½ per cent.

M. B. Folsom, treasurer of Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., said that unless private enterprise starts giving attention now to man power problems that will arise after the war, "we might lose some of the very things for which we are fighting."

Within two years after the war ends, industry will have to have production on a basis that will require 8 or 9 million more workers than were employed in 1940, said Folsom. Unless about 55 million persons are employed after the war, the government will have to assume responsibility, he said.

"Might Doom Private System."

"If the government attempts to find jobs for these large groups by entering production," he said, "it might be the beginning of the end of our present system. But the prospect of industry doing this job is a promising one. It is reasonable to expect greatly expanded markets in post-war years, when there will be a pentup need for goods and billions of dollars of savings. But private enterprises must start now to plan for post-war production and marketing."

W. H. Kushnick, director of civilian personnel and training for the war department, said that the work of industrial managers and personnel departments in getting maximum productivity is vital to war strategy. He said that the problem of absenteeism is increasing in severity.

'E' PINS AWARDED TO MORE CHICAGO AREA EMPLOYES

Several thousand more Chicago area employés were given "E" pins for excellence in war production yesterday in ceremonies at the Electro-Motive plant near La Grange and at the Elmwood ordnance plant near Joliet.

The La Grange plant army-navy emblem was presented by Rear Adm. H. G. Taylor and accepted by H. L. Hamilton, vice president of General Motors corporation. Lt. Col. E. H. Bowman awarded "E" pins to employés.

Maj. Gen. C. T. Harris Jr., commanding general of the Aberdeen proving grounds, made the awards at the ordnance plant.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

FARM SUPPLIES.

What should be considered under the heading of supplies purchased in income tax form 1040F used by farmers? Are farm bureau memberships and subscriptions to farm periodicals deductible?—W. F.

Answer: Under supplies purchased would come the miscellaneous small items used by a farmer, such as disinfectant, brooms, water softeners, and dozens of other minor items, which in the aggregate, amount to only a minor portion of farm operating expense. A good description of supplies would be: "something the farmer buys but does not sell again." Purchases of gasoline and oil, and small tools, while they seem to fit this definition, must be reported separately. Farm bureau memberships are deductible in arriving at a farmer's taxable income, but the cost of farm periodicals is not.

AUTO USE TAX.

How much am I permitted to deduct from 1942 income for the federal use tax on automobiles?—L. H.

Answer: The deduction for 1942 is $7.09, altho the tax rate is $5 per year. The explanation is that while the government's fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30 of the following year, the use tax on automobiles went into effect on Feb. 1, 1942, and automobile owners were required to pay $2.09 to cover the period from Feb. 1 to June 30, 1942, and another $5 for the fiscal year from July 1, 1942, to June 30, 1943. Persons reporting on a cash receipts and disbursements basis are, therefore, entitled to the $7.09 deduction for 1942.

BROKERS' REPORTS.

Are brokers required to report profits of their clients to the government?—C. H.

Answer: No, but they are required to report to the internal revenue department the names of all customers whose transactions in any year aggregate $25,000 or more. In addition, brokers are required to report all dividends received, over a certain minimum, on stocks held for the account of customers. Inquiries among brokers indicates some variations of practice in reporting dividends. Some report only on amounts of $100 or more, while others say they report all dividends, regardless of the amount.

Du Pont Sales Set Peak, but Earnings Fall

E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. announced yesterday in its pamphlet report for 1942 that it had recorded the largest sales volume in the company's history, totaling $498,313,857, against $480,109,939 in 1941.

W. S. Carpenter Jr.

Consolidated net income, including 20 million dollars of dividends on the company's investment in common shares of the General Motors corporation, was $63,941,275, about 29 per cent less than the $90,401,470 reported for 1941, when General Motors dividends received were $37,500,000.

Payment to Government 21 Millions.

Provision was made for payment to the government of 21 millions as a result of renegotiation of war contracts in 1942, and there was a credit to income of $5,300,000 representing reversion of provision for taxes on income in prior years in excess of requirements, W. S. Carpenter Jr., president, disclosed.

Great advances made by the chemical industry in developing materials for war were outlined yesterday in the report.

Among the many products devised by the nation's chemists as substitutes for materials no longer available in sufficient quantities are various kinds of synthetic rubber including du Pont's neoprene, described as "the full equivalent in quality of natural rubber for combat and heavy duty tires." Nylon, another du Pont substitute, became available for a variety of uses when the domestic supply of silk was cut off.

WINNIPEG GRAIN FUTURES FIRM ON MILL BUYING

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12 (AP).—Light mill buying in the wheat pit on the Winnipeg Grain exchange today left the May price unchanged at 92⅛ cents a bushel.

A substantial quantity of barley futures, estimated at 1,800,000 bushels, changed hands with shippers and exporters the buyers. A fair demand developed in oats but scarcity of offerings hindered trade.

There was no evidence of export business in Canadian wheat or flour. Cash wheat trade was limited to routine carlot sales in lower grades to eastern feeders. Range of futures:

WPB ALLOTS MATERIAL FOR FARM MACHINERY AT 40% OUTPUT RATE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The WPB requirements committee today allotted steel and other critical materials to permit the production of new farm machinery for the second quarter of this year at 40 per cent of the 1940 level.

The allotment was raised from a first quarter quota of only 31 per cent of the 1940 level at the insistence of Food Administrator Claude Wickard and many congressmen, who asserted more farm machinery is a necessity if record crop goals for 1943 are to be met.

Production of repair parts for farm equipment was set at 167 per cent of the 1940 level, the same as for the first quarter, after an original allocation of 135 per cent brought protests from Wickard and members of congress.

Big Shipments Put Pressure on Hog Market

The general market for hogs eased 5 to 10 cents yesterday under pressure of heavier farm shipments. Altho top loads of selected lights held steady at $15.60 per 100 pounds, enough sales of heavier hogs were made at reduced prices to pull the average down 5 cents to $15.35.

Hog receipts totaled 24,000, compared with 17,046 a week earlier, and represented the second largest Friday total since early in December. Volume is picking up at all points. In the first five days of this week 11 markets handled 412,000, against 380,000 last week and 349,000 a year ago.

Heavy Types Depressed.

Heavy "lard type" hogs which are making up a larger share of offerings, were under most pressure. Most good 325 to 400 pound butchers sold at $15.25 and $15.30, while most 250 to 300 pounders brought $15.30 to $15.40, and the bulk of 180 to 240 pound young hogs from $15.40 to $15.50. Sows weighing 300 to 500 pounds sold from $14.80 to $15.25.

Little change occurred in the trade for cattle, with supplies too light to put quotations to a fair test.

Fat lambs declined 15 to 25 cents. Top loads reached $16.25, and the bulk brought $15.50 to $16.00.

Carson Group Forms Fourth Jobbing Firm

For the fourth time since Carson Pirie Scott & Co., last December sold its wholesale business [except floor coverings] to Ely & Walker Dry Goods company, St. Louis, former Carson employés have formed a new wholesale firm to sell former Carson merchandise lines.

A. W. Bohnsack & Co., incorporated by three long time Carson wholesale employés, yesterday leased 10,000 square feet of space at 231-33 West Monroe street thru Harold H. Egan & Co., and, as soon as necessary remodeling is completed about March 1, will occupy it with stocks of furniture, jewelry, luggage, sporting goods, and electrical appliances taken over from the Carson wholesale division.

Managed Entire Floor.

A. W. Bohnsack, president and treasurer of the new company, was associated with Carson for 33 years. During the last 10 years he was merchandising manager of the entire sixth floor of the old wholesale house, comprising mainly departments in lines the new firm will handle.

Frank R. Willis, vice president, was with Carson 27 years and headed the jewelry section. C. F. Wittenmeier, secretary, was with Carson 18 years and was assistant to Bohnsack.

Tells of Arrangements.

"Thru arrangements with Ely & Walker we will take over the catalog business of the furniture, jewelry, sporting goods, luggage, and electrical appliance sections, filling orders from retail stores for merchandise shown in the spring books now in the hands of the trade," said Bohnsack. "So we will fulfill as far as our stocks permit, the requirements of retail stores who have been dependent on Carson's as their wholesale source."

Other new jobbing concerns organized recently by former Carson employés are Fred L. Lavery & Co., hosiery; T. A. Lamond & Co., cotton goods and domestics, and Elmer C. Gaede, underwear.

TORONTO STOCKS DECLINE; GOLD ISSUES CUT LOSS

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 12 (AP).—Gold stocks reduced early losses in the last hour of today's Toronto stock market, but other groups continued a bit soft and losses were shown for all index groups. Volume was down to about 350,000 shares, partly because of the New York market holiday. Base metal shares were dull and lower. Utilities led the weak trend in industrials.

PLAN FOR MAXIMUM EFFICIENCY ADOPTED BY TRUCKING INDUSTRY

Adoption by motor truck and shipper representatives in the Chicago metropolitan area and Gary of a vigilance committee plan for attaining maximum use of available trucking facilities was announced yesterday by the Chicago Association of Commerce. The association participated in a five day conference at which the plan was formulated.

Shippers and truck operators will make regular reports to a joint information office on when trucks leave terminals, when they arrive to pick up or deliver freight, and when vehicles are released.

Investigations will be made when consignees hold loaded trucks more than two or three hours, depending on types of freight. Studies likewise will be made when a consignee refuses to accept shipments, or closes his receiving platform early.

"Government intervention probably would result in drastic regulations for specific use of motor freight equipment as well as heavy penalties for shippers and carriers failing to release trucks as promptly as possible for other service," said the association, in urging solution of problems within the industry.

EXPECT REVIVAL OF NEW HOUSING IN CHICAGO AREA

Builders Hold WMC Proves Need.

BY AL CHASE.

Resumption of home building in the Chicago metropolitan area appears to be definitely assured, builders and government officials said yesterday, as a result of the announcement by the war man power commission in Washington, D. C., that a labor shortage may be expected in Chicago after six months. That means an influx of workers and a resultant need of more homes, they said.

Joseph E. Merrion, president of the Metropolitan Home Builders' association, said it now is up to the national housing agency to fulfill its promise and promptly name a housing quota for Chicago which will permit the issuance of priorities and immediate resumption of home building, now almost at a standstill.

Housing Report Awaited.

NHA has been awaiting a report being prepared by WMC and the office of defense transportation on the Chicago war housing situation in its relation to this area's big new war plants. Willard H. Day, regional NHA representative, said his action on allotting Chicago a new housing quota would depend on this report.

Referring to the listing of Chicago among areas "in which general labor shortages may be anticipated after six months,' Merrion said:

"This is official recognition of the contention that has been made repeatedly by the Metropolitan Chicago Home Builders' association since the panel meeting of government officials on Sept. 9, 1942. At that meeting federal representatives issued a manifesto that Chicago needed no more housing because there was ample labor here to supply all anticipated needs.

Certain NHA Will Act.

"Our association maintained that while a balance between labor demand and supply may have existed at that time, that the situation would become exceedingly critical when the new war plants start production.

"The labor shortage now foreseen by the Washington office of WMC is an added warning to housing officials that preparations must be made immediately if the war plants here are to operate. Six months is a comparatively short time in which to put into operation a program for housing.

"In view of the repeated statement that Chicago will get housing when it is shown that the need is here, we feel sure the NHA will act."

An NHA official said that as a result of the WMC statement regarding Chicago's threatened labor shortage it is to be assumed this city will get a new housing quota to care for the probable influx of workers.

AFL PRUDENTIAL UNIT CHARTERED IN CHICAGO AREA

Chicago area industrial insurance agents of the Prudential Insurance company were granted their own union charter yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. The charter was issued to seven agents on behalf of their organization among the 900 Chicago area agents, Albert A. O'Neil, AFL organizer, announced last night.

Dollar Volume of Chicago Stocks for January Rises

The Chicago Stock exchange announced yesterday that dollar volume of January transactions decreased 19 per cent from December, but was 20 per cent more than a year ago. January dollar volume totaled $11,366,656, compared with $14,118,951 in December and $9,121,520 in January, 1942.

People and Events

The Advertising council, volunteer organization created to assist the office of war information and other governmental departments in developing war campaigns, announced yesterday the appointment of Chester J. La Roche as its full time operating head. He is chairman of the board of Young & Rubicam, advertising agency, and was one of the founders of the council last year. He was designated last week as advertising's "man of the year" for his leadership in converting advertising to a war time pattern.

Chester J. La Roche.

Brunswick A. Bagdon, price economist of the United States bureau of labor statistics, attached to the regional OPA office, has been elected chairman of the committee on government statistics of the American Statistical association. The committee outlined a program for exchange of information among governmental agencies in the Chicago area.

Benjamin F. Harris has resigned as president of the National Tube company, Oil Well Supply company, and Tubular Alloy Steel corporation, all subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation, effective Feb. 28. Harris will remain with the parent company as a consultant to its president, Benjamin Fairless, in connection with war activities.

Speaker at the luncheon session of the Inland Daily Press association next Tuesday in the Hotel Sherman will be C. E. Johnston, chairman of the Western Association of Railway executives and commissioner of western railroads.

THREE DIVIDENDS OF 15c VOTED ON HIBBARD SHARES

Directors of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., Chicago wholesale hardware distributor, yesterday declared three dividends of 15 cents each on the common stock, payable Feb. 26, March 26, and April 30 to stockholders of record Feb. 23, March 16, and April 20, respectively.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

DEATHLESS DEER
By Neysa McMein and Alicia Patterson
HERE IS THE SLAVE, OH, TY!
THROW HIM INTO THE GALLEY AND HOLD HIM UNTIL FURTHER ORDERS
NOW THAT I HOLD PARA, THE PRINCESS WILL DO WHAT I SAY!
THE HIGH PRIEST HUMBLY ASKS AN AUDIENCE, MOST MIGHTY PRINCESS BOTHER! WHAT DOES TY WANT OF ME NOW?
SHOW HIM IN
I HAVE NEWS OF IMPORTANCE FOR YOU, MY PRINCESS.
SPEAK, TY, I AM MUCH OCCUPIED TODAY
TOO OCCUPIED, MY LADY, TO HEAR OF THE FATE OF YOUR SLAVE, PARA?
WHAT DO YOU MEAN? WHAT HAVE YOU DONE TO PARA?
NOTHING, AS YET, OH, PRINCESS.
IF YOU SO MUCH AS HARM ONE HAIR OF HIS HEAD, I WILL HAVE YOU EXILED!
THAT, MOST EXALTED ONE, WOULD BE IMPOSSIBLE. YOUR PEOPLE WOULD NEVER PERMIT IT. I ONLY DO THIS FOR YOU AND EGYPT
TELL ME QUICKLY! WHERE HAVE YOU TAKEN PARA?
I HAVE HIM UNDER GUARD AND THERE I WILL KEEP HIM UNTIL SUCH TIME AS THE CROCODILES ARE ONCE MORE HUNGRY
NOT THAT, TY! I WILL GIVE YOU MY OATH NEVER TO SEE HIM AGAIN.
WHAT WOULD YOU HAVE ME DO? YOUR SUBJECTS ARE ALREADY ANGRY AND WILL TOLERATE HIM NO LONGER IN EGYPT
SEND PARA BACK TO HIS OWN COUNTRY, WHERE HIS FATHER RULED AS KING. AND I ASK TO SEE HIM ONLY ONE MORE TIME TO SAY FAREWELL
BUT THE PEOPLE, OH, MIGHTY DEER, WANT REVENGE. HE HAS DARED TO LOOK TOO HIGH. FORGET NOT THAT YOU ARE A GODDESS OF THE SUN.
FOR YOUR SAKE, I WILL DO IT. TONIGHT, I WILL TAKE YOU TO PARA: BUT YOU MAY STAY ONLY A SHORT MINUTE. NO ONE MUST KNOW.
DO THIS FOR MY SAKE, TY. AND YOU WILL NOT REGRET IT
REMEMBER, MY PRINCESS, THAT YOU HAVE ONLY A SHORT TIME IN WHICH TO SAY GOOD-BY TO PARA
I UNDERSTAND
ALAS, POOR PARA! WHAT HAVE THEY DONE TO YOU?
NOW THAT I SEE YOU AGAIN, MY BELOVED DEER, I AM ONCE MORE HEALED
WE HAVE NO TIME TO LOSE. MY PEOPLE ARE ANGRY AND THEY WANT TO KILL YOU. TY HAS PROMISED TO SEE YOU SAFELY OUT OF EGYPT. YOU WILL LEAVE TONIGHT
CONTINUED NEXT WEEK

"No doubt about it, Dean's is extra-value milk"

MRS. JEAN SANFORD
8135 PHILLIPS AVE.

That is the statement of Mrs. Jean Sanford. And the belief, too, of thousands upon thousands of housewives. "Extra-value not alone for its economy," Mrs. Sanford continues, "but in point of fresher flavor—truly delicious—and creamier quality, as well. In fact, other milk I have used seemed to have a thinness of character by comparison. There is no milk, in my opinion, quite up to the standard of Dean's."

* * *

Dean's is bottled in the country with all the cream left in. Dean's is pasteurized immediately upon receipt at the dairy—never tank-trucked 50, 60 or 70 miles before pasteurization. Your milk education will never be complete until you have tried Dean's. The Dean policy of supplying better milk at a lower cost is making new friends every day. Join the trend of friends to Dean's!
